The total number driven from their homes and requiring food at public expense now is 600,000.

This Mississippi flood is too big an affair for private enterprise or private charity. It is the government's business to take care of it, and the government's business to see that it does not happen AGAIN.

EX-GOVERNOR PINCHOT declares the Mississippi can be controlled and made to pay for the cost of the control. Reservoirs built on tributaries to the Mississippi could regulate the flow of water, and produce electric power sufficient to pay theentire cost.

Pinchot, an earnest, useful and well informed citizen, remarks that you cannot deal successfully with floods on the Mississippi merely by trying to control them when they happen. What is needed is "to prevent their happening."

OUR young Lindbergh is enjoying himself in Europe, not in any hurry to accept American offers that would make him rich. He will attend to those things when he comes home. On Saturday he will fly to Brussels and later fly over to see London and King George. He isn't even sure he will not continue flying in the air mail service. He says, "I'm only on leave now."

MR. STIMSON, back from official investigation of affairs in Nicauragua, gives a gloomy picture of fighting down there. Civil war is always the worst war, and Nicaragua's kind is especially bad.

Mr. Stimson says: "I found that no prisoners were being taken on either side. The wounded and captured were killed and non-combatants, men, women and children were butchered in cold blood. Some such non-combatants were tortured and mutilated."

Mr. Stimson is a reliable observer, a man well trained in accuracy. It is easy to believe that Nicaragua accepts American intervention gratefully.

MUSSOLINI says to the world, "Come here to Italy, spend your money, and you will get your money's worth." And he makes the statement good. Prices are cut from top to bottom, beginning with a cut of 18 per cent in workmen's wages, to be made gradually. Retail prices, rents and railroad fares are also reduced.

Magnificent Italian ships, as fine as any in the world, will take you direct from the United States, through the Straits of Gibraltar, to Naples. Think it over for your summer vacation. Don't "see Naples and die," but see Naples, then Rome, and north to Florence, Pisa, Genoa, on to Paris, via Monte Carlo—a fine trip, and prices reasonable.

LONDON, May 25. — King George will receive Captain Charles A. Lindbergh in audience on Monday, it was announced officially today.

The king's reception is expected to be informal and it is believed that the Prince of Wales will be present and the American youth will be invited to join with the monarch in an informal chat about aviation.

London is preparing to make Lindbergh's visit a gala occasion.

Arrangements are being made for a huge escort of air liners and privately-owned planes when Lindbergh arrives at the English coast.

It is expected that Lindbergh will remain in London for five or six days and a round of entertainment in his honor is being arranged.

Foresees Atlantic Air Service.

PARIS, May 26.—A regular air service between France and the United States, was the hope expressed by Captain Charles A. Lindbergh today in a speech at the city hall, where he had been given an official welcome.

"I am unable to express my appreciation of the honors you have conferred upon me and my country," said Lindbergh in replying to the official speeches of welcome.

"I have one desire and that is that my flight may be the forerunner of a regular air service between France and the United States and an understanding suchas has never existed before.

"That is my hope today. My greatest desire, I am sure, would have been the greatest desire of Captains Nungesser and Coli."

Lindbergh's speech, while delivered in his usual boyish manner, made a great impression on his listeners as have all of his utterances, for in his confused embarrassed speeches he gives the impression of great sincerity.

Reverence for a Hero.

All the speeches made to Lindbergh at the city hall were in French, and while they were in progress Sheldon Whitehouse, counselor of the embassy, leaned over and gave Lindbergh snatches of translation.

The wild enthusiasm of the French people for the American airman gave way today to a remarkable demonstration of reverence for a hero.

Governor Enjoys "Chuck Wagon" Food Served by Cowboys

COLUMBUS, O., May 26.—Governor Vic Donahey enjoyed a "chuck wagon" breakfast, consisting of flapjacks and black coffee, on the statehouse campus here this forenoon.

The meal featured a visit to the statehouse by a gang of western cowboys who came to participate in a stampede and rodeo opening at the state fairgrounds Friday.

All wearing their picturesque cowboy costumes, some astride their horses and others riding in the chuck wagon, the visitors went to the statehouse where they were greeted by the governor.

BUDDY POPPY DAY CAMPAIGN HERE SATURDAY

RELIEF DRIVE

Seek Funds for Memorial Day Expenses.

Saturday will be Buddy Poppy Day in East Liverpool.

Silk imitations of the Flanders bloom, made by disabled soldiers in a hospital at Chillicothe, Ohio, will be sold on the streets by school girls, women and other workers in behalf of Private Eddy Post, No. 66, Veterans of Foreign Wars, to defray Memorial Day expenses and also to provide relief for needy ex-service men.

The campaign will be directed by William H. Kinsey, William P. Bock and Clyde Petty, of the Foreign War Veterans' post, and Mrs. Augusta Rosenberg and her corps, representing the veterans' auxiliary.

Headquarters during the day will be maintained in the lobby of the Little building, Diamond. The sale will begin at 9 o'clock in the morning and continue until 9 in the evening.

Memorial Day Parade.

"A Buddy poppy in every buttonhole on Decoration Day, and remember the dead by helping the disabled living" is the slogan of the campaign.

The campaign has been advertised during the week by picture slides at the Ceramic, American and Strand theatre.

The Foreign War Veterans have invited the Grand Army of the Republic and the American Legion to join them in the Memorial Day observance. A parade, headed by the Eagles' band, will form at the veterans' headquarters, Fifth and Market streets, at 9:15 a. m. and move promptly at 9:30. Exercises will be held at Riverview cemetery at 10:30.

Members of Private Eddy post will meet in the post rooms at 11:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon, preparatory to proceeding to cemeteries in East Liverpool and Wellsville to decorate the graves of the soldier dead.

Mrs. Clara Bancroft Dies in Hospital; Funeral Saturday

Mrs. Clara Bancroft, 53, died last night in the City hospital, after two months' illness.

She is survived by one sister, Mrs. Mollie Orr, East Liverpool, and two brothers, Elmer and Claude Swearingen, of Pittsburgh.

Funeral services will be held at 3:30 Saturday afternoon in the home of Michael Emmerling, Vernia street, Beechwood, in charge of Rev. John MacDonald, pastor of the Avondale Free Methodist church. Burial will be made in Spring Grove cemetery.

RIVER VICTIM BELIEVED MAN WHO LOST LIFE NEAR AMBRIDGE

Floater is Picked up Near Babb's Island.

AGED ABOUT 35

Body Recovered by Operator on Sand Digger.

Body of an unidentified man, aged about 35, believed to be one of three laborers who were drowned at West Economy, near Ambridge, Pa., a week ago, when a fill being made for a new railroad spur caved in, was found floating in the Ohio river near Babb's Island, at 5 o'clock this morning.

The discovery was made by Theodore Farnsworth, Second street, night operator on the sand digger of the East Liverpool Sand company, which was working near the lower end of the island. Farnsworth caught the floater with a rope.

Aided by two other workmen, Farnsworth brought the body to the Ohio shore near the Colonial pottery. It was later removed to the Miller funeral parlors.

Wore Lumberman's Blouse.

The victim was dressed in high top leather shoes, blue trousers, a heavy black and white lumberman's blouse and wore canvas gloves. He was about six feet tall and weighed approximately 175 pounds.

The body was in such a state of decomposition that identification except by his clothes seems improbable.

The men drowned at West Economy were employes of the Kennedy Brothers' Construction company, of Youngstown. They were riding dump cars when the track gave way and they were precipitated into the river. Two were Italians and the other a Serbian.

Coroner J. M. Van Fossan, East Palestine, was expected here today to conduct an inquest.

William Beardmore Dies in Lisbon; Funeral Saturday

William C. Beardmore, lifelong resident of East Liverpool, died last night in Lisbon of complication of diseases.

He is survived by one brother and two sisters: Edward, Anna and Ella Beardmore, all of this city.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon in the Miller funeral home, West Sixth street, in charge of Rev. B. R. Johnson, pastor of the First Church of Christ. Burial will be made in Rievervie v cemetery.

Friends may view the body tonight and Friday evening at the Miller parlors.

BLAST VICTIM CRITICALLY ILL

Little hope was entertained today for the recovery of Lawrence Baker, 22, Dixonville laborer, who is in the City hospital suffering from burns sustained Saturday afternoon in a gas explosion at the corner of St. Clair avenue and North street.

D. A. Cunningham, also burned in the blast, is recovering. Two other workmen, all employes of the Manufacturers Light & Heat company, were less seriously burned.

Wrecking Tugs Prepare To Tow Palatial Liner To Port After Crash

New San Francisco Steamship, Malolo, Costing $7,000,000, Anchored 15 Miles West-Southwest of Nantucket Lightship After Being reighter.

Pacific Coast Steamer's Firemen Stand in Four Feet of Water Following Collision, But Wealthy New York and Philadelphia Passengers are Reported Unharmed.

NEW YORK, May 26.—With her boiler rooms flooded from the hole gashed in the collision with the freighter Jacob Christensen, the Matson liner Malolo, swiftest deluxe passenger ship ever built in American shipyards, today was being towed to New York where she will arrive Saturday.

BOSTON, May 26.—Radio messages picked up here today stated that the disabled new San Francisco steamship, Malolo, with 340 persons aboard was anchored 15 miles west-southwest of Nantucket lightship with wrecking tugs prepared to tow her to New York.

The freight steamship, Jacob Christensen, which crashed into the Malolo late yesterday in a fog, was reported approaching New York.

The coast guard cutter, Shaw, a steam trawler, and several other vessels were standing by the Malolo, which was enveloped in a heavy fog.

Temporary repairs had been made on the palatial new $7,000,000 Pacific coast liner which was on her trial run and all aboard were reported safe.

LONDON, May 26.—According to a Central News dispatch from Madrid today 13 persons were killed in the train wreck near Pulpi when a freight collided with a mail train.

Freighter's Bow Punctured.

The Malolo's wireless operator stated that the giant liner had a hole punctured over the fire room and that two of her engines were disabled. Firemen had been standing in four feet of water.

The Christensen, a Norwegian freighter, with a punctured bow, proceeded to New York under her own steam, with the steamship Fisher as escort.

The Malolo wirelessed the steamship Rotterdam, "No assistance needed." Tugs were near to tow her to New York. The Malolo was anchored in latitude 40.29 north; langitude 70.13 west.

Several wealthy and prominent men from New York and Philadelphia were guests aboard the Malolo.

The Jacob Christensen may go direct to Philadelphia instead of carrying out her commander's plans to put into New York. Her wireless operator could not be reached this forenoon.

The liners President Roosevelt and Rotterdam were in close touch with the Malolo. The tanker Gulf Land, came up to the anchored liner's side and a small fleet of other rescue craft were standing off. The fog was lifting.

FORD COUPE STOLEN HERE

Arthur Parrish, 502 Palissy street, reported to the police at 1 o'clock this morning that his Ford coupe, carrying license No. 386-891, had been stolen while parked in Mulberry street, East End, last night. The car, valued at $300, had not been located up to the noon hour today.

Body Recovered by Operator on Sand Digger.

Body of an unidentified man, aged about 35, believed to be one of three laborers who were drowned at West Economy, near Ambridge, Pa., a week ago, when a fill being made for a new railroad spur caved in, was found floating in the Ohio river near Babb's Island, at 5 o'clock this morning.

The discovery was made by Theodore Farnsworth, Second street, night operator on the sand digger of the East Liverpool Sand company, which was working near the lower end of the island. Farnsworth caught the floater with a rope.

Aided by two other workmen, Farnsworth brought the body to the Ohio shore near the Colonial pottery. It was later removed to the Miller funeral parlors.

Wore Lumberman's Blouse.

The victim was dressed in high top leather shoes, blue trousers, a heavy black and white lumberman's blouse and wore canvas gloves. He was about six feet tall and weighed approximately 175 pounds.

The body was in such a state of decomposition that identification except by his clothes seems improbable.

The men drowned at West Economy were employes of the Kennedy Brothers' Construction company, of Youngstown. They were riding dump cars when the track gave way and they were precipitated into the river. Two were Italians and the other a Serbian.

Coroner J. M. Van Fossan, East Palestine, was expected here today to conduct an inquest.

William Beardmore Dies in Lisbon; Funeral Saturday

William C. Beardmore, lifelong resident of East Liverpool, died last night in Lisbon of complication of diseases.

He is survived by one brother and two sisters: Edward, Anna and Ella Beardmore, all of this city.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon in the Miller funeral home, West Sixth street, in charge of Rev. B. R. Johnson, pastor of the First Church of Christ. Burial will be made in Rieverview cemetery.

Friends may view the body tonight and Friday evening at the Miller parlors.

BLAST VICTIM CRITICALLY ILL

Little hope was entertained today for the recovery of Lawrence Baker, 22, Dixonville laborer, who is in the City hospital suffering from burns sustained Saturday afternoon in a gas explosion at the corner of St. Clair avenue and North street.

D. A. Cunningham, also burned in the blast, is recovering. Two other workmen, all employes of the Manufacturers Light & Heat company, were less seriously burned.

HOLE PUNCTURED OVER FIRE ROOM OF VESSEL; TWO ENGINES DAMAGED

Pacific Coast Steamer's Firemen Stand in Four Feet of Water Following Collision, But Wealthy New York and Philadelphia Passengers are Reported Unharmed.

NEW YORK, May 26.—With her boiler rooms flooded from the hole gashed in the collision with the freighter Jacob Christensen, the Matson liner Malolo, swiftest deluxe passenger ship ever built in American shipyards, today was being towed to New York where she will arrive Saturday.

BOSTON, May 26.—Radio messages picked up here today stated that the disabled new San Francisco steamship, Malolo, with 340 persons aboard was anchored 15 miles west-southwest of Nantucket lightship with wrecking tugs preparing to tow her to New York.

The freight steamship, Jacob Christensen, which crashed into the Malolo late yesterday in a fog, was reported approaching New York.

The coast guard cutter, Shaw, a steam trawler, and several other vessels were standing by the Malolo, which was enveloped in a heavy fog.

Temporary repairs had been made on the palatial new $7,000,000 Pacific coast liner which was on her trial run and all aboard were reported safe.

LONDON, May 26.—According to a Central News dispatch from Madrid today 13 persons were killed in the train wreck near Pulpi when a freight collided with a mail train.

Freighter's Bow Punctured.

The Malolo's wireless operator stated that the giant liner had a hole punctured over the fire room and that two of her engines were disabled. Firemen had been standing in four feet of water.

The Christensen, a Norwegian freighter, with a punctured bow, proceeded to New York under her own steam, with the steamship Fisher as escort.

The Malolo wirelessed the steamship Rotterdam, "No assistance needed." Tugs were near to tow her to New York. The Malolo was anchored in latitude 40.29 north; langitude 70.13 west.

Several wealthy and prominent men from New York and Philadelphia were guests aboard the Malolo.

The Jacob Christensen may go direct to Philadelphia instead of carrying out her commander's plans to put into New York. Her wireless operator could not be reached this forenoon.

The liners President Roosevelt and Rotterdam were in close touch with the Malolo. The tanker Gulf Land, came up to the anchored liner's side and a small fleet of other rescue craft were standing off. The fog was lifting.

FORD COUPE STOLEN HERE

Arthur Parrish, 502 Palissy street, reported to the police at 1 o'clock this morning that his Ford coupe, carrying license No. 386-891, had been stolen while parked in Mulberry street, East End, last night. The car, valued at $300, had not been located up to the noon hour today.

[The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.]

The total number driven from their homes and requiring food at public expense now is 600,000.

This Mississippi flood is too big an affair for private enterprise or private charity. It is the government's business to take care of it, and the government's business to see that it does not happen AGAIN.

EX-GOVERNOR PINCHOT declares the Mississippi can be controlled and made to pay for the cost of the control. Reservoirs built on tributaries to the Mississippi could regulate the flow of water, and produce electric power sufficient to pay theentire cost.

Pinchot, an earnest, useful and well informed citizen, remarks that you cannot deal successfully with floods on the Mississippi merely by trying to control them when they happen. What is needed is "to prevent their happening."

OUR young Lindbergh is enjoying himself in Europe, not in any hurry to accept American offers that would make him rich. He will attend to those things when he comes home. On Saturday he will fly to Brussels and later fly over to see London and King George. He isn't even sure he will not continue flying in the air mail service. He says, "I'm only on leave now."

MR. STIMSON, back from official investigation of affairs in Nicauragua, gives a gloomy picture of fighting down there. Civil war is always the worst war, and Nicaragua's kind is especially bad.

Mr. Stimson says: "I found that no prisoners were being taken on either side. The wounded and captured were killed and non-combatants, men, women and children were butchered in cold blood. Some such non-combatants were tortured and mutilated."

Mr. Stimson is a reliable observer, a man well trained in accuracy. It is easy to believe that Nicaragua accepts American intervention gratefully.

MUSSOLINI says to the world, "Come here to Italy, spend your money, and you will get your money's worth." And he makes the statement good. Prices are cut from top to bottom, beginning with a cut of 18 per cent in workmen's wages, to be made gradually. Retail prices, rents and railroad fares are also reduced.

Magnificent Italian ships, as fine as any in the world, will take you direct from the United States, through the Straits of Gibraltar, to Naples. Think it over for your summer vacation. Don't "see Naples and die," but see Naples, then Rome, and north to Florence, Pisa, Genoa, on to Paris, via Monte Carlo—a fine trip, and prices reasonable.

Mrs. Mabel Brennen Asks $5,000 as Result of Fall

City of East Liverpool was named defendant in a suit for $5,000 damages filed in common pleas court, Lisbon, today by Mrs. Mabel C. Brennen, College street, for injuries alleged to have been sustained in a fall in Sixth street on January 25, 1926.

Mrs. Brennen charges that her leg and shoulder were injured when she slipped and fell upon the icy sidewalk while walking along the southside of the street, between Crook alley and the Diamond.

Negligence on the part of the city in permitting the ice to remain on the sidewalk is charged in the petition filed by Attorney Frank E. Grosshans.

King George to Honor Lindbergh on Monday; Paris Wild Over Hero

FRANCE ACCLAIMS DARING YOUTH

Solo Flyer Rides Through Streets of French Capital in Open Carriage on Holiday.

LONDON, May 25. — King George will receive Captain Charles A. Lindbergh in audience on Monday, it was announced officially today.

The king's reception is expected to be informal and it is believed that the Prince of Wales will be present and the American youth will be invited to join with the monarch in an informal chat about aviation.

London is preparing to make Lindbergh's visit a gala occasion.

Arrangements are being made for a huge escort of air liners and privately-owned planes when Lindbergh arrives at the English coast.

It is expected that Lindbergh will remain in London for five or six days and a round of entertainment in his honor is being arranged.

Foresees Atlantic Air Service.

PARIS, May 26.—A regular air service between France and the United States, was the hope expressed by Captain Charles A. Lindbergh today in a speech at the city hall, where he had been given an official welcome.

"I am unable to express my appreciation of the honors you have conferred upon me and my country," said Lindbergh in replying to the official speeches of welcome.

"I have one desire and that is that my flight may be the forerunner of a regular air service between France and the United States and an understanding suchas has never existed before.

"That is my hope today. My greatest desire, I am sure, would have been the greatest desire of Captains Nungesser and Coli."

Lindbergh's speech, while delivered in his usual boyish manner, made a great impression on his listeners as have all of his utterances, for in his confused embarrassed speeches he gives the impression of great sincerity.

Reverence for a Hero.

All the speeches made to Lindbergh at the city hall were in French, and while they were in progress Sheldon Whitehouse, counselor of the embassy, leaned over and gave Lindbergh snatches of translation.

The wild enthusiasm of the French people for the American airman gave way today to a remarkable demonstration of reverence for a hero.

Throngs, with their hats doffed,

COLUMBUS, O., May 26.—Governor Vic Donahey enjoyed a "chuck wagon" breakfast, consisting of flapjacks and black coffee, on the statehouse campus here this forenoon.

The meal featured a visit to the statehouse by a gang of western cowboys who came to participate in a stampede and rodeo opening at the state fairgrounds Friday.

All wearing their picturesque cowboy costumes, some astride their horses and others riding in the chuck wagon, the visitors went to the statehouse where they were greeted by the governor.

BUDDY POPPY DAY CAMPAIGN HERE SATURDAY

RELIEF DRIVE

Seek Funds for Memorial Day Expenses.

Saturday will be Buddy Poppy Day in East Liverpool.

Silk imitations of the Flanders bloom, made by disabled soldiers in a hospital at Chillicothe, Ohio, will be sold on the streets by school girls, women and other workers in behalf of Private Eddy Post, No. 66, Veterans of Foreign Wars, to defray Memorial Day expenses and also to provide relief for needy ex-service men.

The campaign will be directed by William H. Kinsey, William P. Bock and Clyde Petty, of the Foreign War Veterans' post, and Mrs. Augusta Rosenberg and her corps, representing the veterans' auxiliary.

Headquarters during the day will be maintained in the lobby of the Little building, Diamond. The sale will begin at 9 o'clock in the morning and continue until 9 in the evening.

Memorial Day Parade.

"A Buddy poppy in every buttonhole on Decoration Day, and remember the dead by helping the disabled living" is the slogan of the campaign.

The Foreign War Veterans have invited the Grand Army of the Republic and the American Legion to join them in the Memorial Day observance. A parade, headed by the Eagles' band, will form at the veterans' headquarters, Fifth and Market streets, at 9:15 a. m. and move promptly at 9:30. Exercises will be held at Riverview cemetery at 10:30.

Members of Private Eddy post will meet in the post rooms at 11:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon, preparatory to proceeding to cemeteries in East Liverpool and Wellsville to decorate the graves of the soldier dead.

Mrs. Clara Bancroft Dies in Hospital; Funeral Saturday

Mrs. Clara Bancroft, 53, died last night in the City hospital, after two months' illness.

She is survived by one sister, Mrs. Mollie Orr, East Liverpool, and two brothers, Elmer and Claude Swearingen, of Pittsburgh.

Funeral services will be held at 3:30 Saturday afternoon in the home of Michael Emmerling, Vernia street, Beechwood, in charge of Rev. John MacDonald, pastor of the Avondale Free Methodist church. Burial will be made in Spring Grove cemetery.

BIG LIQUOR RAID IN BROOKE COUNTY

Detection of a heavy laden car by Prohibition Officer Alonzo Prince, which was found to contain an excess amount of yeast and sugar yesterday led to a large moonshine still in Pierce Run, Brooke county, resulting in two arrests.

Prince, who was in Wheeling, after learning the identity of the owner summoned several deputies and members of the state police force and went to Brooke county. They visited the home owned by M. J. Deapes and arrested Michael and Andy Parnell on charges of operating a still.

Fifty-three barrels or 2,650 gallons of mash, 155 gallons and one quart of moonshine liquor, and one 100-gallon still, 25 empty five-gallon kegs, 66 50-gallon barrels, one air compressor and 850 pounds of sugar were confiscated and Andy Parnell, who was found in the house was taken into custody as the operator. The 100 and the 25-gallon stills were in operation when the officers entered the home, they say.

WAITS, UNAFRAID OF PRISON

Unafraid of prison, Miss Charlotte Anita Whitney, California society woman and social welfare worker, has been waiting at her cottage at Carmel-by-the-Sea, Calif., for the day when she must begin serving a one-to-fourteen years' sentence under the California criminal syndicalism law. The law has been confirmed by the United States supreme court. A movement for a pardon has not been participated in by Miss Whitney. Her conviction was based on her attendance at a meeting of communists in Oakland.

REV. W. T. McKEE TO GIVE ADDRESS

Rev. W. T. McKee, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will be the speaker tonight at the meeting of the Chester Business Men's association to be held in the Stewart hall, Third street and Carolina avenue. Supper will be served at 6:45.

Wives of members will be guests. M. E. Eppley will act as toastmaster.

Cabinet Member To Speak.

James J. Davis, secretary of labor, will deliver the address at the graduation exercises of the Follansbee high school scheduled for tonight. He will be tendered a banquet at which addresses will be given by Congressman Carl G. Bachmann, of Wheeling, and State Senator W. S. Wilkin.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to thank the many friends and neighbors who so kindly assisted us during the sickness and death of our wife and daughter.

We wish especially to thank Rev. and Mrs. A. L. Duncan and those who sent the beautiful flowers.

Stage Manager

Elizabeth North.

One of the very few feminine stage managers of the theater is Elizabeth North of New York City, who manages the stage "props" for "Broadway," New York success. At one time she was a private secretary during the day and stage manager at night, but says she has left the secretary job to give her whole time to the stage. She plans to take an intensive course in interior decoration and architecture as related to the stage that she may have a complete technical mastery of stage craft to fit her to be a producer.

BUTLER SCHOOLS BREAK RECORD

Two records, one for school attendance and another for banking were broken during the ninth month of school in the Butler district, according to announcement made yesterday.

A room at the Weirton school taught by Miss Mary Jane Coves during the month of May banked $89.54. The total amount banked represents part by each pupil of the room, thereby establishing a 100 per cent mark for banking. This mark betters any previous mark for banking in the district for the school year.

Lodge Meeting Scheduled.

SUPERIOR TIRES MEET TURK-NASH

Chester Superior Cord Tires will meet Turk-Nash in an Industrial league game tonight at Columbian park, East Liverpool. Manager Riley will probably use Evans on the mound, while he will be opposed by Mundy or Deshler.

Large delegation of local rooters are expected to witness the contest.

PARENT-TEACHERS ELECT OFFICERS

RIN-TIN-TIN AT AMERICAN

"Tracked by Police" Opens Three-day Engagement.

"Tracked by the Police," Rin-Tin-Tin's latest starring vehicle for Warner Brothers, directed by Ray Enright, records the courageous fight of a dog hero to save not only one of the greatest reclamation projects in the United States but also his friends engaged in building it. With a splendid cast in Brown Faire, Tom Santschi, Nanette, Dave Morris, Theodore Lorch, Ben Walker and Wilfred North, Rinty is said to depict the most sympathetic and thrilling role of his career.

The story deals with the construction of a great dam and desert irrigation project. For the beautiful exteriors the company journeyed to Yuma, Arizona, using the Laguna Dam and reclamation project across the Colorado river as a setting.

Rinty is seen as the dog of a young foreman in love with the daughter of the superintendent. She is also the subject of dishonorable interest of an other foreman who has been bribed by a rival construction company to place all the obstacles possible in the way of the work, so that the company would be forced to abandon it. Because Rinty has foiled many of these attempts, the plotters determine to get him. The superintendent is disabled in a mysterious accident, and when the young foreman takes his place a heinous scheme to put him and Rinty out of the way leaving the girl and the dam unprotected, is hatched. The way by which the schemes of the bad men are coped with by the wonder-dog make thrilling melodrama and gives Rinty an opportunity to display his uncanny brilliance as never before.

Rin-Tin-Tin in "Tracked by the Police" comes to the American theatre today for a run of three days.

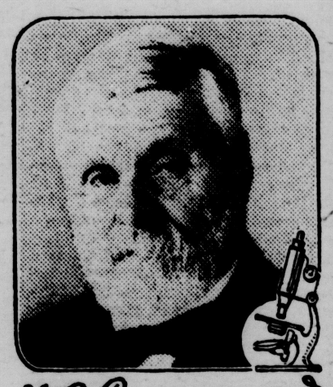
Dr. Caldwell's 3 Rules Keep You Healthy



W. B. Caldwell M.D.
AT AGE 83

I Qhave been watching the results of constipation for 47 years, since I began the practice of medicine back in 1875, and though from time to time the medical profession makes some wonderfully interesting experiments and tests, the fundamentals of causes and relief in this common ailment are unchanged.

No matter how careful people are of their health, diet and exercise, constipation will occur from time to time regardless of how much one tries to avoid it. Of next importance, then, is how to treat it when it comes. I believe in getting as close to nature as possible, hence my remedy for constipation, known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a mild vegetable compound. It can not harm the most delicate system and is not a habit forming preparation. Syrup Pepsin is pleasant-tasting, and youngsters love it. It does not gripe. Thousands of mothers have written me to that effect.

Recently there has been a new wave of drastic physics. Calomel, a mercurial that salivates and loosens teeth, has been revived; salts which draw vital fluids from the body and thin the blood, causing rheumatic aches and pains; coal tar (phenolphthalein) disguised in gum or candy form, that poisons and irritates the tissue of the stomac, intestine and bowel, causing skin eruptions. In a practice of 47 years I never saw any reason for their use when a medicine like Syrup Pepsin will empty the bowels just as promptly, more cleanly and gently, without griping and damage to the system.

Keep free from constipation! It robs your strength, hardens your arteries and brings on premature old age. Do not let a day go by without a bowel movement. Do not sit and hope, but go to a druggist and get one of the generous bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Take a teaspoonful that night and by morning you will feel like a different person. The cost is only about a cent a dose. Use Syrup Pepsin for yourself and members of the family in constipation, biliousness, sour and crampy stomach, bad breath, no appetite, headaches, and to break up fevers and colds. Always have a bottle in the house, and observe these three rules of health: Keep the head cool, the feet warm, the bowels open.

EAST LIVERPOOL—AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

THURSDAY, MAY 26, 1927.

Mayor's Salary Reduction

Fate of the councilmanic ordinance providing a reduction from $1,800 to $1,200 in the annual salary of East Liverpool's chief executive rests in the hands of Mayor Ralph C. Benedum. Whether he shall sign, veto or permit the proposal to become a law without his signature will be decided within ten days.

The legislative measure, enacted by a vote of 5 to 2, is the outgrowth of a movement which began during the administration of Mayor Charles Brown, who vetoed the plan. A few months ago the proposal was again introduced, but council defeated it. Then followed the movement for the submission of an initiative ordinance, petitions for which are now in circulation.

The consensus of opinion seems to be that the salary should be cut. This sentiment has increased since the establishment of the municipal court, which relieved the mayor of police court work. The only question, apparently, is the amount of the stipend. The initiative proposal provides for $600, while some citizens have urged as low as $300.

Council's enactment of the $1,200 salary measure, a compromise on the wide divergence of opinion as to a fair compensation for the office, places the issue squarely before Mayor Benedum. He should win friends by signing the measure. Otherwise, East Liverpool electors will pass judgment upon a $600 proposal at the November election.

"We"

"All the way up the American coast to Newfoundland we had uncommonly good weather—lots better than we expected. But for the next 1,000 miles it couldn't have been worse for us. After we got away from land, we ran into fog, then into rain, then hail. Sometimes we flew not more than 10 feet above water, sometimes 10,000 feet."

"When Lindbergh says 'we,' he means the ship and himself," explained Ambassador Herrick to the puzzled correspondents.

It's amusing, and tremendously human, with an element of pathos. Alone, Lindbergh thought of the "ship" itself as a companion. There were the two of them, roaring bravely through the cold and wetness and darkness, toward their distant goal. His personification of the airplane endows it with life. You feel an instinctive sympathy for that plane, pelted with sleet and blinded by fog, and you feel admiration for its endurance.

In another sense, Lindbergh seems to identify the plane with himself. The two are one mechanism, one mind and spirit. No wonder they succeeded. The man who feels like that about his horse, his automobile, his business, is pretty sure to arrive.

Oklahoma And Mexico

A curious situation is said to exist in the Oklahoma oil fields.

The plentitude of oil in the United States and the low prices of gasoline and other petroleum products are attributed to overproduction in that state. Everybody is puncturing the oil-bearing rock and pumping the oil out.

wherever a new field is found, everybody rushes in to help empty it. Wherever a productive well is drilled, some neighbor drills another as close to it as possible. Supply exceeds demand. Producers and refiners have to cut prices to unload their stock.

So the oil producers, of all people, are now turning conservationists. They know the oil shouldn't be drawn out and wasted that way, but they are not able to agree among themselves on a program of restricted output. So they want the government to step in and do the restricting and conserving for them.

The curious phase of it is that Mexico has been trying to do the same thing with oil deposits in that country, eking out the supply to meet national requirements for as long a period as possible, instead of squandering the whole supply at once. And that has been bitterly condemned by American oil interests.

Nations' Names

"Don't call us 'Latin-Americans,'" says Foderico Alfonso Pezet of Peru, formerly ambassador from that country at Washington and now representative of chambers of commerce and trade associations of Peru. "We don't call you Anglo-Americans. Call us South Americans or Central Americans, or better still, speak of us as Peruvians or Chileans or Bolivians. We have our own national individualities just as you and the Canadians have."

One reason why we of the northern continent of the Western Hemisphere refer to our southern neighbors as one great group is that we are sadly ignorant of the individual characteristics, racial origins, histories and civilizations of those various South American nations.

Pezet and other educated South Americans know much more about us than we do about them.

There are enough women voters in England now to rule the country, if they hang together. The men will continue ruling.

HURTING NOBODY'S FEELINGS

One of the well-known citizens of our Republic, who has an occasional lapse, is inclined to roam at such times through the great city of New York where he resides. Tracing him is difficult, because he breaks in a new circuit of illicit saloons and clandestine souse-parlors with each expedition. He regards these trips as educational in the study of human nature, but is silent on the worth of the varied bombardment of bootlegged goods over the bar.

"How in blazes did you ever come to pick out an awful dump like this?" exclaimed the chief of staff with a show of indignation.

The explorer looked surprised.

"Why slight any of them?" he asked.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY
By O. O. McINTYRE

PARIS, May 26.—This afternoon I went out in search of George Ade who arrived here from Egypt yesterday. I seemed to be about four soda water fountains behind him and wound up at the Dome in the Latin quarter at a table thegarcon informed me the humorist had just vacated.

"He had a glass of vichy water, seemed bored and departed," he explained. The usual crowd was on the terasse of the Dome—the mannish lady with a monocle, art students in blue and wine colored smocks, silbouette cutters, dreamy eyes poets, ink stained scribblers of pot boilers, near sculptors with Jo Davidson whiskers, pale models of the garrets and such.

Across the street at the Rotonde and the Select were the same odd types. All seeking to express the artistic urge cubistically or otherwise. Indeed, in the main, a glorious collection of good natured, likable and harmless nuts. The same assortment that used to be found in Greenwich Village.

The Latin Quarter is the same as it was a year ago or ten years ago save for a new sartorial note. It has tired of velveteen jackets and flowing black bow ties. A number have gone back to the Louis XV period and are appearing as silk calved courtiers.

Two of them, with powdered hair, occupied a table on the outer edge of the sidewalk at the Dome. Montnarnasse coiffeurs announce they are equipped to powder hair—price four francs. Tailors on boulevard Saint-Germain are showing frilled shirts silk stockings and silver buckled pump.

Even the fashionable male tailoring salons along Faubourg St. Honore are showing short silk pantaloons for full evening clothes. I am told they have been worn at the Ciro Friday night and the Ritz Sunday night dinner dances but I have not seen them.

It will be a blow to the Sioux City drug store cowboys who have stocked up with the bell mouthed trousers. At the Dome I saw something entirely new in begging. A tattered old lady leading a miserable little boy stopped in front of my table. She screeched at the child: "Pleurer pour l'homme!" And the urchin began to weep. He cried me out of a ten franc note.

Later I ran across George Ade in that long labyrinth of glittering show cases in the Ritz. Ade called it the "Alley of Temptations." It is," he said, "the place where husbands should put blinders on their wives."

No person seems so symbolic of his calling as the Parisian funeral coach driver around the Madelaine. There is a touch of grief to his cockade hat and frayed overcoat. His jowls hang lugubriously and he appears to have a perpetual lump in his throat. Then there are the professional mourners who stand about the curbs in long black coats, smoking their pipes, ready to swing off behind the hearse in the long walk to the cemetery. They lend their leaden presence to the mourning for eight francs per funeral—or about 30 cents.

Then, too, are the old women balloon vendors who stand at the gates of the parks and gardens with their tugging blurs of color. Their personality is that of a mould on a pat of butter. I have watched them for years and never have I seen one of them make a sale.

In one of the smartest restaurants in Paris for dinner this evening an American negro in full evening dress entered with a blonde young woman fashionably attired. He was ebony black and she was as fair as a lily. The head waiter with a flourish seated thew at a prominent table in the middle of the room. They seemed agreeably welcome.

In the same restaurant was Mrs. Jean Nash, publicized as the best dressed woman in the world. She was with her husband—the dashing young Dubonnet. She was in a simple blue gown and dazzled with diamonds One could find hundreds of more beautiful and more becoming dressed women in New York at the same hour. Mrs. Nash happened to be good newspaper copy. Hence her fame, such as it is.

Below my hotel window is a garden, abloom with multi-colored flowers and slit with cool graveled walks. Under huge umbrellas, festooned with lights, are gay crowds having an after theater bite. The soft blue sky seems a starry mesh. And despite all the beauty and froth, one cannot help but sense the ugliness and depravity that all. I do not see how a normal American could be content here permanentexist here. That somehow spoils it ly.

Why "90%" Are Still Suffering.

It is a glorious thing to awake with a lively, healthy, energetic body. It is a misery to drag an aching, tired, weary body from a restless, sleepless bed. W. K. HASKINS' LETTER
By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

WASHINGTON, May 26—The first cruise of the first floating university that took between four and five hundred youths of both sexes on a leisurely tour around the world and gave them the equivalent of a year's college work has but recently been concluded. Already plans are afoot for two such universities, and possibly three, for the next collegiate year. The year following, it is predicted, there will be at least five, and no limits are set as to the ultimate developments of this innovation in education.

The time may not be far distant when each of the larger universities of the country will include in its curriculum a similar world tour open to a limited number of its students each year, or when a youth may matriculate and take a four-years' course in and get his degree from a university that has no campus other than the bounding main and the decks of a modern steamship.

Some five or six years ago three college professors in New York conceived the idea of the floating university and broached it to a practical steamship man. He was not interested. He could not see it as a business proposition and not being an educator his imagination was not fired with that phase of the idea, which was fundamental.

Not to be discouraged, the professors took the matter up with the shipping man a year later and kept after him more or less persistenly for another twelve-month. A year after that, the man of the sea made a trip abroad in the course of which he gave considerable thought to the floating university idea, and came home completely sold on it. It was his turn, then, to go to the professors, which he did, and plans were formulated that went to pot, so the story goes, because the educators could only agree to disagree when their dream was about to be realized.

A Flier in Education.

Thereupon the hard-headed business man decided to take a flier in education on his own account, to the extent of ascertaining whether students could be secured for a modern improvement upon the peripatetic school of Aristotle, who instructed his students while walking about the Lyceum. To his surprise, and to the amazement of those who knew about the undertaking, he signed up considerably more than a million dollars' worth of business in an incredibly short space of time.

The financial success of the first floating university was thus assured. That it has proved an educational success is attested by the students who made the cruise, and by the fact that, as stated, two such enterprises and possibly three are assured for the coming year. Educators all over the country are interested and are advising young men and women who can to give a year to this departure in education and applications for enrollment are said to be coming in so rapidly that the weeding out process has already begun.

Briefly stated, the floating university is this: A modern steamship is provided that affords accommodations for 450 to 550 students and a faculty of from 40 to 60 members, with ample class-room facilities. The courses offered include art, astronomy and navigation, biology, botany, ancient and modern languages, economics, education, English, georgraphy, geology, history, journalism, mathematics, political science, psychology and philosophy, sociology and anthropology, and public speaking. Students may take the courses which they need preparatory to entering college or a university or for credits on their college or university requirements.

The steamship sails from New York in September and returns to that port the following May. It proceeds to Havana, then through the Panama Canal, to Los Angeles, Hawaii, Japan, China, Indian Ocean ports, through the Suez Canal, and after visiting various European and African cities crosses the Atlantic to the home port.

Students elect the studies they wish to pursue and are expected to carry the same amount of work that they would in a prep school or college or university. The ship does not carry laboratories with elaborate equipments, so courses in chemistry, physics, and the like, are not offered.

Shore Trips Supplement Class Work.

"In addition to the regular academic work which will be carried on while the ship is at sea," says the announcement of one of the schools, "the trips ashore will be conducted on the project plan, designed to stimulate the spirit of intelligent observation and promote individual development. The details of the itinerary are not a set program as in a tourist trip. They are arranged in cooperation with the educational, economic, and government bodies in each country. There will be receptions in foreign countries extended by universities and other important groups; detailed study of museums, excavations, and political, economic, and special institutions in the various countries; local investigations leading to an intelligent understanding of the history, philosophy, and contemporary life of the important nations of the world; an effort to coordinate the knowledge gained in the classroom with the observations of travel."

The shore trips, it is explained are organized into small groups of from ten to twen studens, each with a member of the faculty in charge, and each with an individual objective according to the special interests of the various students. Numerous inland trips are arranged from each of the more important ports touched, and groups are given a choice of the places to be visited. One school plans to spend six weeks next year in touring continental Europe by train and visiting such capitals as Brussels, Berlin, Vienna, and Paris.

In addition to study, sightseeing and discipline, special attention is given to the health of the students. In the first place, no student is enrolled who can not pass an exacting physical examination, and then on board ship there are physicians, surgeons, dentists, and nurses, and all the paraphernalia of a modern hospital. Gymnasiums, swimming pools, and deck games afford the needed exercise, and social diversions are carefully arranged and supervised.

One of the two schools that will "shove off," as they say in the Navy, next September will be coeducational and one will be for boys and men only. The question as to whether the coeducational system is desirable for the floating university is said to have been found identical with the same question as applied to schools on shore. There are arguments and arguers on both sides.

It is the dream of most boys and girls to round out their education by foreign travel. Many of them spend summer vacations abroad and some take a year for the "grand tour" after they have been graduated from their chosen institutions of learning.

Now comes the floating university and offers them a chance to combine study and travel under the most auspicious conditions, and at an expense approximating that of a year at the conventional college or university.

India is taking to harmonicas.

Sciatic - Neuritis

The sciatic nerve, situated at the back of the hip joint is frequently the subject of Neuritis, giving rise to the painful disease Sciatica. The symptoms are intense pains which shoot down the thigh to the foot, often aggravated by walking, and with painful points along the course of the nerve, very tender to the touch.

The trouble is a very obstinate one and does not readily respond to ordinary treatment. It takes more than the usual pain sedative even to alleviate the pain. The best way to get relief from the persistent nerve racking pains of Neuritis is to get a bottle of Allenrhu Special Formula No. 2, which comes in capsule form. Take them as directed and in about 24 hours you should be able to notice that they have considerably reduced, if not almost banished, all pain and soreness. Mayor's Salary Reduction

Fate of the councilmanic ordinance providing a reduction from $1,800 to $1,200 in the annual salary of East Liverpool's chief executive rests in the hands of Mayor Ralph C. Benedum. Whether he shall sign, veto or permit the proposal to become a law without his signature will be decided within ten days.

The legislative measure, enacted by a vote of 5 to 2, is the outgrowth of a movement which began during the administration of Mayor Charles Brown, who vetoed the plan. A few months ago the proposal was again introduced, but council defeated it. Then followed the movement for the submission of an initiative ordinance, petitions for which are now in circulation.

The consensus of opinion seems to be that the salary should be cut. This sentiment has increased since the establishment of the municipal court, which relieved the mayor of police court work. The only question, apparently, is the amount of the stipend. The initiative proposal provides for $600, while some citizens have urged as low as $300.

Council's enactment of the $1,200 salary measure, a compromise on the wide divergence of opinion as to a fair compensation for the office, places the issue squarely before Mayor Benedum. He should win friends by signing the measure. Otherwise, East Liverpool electors will pass judgment upon a $600 proposal at the November election.

"We"

Entertaining extract from Capt. Lindbergh's account of his air voyage to Paris:

"All the way up the American coast to Newfoundland we had uncommonly good weather—lots better than we expected. But for the next 1,000 miles it couldn't have been worse for us. After we got away from land, we ran into fog, then into rain, then hail. Sometimes we flew not more than 10 feet above water, sometimes 10,000 feet."

"When Lindbergh says 'we,' he means the ship and himself," explained Ambassador Herrick to the puzzled correspondents.

It's amusing, and tremendously human, with an element of pathos. Alone, Lindbergh thought of the "ship" itself as a companion. There were the two of them, roaring bravely through the cold and wetness and darkness, toward their distant goal. His personification of the airplane endows it with life. You feel an instinctive sympathy for that plane, pelted with sleet and blinded by fog, and you feel admiration for its endurance.

In another sense, Lindbergh seems to identify the plane with himself. The two are one mechanism, one mind and spirit. No wonder they succeeded. The man who feels like that about his horse, his automobile, his business, is pretty sure to arrive.

Oklahoma And Mexico

A curious situation is said to exist in the Oklahoma oil fields.

The plentitude of oil in the United States and the low prices of gasoline and other petroleum products are attributed to overproduction in that state. Everybody is puncturing the oil-bearing rock and pumping the oil out.

wherever a new field is found, everybody rushes in to help empty it. Wherever a productive well is drilled, some neighbor drills another as close to it as possible. Supply exceeds demand. Producers and refiners have to cut prices to unload their stock.

So the oil producers, of all people, are now turning conservationists. They know the oil shouldn't be drawn out and wasted that way, but they are not able to agree among themselves on a program of restricted output. So they want the government to step in and do the restricting and conserving for them.

The curious phase of it is that Mexico has been trying to do the same thing with oil deposits in that country, eking out the supply to meet national requirements for as long a period as possible, instead of squandering the whole supply at once. And that has been bitterly condemned by American oil interests.

Nations' Names

"Don't call us 'Latin-Americans,'" says Federico Alfonso Pezet of Peru, formerly ambassador from that country at Washington and now representative of chambers of commerce and trade associations of Peru. "We don't call you Anglo-Americans. Call us South Americans or Central Americans, or better still, speak of us as Peruvians or Chileans or Bolivians. We have our own national individualities just as you and the Canadians have."

One reason why we of the northern continent of the Western Hemisphere refer to our southern neighbors as one great group is that we are sadly ignorant of the individual characteristics, racial origins, histories and civilizations of those various South American nations.

Pezet and other educated South Americans know much more about us than we do about them.

There are enough women voters in England now to rule the country, if they hang together. The men will continue ruling.

HURTING NOBODY'S FEELINGS

One of the well-known citizens of our Republic, who has an occasional lapse, is inclined to roam at such times through the great city of New York where he resides. Tracing him is difficult, because he breaks in a new circuit of illicit saloons and clandestine souse-parlors with each expedition. He regards these trips as educational in the study of human nature, but is silent on the worth of the varied bombardment of bootlegged goods over the bar.

"How in blazes did you ever come to pick out an awful dump like this?" exclaimed the chief of staff with a show of indignation.

The explorer looked surprised.

"Why slight any of them?" he asked.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

PARIS, May 26.—This afternoon I went out in search of George Ade who arrived here from Egypt yesterday. I seemed to be about four soda water fountains behind him and wound up at the Dome in the Latin quarter at a table thegarcon informed me the humorist had just vacated.

"He had a glass of vichy water, seemed bored and departed," he explained. The usual crowd wes on the terasse of the Dome—the mannish lady with a monocle, art students in blue and wine colored smocks, silbouette cutters, dreamy eyes poets, ink stained scribblers of pot boilers, near sculptors with Jo Davidson whiskers, pale models of the garrets and such.

Across the street at the Rotonde and the Select were the same odd types. All seeking to express the artistic urge cubistically or otherwise. Indeed, in the main, a glorious collection of good natured, likable and harmless nuts. The same assortment that used to be found in Greenwich Village.

The Latin Quarter is the same as it was a year ago or ten years ago save for a new sartorial note. It has tired of velveteen jackets and flowing black bow ties. A number have gone back to the Louis XV period and are appearing as silk calved courtiers.

The steamship sails from New York in September and returns to that port the following May. It proceeds to Havana, then through the Panama Canal, to Los Angeles, Hawaii, Japan, China, Indian Ocean ports, through the Suez Canal, and after visiting various European and African cities crosses the Atlantic to the home port.

Students elect the studies they wish to pursue and are expected to carry the same amount of work that they would in a prep school or college or university. The ship does not carry laboratories with elaborate equipments, so courses in chemistry, physics, and the like, are not offered.

EAST LIVERPOOL—AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

THURSDAY, MAY 26, 1927.

Mayor's Salary Reduction

Fate of the councilmanic ordinance providing a reduction from $1,800 to $1,200 in the annual salary of East Liverpool's chief executive rests in the hands of Mayor Ralph C. Benedum. Whether he shall sign, veto or permit the proposal to become a law without his signature will be decided within ten days.

The legislative measure, enacted by a vote of 5 to 2, is the outgrowth of a movement which began during the administration of Mayor Charles Brown, who vetoed the plan. A few months ago the proposal was again introduced, but council defeated it. Then followed the movement for the submission of an initiative ordinance, petitions for which are now in circulation.

The consensus of opinion seems to be that the salary should be cut. This sentiment has increased since the establishment of the municipal court, which relieved the mayor of police court work. The only question, apparently, is the amount of the stipend. The initiative proposal provides for $600, while some citizens have urged as low as $300.

Council's enactment of the $1,200 salary measure, a compromise on the wide divergence of opinion as to a fair compensation for the office, places the issue squarely before Mayor Benedum. He should win friends by signing the measure. Otherwise, East Liverpool electors will pass judgment upon a $600 proposal at the November election.

"We"

Entertaining extract from Capt. Lindbergh's account of his air voyage to Paris:

"All the way up the American coast to Newfoundland we had uncommonly good weather—lots better than we expected. But for the next 1,000 miles it couldn't have been worse for us. After we got away from land, we ran into fog, then into rain, then hail. Sometimes we flew not more than 10 feet above water, sometimes 10,000 feet."

"When Lindbergh says 'we,' he means the ship and himself," explained Ambassador Herrick to the puzzled correspondents.

It's amusing, and tremendously human, with an element of pathos. Alone, Lindbergh thought of the "ship" itself as a companion. There were the two of them, roaring bravely through the cold and wetness and darkness, toward their distant goal. His personification of the airplane endows it with life. You feel an instinctive sympathy for that plane, pelted with sleet and blinded by fog, and you feel admiration for its endurance.

In another sense, Lindbergh seems to identify the plane with himself. The two are one mechanism, one mind and spirit. No wonder they succeeded. The man who feels like that about his horse, his automobile, his business, is pretty sure to arrive.

Oklahoma And Mexico

A curious situation is said to exist in the Oklahoma oil fields.

The plentitude of oil in the United States and the low prices of gasoline and other petroleum products are attributed to overproduction in that state. Everybody is puncturing the oil-bearing rock and pumping the oil out.

wherever a new field is found, everybody rushes in to help empty it. Wherever a productive well is drilled, some neighbor drills another as close to it as possible. Supply exceeds demand. Producers and refiners have to cut prices to unload their stock.

So the oil producers, of all people, are now turning conservationists. They know the oil shouldn't be drawn out and wasted that way, but they are not able to agree among themselves on a program of restricted output. So they want the government to step in and do the restricting and conserving for them.

The curious phase of it is that Mexico has been trying to do the same thing with oil deposits in that country, eking out the supply to meet national requirements for as long a period as possible, instead of squandering the whole supply at once. And that has been bitterly condemned by American oil interests.

Nations' Names

"Don't call us 'Latin-Americans,'" says Federico Alfonso Pezet of Peru, formerly ambassador from that country at Washington and now representative of chambers of commerce and trade associations of Peru. "We don't call you Anglo-Americans. Call us South Americans or Central Americans, or better still, speak of us as Peruvians or Chileans or Bolivians. We have our own national individualities just as you and the Canadians have."

One reason why we of the northern continent of the Western Hemisphere refer to our southern neighbors as one great group is that we are sadly ignorant of the individual characteristics, racial origins, histories and civilizations of those various South American nations.

Pezet and other educated South Americans know much more about us than we do about them.

There are enough women voters in England now to rule the country, if they hang together. The men will continue ruling.

HURTING NOBODY'S FEELINGS

One of the well-known citizens of our Republic, who has an occasional lapse, is inclined to roam at such times through the great city of New York where he resides. Tracing him is difficult, because he breaks in a new circuit of illicit saloons and clandestine souse-parlors with each expedition. He regards these trips as educational in the study of human nature, but is silent on the worth of the varied bombardment of bootlegged goods over the bar.

"How in blazes did you ever come to pick out an awful dump like this?" exclaimed the chief of staff with a show of indignation.

The explorer looked surprised.

"Why slight any of them?" he asked.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY
By O. O. McINTYRE

PARIS, May 26.—This afternoon I went out in search of George Ade who arrived here from Egypt yesterday. I seemed to be about four soda water fountains behind him and wound up at the Dome in the Latin quarter at a table thegarcon informed me the humorist had just vacated.

"He had a glass of vichy water, seemed bored and departed," he explained. The usual crowd was on the terasse of the Dome—the mannish lady with a monocle, art students in blue and wine colored smocks, silbouette cutters, dreamy eyes poets, ink stained scribblers of pot boilers, near sculptors with Jo Davidson whiskers, pale models of the garrets and such.

Across the street at the Rotonde and the Select were the same odd types. All seeking to express the artistic urge cubistically or otherwise. Indeed, in the main, a glorious collection of good natured, likable and harmless nuts. The same assortment that used to be found in Greenwich Village.

The Latin Quarter is the same as it was a year ago or ten years ago save for a new sartorial note. It has tired of velveteen jackets and flowing black bow ties. A number have gone back to the Louis XV period and are appearing as silk calved courtiers.

Two of them, with powdered hair, occupied a table on the outer edge of the sidewalk at the Dome. Montnarnasse coiffeurs announce they are equipped to powder hair—price four francs. Tailors on boulevard Saint-Germain are showing frilled shirts silk stockings and silver buckled pump.

Even the fashionable male tailoring salons along Faubourg St. Honore are showing short silk pantaloons for full evening clothes. I am told they have been worn at the Ciro Friday night and the Ritz Sunday night dinner dances but I have not seen them.

It will be a blow to the Sioux City drug store cowboys who have stocked up with the bell mouthed trousers. At the Dome I saw something entirely new in begging. A tattered old lady leading a miserable little boy stopped in front of my table. She screeched at the child: "Pleurer pour l'homme!" And the urchin began to weep. He cried me out of a ten franc note.

Later I ran across George Ade in that long labyrinth of glittering show cases in the Ritz. Ade called it the "Alley of Temptations." It is," he said, "the place where husbands should put blinders on their wives."

No person seems so symbolic of his calling as the Parisian funeral coach driver around the Madelaine. There is a touch of grief to his cockade hat and frayed overcoat. His jowls hang lugubriously and he appears to have a perpetual lump in his throat. Then there are the professional mourners who stand about the curbs in long black coats, smoking their pipes, ready to swing off behind the hearse in the long walk to the cemetery. They lend their leaden presence to the mourning for eight francs per funeral—or about 30 cents.

Then, too, are the old women balloon vendors who stand at the gates of the parks and gardens with their tugging blurs of color. Their personality is that of a mould on a pat of butter. I have watched them for years and never have I seen one of them make a sale.

In one of the smartest restaurants in Paris for dinner this evening an American negro in full evening dress entered with a blonde young woman fashionably attired. He was ebony black and she was as fair as a lily. The head waiter with a flourish seated thew at a prominent table in the middle of the room. They seemed agreeably welcome.

In the same restaurant was Mrs. Jean Nash, publicized as the best dressed woman in the world. She was with her husband—the dashing young Dubonnet. She was in a simple blue gown and dazzled with diamonds One could find hundreds of more beautiful and more becoming dressed women in New York at the same hour. Mrs. Nash happened to be good newspaper copy. Hence her fame, such as it is.

Below my hotel window is a garden, abloom with multi-colored flowers and slit with cool graveled walks. Under huge umbrellas, festooned with lights, are gay crowds having an after theater bite. The soft blue sky seems a starry mesh. And despite all the beauty and froth, one cannot help but sense the ugliness and depravity that all. I do not see how a normal American could be content here permanent-exist here. That somehow spoils it ly.

Why "90%" Are Still Suffering.

It is a glorious thing to awake with a lively, healthy, energetic body. It is a misery to drag an aching, tired, weary body from a restless, sleepless bed. W. K. Holland, Harlingen, Texas, thus: "I bet that 90% of those suffering from kidney irregularities never take anything for kidney regulation until it is too late, whereas Foley Pills diuretic would be a god-send to them, as they have been to me." A reliable, valuable medicine, constantly in use over 25 years. Ask for Foley Pills, diuretic. Sold everywhere.

HASKINS' LETTER
By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

WASHINGTON, May 26—The first cruise of the first floating university that took between four and five hundred youths of both sexes on a leisurely tour around the world and gave them the equivalent of a year's college work has but recently been concluded. Already plans are afoot for two such universities, and possibly three, for the next collegiate year. The year following, it is predicted, there will be at least five, and no limits are set as to the ultimate developments of this innovation in education.

The time may not be far distant when each of the larger universities of the country will include in its curriculum a similar world tour open to a limited number of its students each year, or when a youth may matriculate and take a four-years' course in and get his degree from a university that has no campus other than the bounding main and the decks of a modern steamship.

Some five or six years ago three college professors in New York conceived the idea of the floating university and broached it to a practical steamship man. He was not interested. He could not see it as a business proposition and not being an educator his imagination was not fired with that phase of the idea, which was fundamental.

Not to be discouraged, the professors took the matter up with the shipping man a year later and kept after him more or less persistently for another twelve-month. A year after that, the man of the sea made a trip abroad in the course of which he gave considerable thought to the floating university idea, and came home completely sold on it. It was his turn, then, to go to the professors, which he did, and plans were formulated that went to pot, so the story goes, because the educators could only agree to disagree when their dream was about to be realized.

A Flier in Education.

Thereupon the hard-headed business man decided to take a flier in education on his own account, to the extent of ascertaining whether students could be secured for a modern improvement upon the peripatetic school of Aristotle, who instructed his students while walking about the Lyceum. To his surprise, and to the amazement of those who knew about the undertaking, he signed up considerably more than a million dollars' worth of business in an incredibly short space of time.

The financial success of the first floating university was thus assured. That it has proved an educational success is attested by the students who made the cruise, and by the fact that, as stated, two such enterprises and possibly three are assured for the coming year. Educators all over the country are interested and are advising young men and women who can to give a year to this departure in education and applications for enrollment are said to be coming in so rapidly that the weeding out process has already begun.

Briefly stated, the floating university is this: A modern steamship is provided that affords accommodations for 450 to 550 students and a faculty of from 40 to 60 members, with ample class-room facilities. The courses offered include art, astronomy and navigation, biology, botany, ancient and modern languages, economics, education, English, georgraphy, geology, history, journalism, mathematics, political science, psychology and philosophy, sociology and anthropology, and public speaking. Students may take the courses which they need preparatory to entering college or a university or for credits on their college or university requirements.

The steamship sails from New York in September and returns to that port the following May. It proceeds to Havana, then through the Panama Canal, to Los Angeles, Hawaii, Japan, China, Indian Ocean ports, through the Suez Canal, and after visiting various European and African cities crosses the Atlantic to the home port.

Students elect the studies they wish to pursue and are expected to carry the same amount of work that they would in a prep school or college or university. The ship does not carry laboratories with elaborate equipments, so courses in chemistry, physics, and the like, are not offered.

Shore Trips Supplement Class Work.

"In addition to the regular academic work which will be carried on while the ship is at sea," says the announcement of one of the schools, "the trips ashore will be conducted on the project plan, designed to stimulate the spirit of intelligent observation and promote individual development. The details of the itinerary are not a set program as in a tourist trip. They are arranged in cooperation with the educational, economic, and government bodies in each country. There will be receptions in foreign countries extended by universities and other important groups; detailed study of museums, excavations, and political, economic, and special institutions in the various countries; local investigations leading to an intelligent understanding of the history, philosophy, and contemporary life of the important nations of the world; an effort to coordinate the knowledge gained in the classroom with the observations of travel."

The shore trips, it is explained are organized into small groups of from ten to twen studens, each with a member of the faculty in charge, and each with an individual objective according to the special interests of the various students. Numerous inland trips are arranged from each of the more important ports touched, and groups are given a choice of the places to be visited. One school plans to spend six weeks next year in touring continental Europe by train and visiting such capitals as Brussels, Berlin, Vienna, and Paris.

In addition to study, sightseeing and discipline, special attention is given to the health of the students. In the first place, no student is enrolled who can not pass an exacting physical examination, and then on board ship there are physicians, surgeons, dentists, and nurses, and all the paraphernalia of a modern hospital. Gymnasiums, swimming pools, and deck games afford the needed exercise, and social diversions are carefully arranged and supervised.

One of the two schools that will "shove off," as they say in the Navy, next September will be coeducational and one will be for boys and men only. The question as to whether the coeducational system is desirable for the floating university is said to have been found identical with the same question as applied to schools on shore. There are arguments and arguers on both sides.

It is the dream of most boys and girls to round out their education by foreign travel. Many of them spend summer vacations abroad and some take a year for the "grand tour" after they have been graduated from their chosen institutions of learning.

Now comes the floating university and offers them a chance to combine study and travel under the most auspicious conditions, and at an expense approximating that of a year at the conventional college or university.

Sciatic - Neuritis

The trouble is a very obstinate one and does not readily respond to ordinary treatment. It takes more than the usual pain sedative even to alleviate the pain. The best way to get relief from the persistent nerve racking pains of Neuritis is to get a bottle of Allenrhu Special Formula No. 2, which comes in capsule form. Take them as directed and in about 24 hours you should be able to notice that they have considerably reduced, if not almost banished, all pain and soreness. Continue faithfully and in a reasonable time you should be able to work and rest in comfort once again. Mathews Med. Store keeps Allenrhu Special Formula No. 2 in stock all the time and sells lots of it.

Clicquot Club
Ginger Ale
Aged 6 months

—an exclusive, secret process

Only master hands, guided by the skill and experience of many years, can weave its choice flavorings, from the world's best markets, into this unusual product.

Only aging under expert care can give these ingredients, whose quality is higher than the highest government standards, a chance to develop a distinctive flavor. As in well-ripened wines, the bouquet and aroma depend upon aging—upon proper protection from air and light.

Like liquid diamonds, the pure, clear water of the Clicquot spring finds its way into the New England sunlight to become a perfect medium for man's skill in the blending of Clicquot Club Ginger Ale.

In all the world there is only one Clicquot spring and only Clicquot Club can offer this heritage of purity.

It is the result of forty years of skillful working with a natural water which scientists say is peculiarly adapted to the production of a high quality ginger ale. The water of the Clicquot spring combines perfectly with the pure fruit flavors used in its making.

Every time you open a bottle of Clicquot Club—the glowing Golden or the dainty Pale Dry—the combination of Nature's bounty and man's devotion to an ideal offers a refreshing delight.

Clicquot Club is a complete answer to thirst and should be in every home for all occasions.

Clicquot Club Ginger Ale

Aged 6 months

—an exclusive, secret process

Only master hands, guided by the skill and experience of many years, can weave its choice flavorings, from the world's best markets, into this unusual product.

Only aging under expert care can give these ingredients, whose quality is higher than the highest government standards, a chance to develop a distinctive flavor. As in well-ripened wines, the bouquet and aroma depend upon aging—upon proper protection from air and light.

Like liquid diamonds, the pure, clear water of the Clicquot spring finds its way into the New England sunlight to become a perfect medium for man's skill in the blending of Clicquot Club Ginger Ale.

In all the world there is only one Clicquot spring and only Clicquot Club can offer this heritage of purity.

It is the result of forty years of skillful working with a natural water which scientists say is peculiarly adapted to the production of a high quality ginger ale. The water of the Clicquot spring combines perfectly with the pure fruit flavors used in its making.

Every time you open a bottle of Clicquot Club—the glowing Golden or the dainty Pale Dry—the combination of Nature's bounty and man's devotion to an ideal offers a refreshing delight.

Clicquot Club is a complete answer to thirst and should be in every home for all occasions.

15 BALLOONS READY FOR DECORATION DAY RACE

CARL WOLLAM NAMED PILOT OF AKRON BAG

East Liverpool Lad Seeks Place in Bennett Contest.

WILL PICK THREE

Van Orman and Morton, 1926 Winners, Will Compete.

AKRON, May 26. — Decoration Day, 15 balloons, each carrying 35,000 cubic feet of hydrogen gas, arising from the ground at the Cleveland-Akron speedway near Akron, contest for the honor of representing the United States in the first Gordon Bennett international balloon race to be held in this country since 1920. The three balloons traveling the greatest distance in the national elimination race will qualify for the international event to be held at Denver, Colo., in September.

This is the greatest number of balloons ever entered in an American elimination contest. The army has four "bags" in the race, the navy has three, and Akron, Detroit, Los Angeles, Kansas City and St. Louis are represented.

Akron, with three entries, the "Goodyear VII," the "Scripps-Howard" and the "Akron Beacon Journal," hopes to win permanent possession of the Litchfield trophy awarded to the chapter of the National Aeronautic Association whose member wins the national race. The Akron chapter now has two legs on the trophy and a win this year will give it permanent title.

Champion Again In Race.

Ward T. Van Orman and W. W. Morton, of Akron, winners of last year's race international in Belgium again are entered, determined to give the United States another leg on the Gordon Bennett trophy. Three successive victories give permanent possession of the cup. Belgium is the possessor of the first cup, which it won in 1924.

Ballooning isn't an adventure to Ward T. Van Orman, America's champion. A world figure at 31, Van Orman, is a quiet, unassuming chap, who discusses record making flights in the manner most folk would talk of a two or three hundred mile automobile ride. "Two or three flights a year are enough for me," he says, "more than that would be work. I look forward to the races each year with keen anticipation, for each race is entirely different from the last and I enjoy them thoroughly, but a balloon ascension every day would be hard work."

Hazards in ballooning? Van Orman shakes his head. "It's a lot easier and safer to travel in a balloon than to drive an auto in the city," he avers smilingly. He has been interested in ballooning since 1917 when, after being graduated from college, he taught army cadets the science of piloting lighter-than air craft.

Landed on Ship's Deck.

In the 1925 international race from Brussels, Belgium, Van Orman and his aide, Carl K. Wollam, finding themselves drifting rapidly toward Brazil, across the Atlantic ocean, were forced to land at three o'clock in the morning on the deck of a ship.

Yet, Van Orman doesn't count this his most thrilling experience. "You may thing it queer," he says, "but my most thrilling experience is of a different nature. It came in 1926 Wollam and I became lost in a heavy fog. Our sextant, upon which we depended for ascertaining our location was useless in the dark. Tuning in our radio set I picked up Berlin, Germany, then Bremen, and finally Madrid. By calculation we decided we were on the outskirts of Bremen. Five minutes later, descending below the clouds we found ourselves exactly over the heart of Bremen. That was my greatest thrill!"

He tells also of tuning in concerts from continental hotels which helped pass the lonely hours.

This year six radio stations will broadcast information to the flyers.

In 1906 the Aero club of France was presented with a trophy by James Gordon Bennett, famous New York newspaperman, to be competed for annually in the country holding the cup, between the dates of April 1st and November 1st, by the representatives of the various national clubs forming the International Aeronautic Federation, and to be held permanently by the club winning it three successive times. Balloons entered may not exceed 2,200 cubic meters or 80,00 cubic feet in volume, all contests to be held for distance.

The first of these international races was in Paris, France, in 1906 Sixteen ballons entered and the French were the favorites, since the sport was popular there. More than 250,000 spectators observed the take-off. America's lone entrant, Lieut. Frank P. Lahm of the United States Army, found a current of air which would take him nothward and he landed at Flying Dales, England, victorious after covering 410 miles.

The following race at St. Louis, was won by a German, Oscar Erbsloh. In the 1908 race Colonel Schaeck representing Switzerland, in addition to winning the race remained in the air 73 hours, setting a new world's duration record. For the second time, in 1909, the United States again had but one entrant, Edgar W. Mix, and again the trophy came to America.

Great enthusiasm marked the return of the trophy to the United States and elaborate preparations were made for the fifth race to be held in St. Louis. The American team, composed of A. R. Hawley, H. E. Honeywell and S. Louis Van Phul, landed in the Canadian wilderness near Quebec, after traveling 1,172.9 miles, a new distance record for America, which still stands. Hawley and his aides had been given up for lost. After tramping in the woods for five days they met two trappers, who guided them to the nearest habitation. This race marked the entry of H. E. Honeywell, "dean of American balloonists," who since has been identified with every Gordon Bennett race with the exception of that held in 1921.

As the winning of the 1911 race would give America permanent possession of the cup no pains were spared to make the race at Kansas City a success from the United States standpoint. But Hans Gericke of Germany won the cup although Honeywell, flying as a noncontestant, outdistanced him by about 30 miles.

Another American Winner.

In 1913, an American, Ralph Upson, flying the "Goodyear I" in his first race, won taking advantage of the varying winds at the different altitudes, the value of which older and more experienced ballonists had failed to recognize. He and his aide, R. A. D. Preston, landed on the English shore, clinching the race for America for the fourth time. Ballonists say this was the first "scientific" flight.

From 1914 to 1919, because of the war, the trophy was not competed for.

In 1920 when racing was resumed Belgium won for the first time. In 1921 the trophy went to Switzerland.

Then came the period in which Lieut. Ernest Demuyter, of Belgium, dominated ballooning. In 1922, 1923 and 1924 he won the trophy for Belgium, thus ending competition for the first Gordon Bennett trophy. In 1925 Belgium won a leg on the new trophy.

Taking off during a storm in 1926 Ward T. Van Orman and W. W. Morton covered 528 miles, landing in Solvesborg, Sweden, and the trophy returned to the United States.

The twelfth contest in 1923 was the most disastrous in the history of the race. High winds and electrical storms made conditions the worst ever experienced in competition for the trophy. A heavy rain was falling. Five ballonists were killed and five others seriously injured.

Elaborate preparations are being made for the elimination race in Akron. An extensive program of aerial events as well as the big race itself is scheduled. One hundred planes participating in maneuvers, two dirigibles circling above the field, parachute jumps and sham battles are featured.

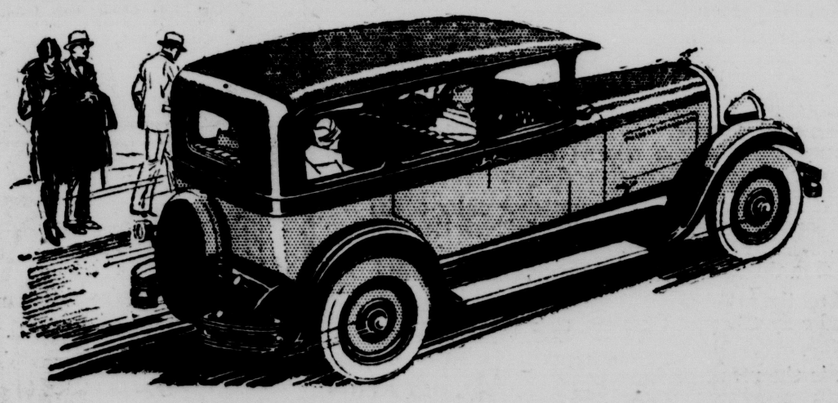
More Glory for Studebaker Commander

Tests show 17¼ miles per gallon



First—5000 miles in 4909 minutes—the fastest going for the greatest distance of any enclosed car in the world or any strictly stock car, open or closed.

Next, in 33 nation-wide hill-climbing contests, The Commander demonstrated its thrilling power over some of the steepest hills in the country.

17¼ miles per gallon!

And now—in 61 tests held all over the United States, The Commander delivered an average of 17¼ miles per gallon of gasoline! In every instance the carburetor was drained and connected to an accurately measured one-gallon container. Each test was carefully checked by motor club officials or newspaper representatives.

And remember, this average of 17¼ miles per gallon was made by a Big Six equaled in rated horsepower by only seven other American cars—and they cost from $4,000 to $10,000! No wonder the Studebaker Big Six outsells the combined total of all other cars in the world of equal or greater rated horsepower.

There is a sound basis for the statement that The Commander is "the greatest post-war achievement in automotive engineering."

The astounding feat of covering 5000 continuous miles in less than 5000 consecutive minutes merely dramatized the thrilling performance, the freedom from repair expense, the peace of mind and economy which all owners of this plus-powered car enjoy.

What Harry Hartz Says About The Commander:

"It is my opinion that The Commander will maintain any given speed, up to 65 miles per hour, longer, more smoothly, and at less expense per hour traveled, for gasoline, oil and repairs, than any other stock automobile now being built in the United States."

15 BALLOONS READY FOR DECORATION DAY RACE

CARL WOLLAM NAMED PILOT OF AKRON BAG

East Liverpool Lad Seeks Place in Bennett Contest.

WILL PICK THREE

Van Orman and Morton, 1926 Winners, Will Compete.

AKRON, May 26. — Decoration Day, 15 balloons, each carrying 35,000 cubic feet of hydrogen gas, arising from the ground at the Cleveland-Akron speedway near Akron, contest for the honor of representing the United States in the first Gordon Bennett international balloon race to be held in this country since 1920. The three balloons traveling the greatest distance in the national elimination race will qualify for the international event to be held at Denver, Colo., in September.

This is the greatest number of balloons ever entered in an American elimination contest. The army has four "bags" in the race, the navy has three, and Akron, Detroit, Los Angeles, Kansas City and St. Louis are represented.

Akron, with three entries, the "Goodyear VII," the "Scripps-Howard" and the "Akron Beacon Journal," hopes to win permanent possession of the Litchfield trophy awarded to the chapter of the National Aeronautic Association whose member wins the national race. The Akron chapter now has two legs on the trophy and a win this year will give it permanent title.

Champion Again In Race.

Ward T. Van Orman and W. W. Morton, of Akron, winners of last year's race international in Belgium again are entered, determined to give the United States another leg on the Gordon Bennett trophy. Three successive victories give permanent possession of the cup. Belgium is the possessor of the first cup, which it won in 1924.

Ballooning isn't an adventure to Ward T. Van Orman, America's champion. A world figure at 31, Van Orman, is a quiet, unassuming chap, who discusses record making flights in the manner most folk would talk of a two or three hundred mile automobile ride. "Two or three flights a year are enough for me," he says, "more than that would be work. I look forward to the races each year with keen anticipation, for each race is entirely different from the last and I enjoy them thoroughly, but a balloon ascension every day would be hard work."

Hazards in ballooning? Van Orman shakes his head. "It's a lot easier and safer to travel in a balloon than to drive an auto in the city," he avers smilingly. He has been interested in ballooning since 1917 when, after being graduated from college, he taught army cadets the science of piloting lighter-than-air craft.

Landed on Ship's Deck.

In the 1925 international race from Brussels, Belgium, Van Orman and his aide, Carl K. Wollam, finding themselves drifting rapidly toward Brazil, across the Atlantic ocean, were forced to land at three o'clock in the morning on the deck of a ship.

Yet, Van Orman doesn't count this his most thrilling experience. "You may thing it queer," he says, "but my most thrilling experience is of a different nature. It came in 1926 Wollam and I became lost in a heavy fog. Our sextant, upon which we depended for ascertaining our location was useless in the dark. Tuning in our radio set I picked up Berlin, Germany, then Bremen, and finally Madrid. By calculation we decided we were on the outskirts of Bremen. Five minutes later, descending below the clouds we found ourselves exactly over the heart of Bremen. That was my greatest thrill!"

He tells also of tuning in concerts from continental hotels which helped pass the lonely hours.

This year six radio stations will broadcast information to the flyers.

In 1906 the Aero club of France was presented with a trophy by James Gordon Bennett, famous New York newspaperman, to be competed for annually in the country holding the cup, between the dates of April 1st and November 1st, by the representatives of the various national clubs forming the International Aeronautic Federation, and to be held permanently by the club winning it three successive times. Balloons entered may not exceed 2,200 cubic meters or 80,00 cubic feet in volume, all contests to be held for distance.

The first of these international races was in Paris, France, in 1906. Sixteen ballons entered and the French were the favorites, since the sport was popular there. More than 250,000 spectators observed the take-off. America's lone entrant, Lieut. Frank P. Lahm of the United States Army, found a current of air which would take him nothward and he landed at Flying Dales, England, victorious after covering 410 miles.

The following race at St. Louis, was won by a German, Oscar Erbsloh. In the 1908 race Colonel Schaeck representing Switzerland, in addition to winning the race remained in the air 73 hours, setting a new world's duration record. For the second time, in 1909, the United States again had but one entrant, Edgar W. Mix, and again the trophy came to America.

Great enthusiasm marked the return of the trophy to the United States and elaborate preparations were made for the fifth race to be held in St. Louis. The American team, composed of A. R. Hawley, H. E. Honeywell and S. Louis Van Phul, landed in the Canadian wilderness near Quebec, after traveling 1,172.9 miles, a new distance record for America, which still stands. Hawley and his aides had been given up for lost. After tramping in the woods for five days they met two trappers, who guided them to the nearest habitation. This race marked the entry of H. E. Honeywell, "dean of American balloonists," who since has been identified with every Gordon Bennett race with the exception of that held in 1921.

As the winning of the 1911 race would give America permanent possession of the cup no pains were spared to make the race at Kansas City a success from the United States standpoint. But Hans Gericke of Germany won the cup although Honeywell, flying as a noncontestant, outdistanced him by about 30 miles.

Another American Winner.

In 1913, an American, Ralph Upson, flying the "Goodyear I" in his first race, won taking advantage of the varying winds at the different altitudes, the value of which older and more experienced ballonists had failed to recognize. He and his aide, R. A. D. Preston, landed on the English shore, clinching the race for America for the fourth time. Ballonists say this was the first "scientific" flight.

From 1914 to 1919, because of the war, the trophy was not competed for.

In 1920 when racing was resumed Belgium won for the first time. In 1921 the trophy went to Switzerland.

Then came the period in which Lieut. Ernest Demuyter, of Belgium, dominated ballooning. In 1922, 1923 and 1924 he won the trophy for Belgium, thus ending competition for the first Gordon Bennett trophy. In 1925 Belgium won a leg on the new trophy.

THERE IS A DIFFERENCE IN GASOLINE

Like the beacons that guide the night mail

THE RED CROWN SIGN flashes a welcome message to motorists. It leads you straight to gasoline of uniform quality and known value in this day of many brands and conflicting claims and prices.

Red Crown is made to conform to rigid standards set by 57 years of refining experience. You can depend on it. 600 Standard Oil Service Stations—thousands of dealers.

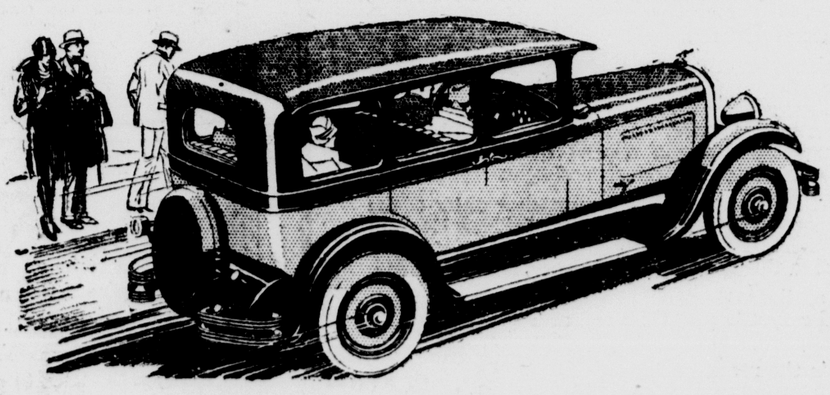
More Glory for Studebaker Commander
Tests show 17¼ miles per gallon



First—5000 miles in 4909 minutes—the fastest going for the greatest distance of any enclosed car in the world or any strictly stock car, open or closed.

Next, in 33 nation-wide hill-climbing contests, The Commander demonstrated its thrilling power over some of the steepest hills in the country.

17¼ miles per gallon!

And now—in 61 tests held all over the United States, The Commander delivered an average of 17¼ miles per gallon of gasoline! In every instance the carburetor was drained and connected to an accurately measured one-gallon container. Each test was carefully checked by motor club officials or newspaper representatives.

And remember, this average of 17¼ miles per gallon was made by a Big Six equaled in rated horsepower by only seven other American cars—and they cost from $4,000 to $10,000! No wonder the Studebaker Big Six outsells the combined total of all other cars in the world of equal or greater rated horsepower.

There is a sound basis for the statement that The Commander is "the greatest post-war achievement in automotive engineering."

The astounding feat of covering 5000 continuous miles in less than 5000 consecutive minutes merely dramatized the thrilling performance, the freedom from repair expense, the peace of mind and economy which all owners of this plus-powered car enjoy.

What Harry Hartz Says About The Commander:

"It is my opinion that The Commander will maintain any given speed, up to 65 miles per hour, longer, more smoothly, and at less expense per hour traveled, for gasoline, oil and repairs, than any other stock automobile now being built in the United States."

Commander Prices: Commander Sedan, $1585; Victoria, $1575; (broadcloth upholstery, $1645); Coupe, $1545; (with rumble seat, $1645) . . . Prices f. o. b. factory, including front and rear bumpers, snubbers and 4-wheel brakes. Other Studebaker and Erskine models from $945 to $2495.

Drive The Commander yourself!

Get behind the wheel, step on the throttle and step out in front—try it in traffic for flexible handling—or level out the steepest hills. Any gait of travel suits The Commander—it answers instantly to the spur of its accelerator or the curb of its positive-acting 4-wheel brakes.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, May 26.—Washington dispatches outlining the progress of the southwestern railroad merger plans stimulated active buying of the railroad stocks at the beginning of trading today. So great was the rush for the Nickel Plate rails that two of the sticks in this group jumped 3½ and 4½ points on the initial sales, with heavy trading immediately following.

Nickel Plate's rise to 236 was prompted by expert calculations showing the asset value of the stock at from $250 to $300 per share, depending on market prices of Chesapeake and Ohio, Pere Marquette, Wheeling and Lake Erie, as well as on to correct valuation of the rolling property of Nickel Plate itself.

Chesapeake and Ohio jumped an additional 5 points in the first half-hour, adding a potential 8 points to Nickel Plate's value. Pere Marquette was up about 3 points. The Nickel Plate holdings of this stock amount to 174,000 shares. Erie common and first preferred easily moved upward into the highest price levels of the year.

Of the so-called unattached merger prospects, western Maryland and Chicago Great Western monopolized the center of the stage. Western Maryland is doubtless under accumulation by the big railroad interests, including Baltimore and Ohio, and probably Pennsylvania. The stock sold above 60 today, compared with the March quotation of 13¾. Chicago Great Western preferred raced up to a new high at 41¼ in active trading, with Wall Street still in the dark as to the source of the buying demand.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, May 26.—Washington dispatches outlining the progress of the southwestern railroad merger plans stimulated active buying of the railroad stocks at the beginning of trading today. So great was the rush for the Nickel Plate rails that two of the sticks in this group jumped 3½ and 4½ points on the initial sales, with heavy trading immediately following.

Nickel Plate's rise to 236 was prompted by expert calculations showing the asset value of the stock at from $250 to $300 per share, depending on market prices of Chesapeake and Ohio, Pere Marquette, Wheeling and Lake Erie, as well as on to correct valuation of the rolling property of Nickel Plate itself.

Chesapeake and Ohio jumped an additional 5 points in the first half-hour, adding a potential 8 points to Nickel Plate's value. Pere Marquette was up about 3 points. The Nickel Plate holdings of this stock amount to 174,000 shares. Erie common and first preferred easily moved upward into the highest price levels of the year.

Of the so-called unattached merger prospects, western Maryland and Chicago Great Western monopolized the center of the stage. Western Maryland is doubtless under accumulation by the big railroad interests, including Baltimore and Ohio, and probably Pennsylvania. The stock sold above 60 today, compared with the March quotation of 13¾. Chicago Great Western preferred raced up to a new high at 41¼ in active trading, with Wall Street still in the dark as to the source of the buying demand.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, May 26.—Washington dispatches outlining the progress of the southwestern railroad merger plans stimulated active buying of the railroad stocks at the beginning of trading today. So great was the rush for the Nickel Plate rails that two of the sticks in this group jumped 3½ and 4½ points on the initial sales, with heavy trading immediately following.

Nickel Plate's rise to 236 was prompted by expert calculations showing the asset value of the stock at from $250 to $300 per share, depending on market prices of Chesapeake and Ohio, Pere Marquette, Wheeling and Lake Erie, as well as on to correct valuation of the rolling property of Nickel Plate itself.

Chesapeake and Ohio jumped an additional 5 points in the first half-hour, adding a potential 8 points to Nickel Plate's value. Pere Marquette was up about 3 points. The Nickel Plate holdings of this stock amount to 174,000 shares. Erie common and first preferred easily moved upward into the highest price levels of the year.

Of the so-called unattached merger prospects, western Maryland and Chicago Great Western monopolized the center of the stage. Western Maryland is doubtless under accumulation by the big railroad interests, including Baltimore and Ohio, and probably Pennsylvania. The stock sold above 60 today, compared with the March quotation of 13¾. Chicago Great Western preferred raced up to a new high at 41¼ in active trading, with Wall Street still in the dark as to the source of the buying demand.

SPANISH FLYER AND FREIGHT IN COLLISION

Crash Occurs at Pulpi; Almeria Province.

VICTIMS TRAPPED

Passenger Train is Almost Totally Destroyed.

MADRID, May 26.—Fourteen persons are reported dead and twelve are still buried in the wreckage, following a collision between a freight train and a mail train at Pulpi, Almeria province.

First reports said that seven were dead, but later this figure was increased. The passenger train was almost totally destroyed.

CANADA ENDS SOVIET PACT

Britain Reveals 16 Documents Seized in London Raid.

OTTAWA, May 26.—Canada today followed the lead of the British government by formally terminating the trade agreement between Canada and Soviet Russia.

LONDON, May 26.—The British government today issued a white paper containing 16 documents seized in Soviet House, which the foreign office stated illustrate the "hostile activities of the Soviet government and the Third Internationale against Great Britain."

The white paper was the first shot fired in the campaign for ratification of the cabinet decision for a rupture with Russia, which is being fought out in the house of commons today.

Included in the white paper was a list of "illegal addresses for communication with the Communist parties in America, Mexico, South America, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, and South Africa, which were found in the possession of Anton Miller, who resisted the police when they sought to take possession of his dispatch box."

Young, a winner two years ago over Driber, was defeated by the latter, while Moore made an unsuccessful race against Cartlidge for the first vice-presidency. Hill, fourth vice-president, is a new man.

Two Officers Unopposed.

Joseph Smith, Philadelphia, was re-elected over James Bailey, Perth Amboy, N. J., in the race for fifth vice-president, while Frank Hull, East Liverpool, defeated Lawrence Calder, New Castle, Pa., formerly of East Liverpool, in the contest for seventh vice-president.

T. M. Woods, Sebring and John D. McGillivray, East Liverpool, were unopposed for sixth vice-president and secretary-treasurer, respectively.

The officers-elect will be installed at the 37th annual convention of the Brotherhood which will open in the Odd Fellows' hall, New York avenue, Atlantic City, on July 1.

Less than 17 per cent of the 7,500 members of the Brotherhood voted, officials said.

Wood Held Office 27 Years.

President Wood, a charter member of Local Union No. 9, Kilnmen, has been an officer in the brotherhood since 1900, when he was elected treasurer at a convention held in Wheeling. He held this post until 1907, with the exception of about three months in 1903.

Offices of secretary and treasurer were combined in 1907, the late Edward Menge being named to this post when Wood was elected seventh vice-president. When T. J. Duffy resigned as president of the brotherhood in 1911, Menge succeeded him and Wood took Menge's old place. He held this position until 1921 when he succeeded Menge who resigned the presidency because of ill health.

John D. McGillivray, who had been seventh vice-president, then became secretary-treasurer.

Wood joined the brotherhood in 1892 when the Kilnmen's local was formed. This was two years after the N. B. of O. P. had been organized.

Duffy, the president-elect, is a brother of T. J. Duffy, and a member of Local Union, No. 76, and is employed by the Buffalo Pottery company at Buffalo. He is a turner by trade. He moved to Buffalo about four years ago, when he resigned his No. 2 plant.

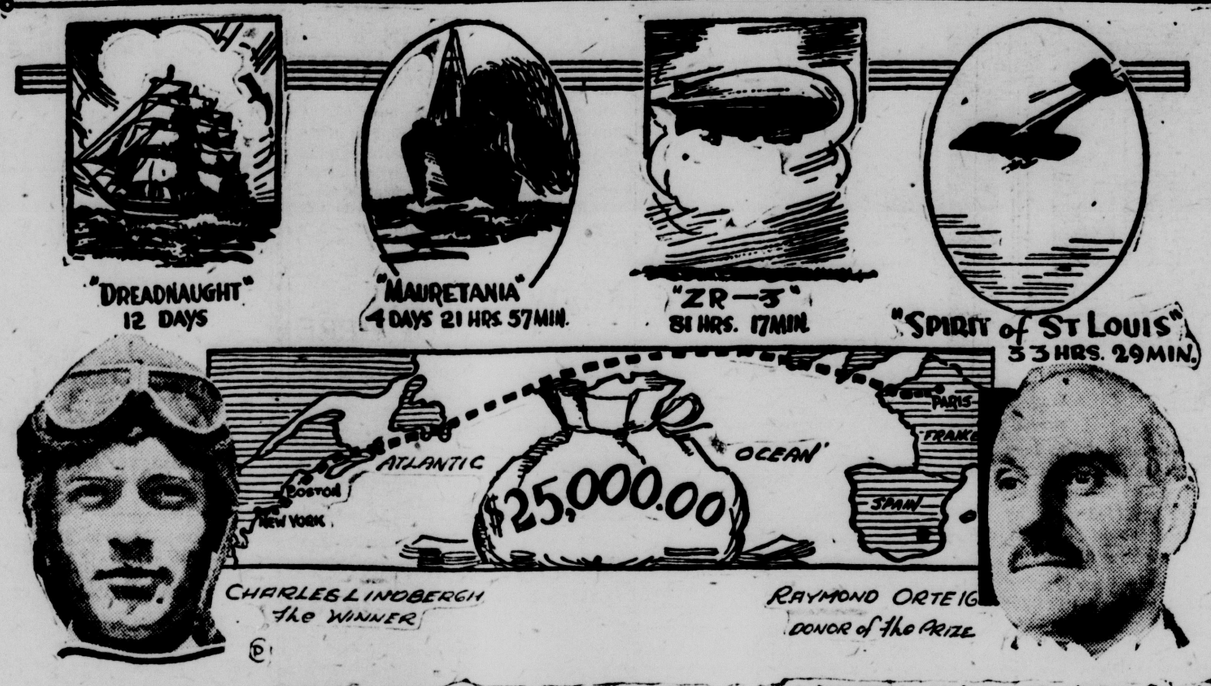
LINDBERGH ADDS NEW MARK TO TRANSATLANTIC RECORDS



In completing his non-stop flight from New York to Paris for the Orteig prize of $25,000, in 33 hours, 29 minutes, Captain Charles A. Lindbergh in his monoplane, "The Spirit of St. Louis," has set a new record in transatlantic travel for the aviators of the future to shoot at. The record for sailing vessels was made in 1859 by the "Dreadnaught," a clipper ship, which traversed the distance from New York to Cape Clear, Ireland, in 12 days. The modern steamship record was established in September, 1924, when the "Mauretania" made the distance from New York to Plymouth in four days, 21 hours, and 57 minutes. This record was lowered the following month by the dirigible "ZR-3," later the "Los Angeles," which flew from Friedrickshafen, Germany, to Lakehurst, N. J., 5,066 miles, in 3 days, 9 hours, 17 minutes. The first non-stop flight over the Atlantic was accomplished in 1919 by aviators Alcock and Brown in a British biplane. They flew from St. Johns, N. F., to Clifden, Ireland, 1,960 miles, in 16 hours and 12 minutes. The distance from New York to Paris, via Lindbergh's route, is approximately 3,600 miles.

SEVEN PERSONS DIE IN STORM

Tornado-like Gale Sweeps Norfolk, Va., Ball Park.

NORFOLK, Va., May 26. — Seven persons were dead today and widespread property damage caused by a sudden tornado-like gale which whipped up suddenly late yesterday and destroyed part of the Norfolk ball park, where the Norfolk and Portsmouth teams were playing.

Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, in the ball park at the time, had a narrow escape. He said it was the worst storm he had ever seen.

A. N. McWilliams, a middle-aged spectator at the game, was killed by a crashing timber, and H. C. Everhart, president of the Norfolk Amusement company, died late from injuries. The others killed were Negro workmen in a warehouse a short distance from the park.

Several score were given first aid treatment at hospitals for minor injuries.

"It looked like an ordinary little dust storm when it started," said Judge Landis, "but there was a real tornado behind it."

Comb Placentia Bay District for Missing Airmen

ST. JOHNS, N. F., May 26.—Exploration of the back country near Swift Current, Placentia Bay, is being made today as the result of the statement of H. Collins and his son that they heard a crash on the morning of May 9, followed by three explosions, which may have been the crash of Captain Nungesser's plane.

Collins said that he did not know until recently that Nungesser's plane was missing. Earlier reports had been received of a plane being heard near Swift Current on the morning of May 9.

Theatrical Producer Weds Divorced Wife Of Frank J. Gould

LONDON, May 26.—Albert De Courville, theatrical producer, and Edith Kelly Gould, divorced wife of Frank J. Gould, were married today at St. Martin's registry office.

Two Seminarians Drowned.

CINCINNATI, May 26.—George Adams, 20, of Paris, Ky., and Roland Sallers, 23, of Kendalville, Ind., students at St. Gregory's seminary here, were drowned when their canoe overturned in Little Maimi river, while they were attending the annual picnic of the school at Friars' camp, near here.

"LUCKY LINDY" ON SCREEN HERE

Pictures of "Lucky's" flight from the time he left San Diego, jumped to St. Louis, thence to Roosevelt Field and to span the Atlantic, will be shown at the Ceramic theatre tonight, tomorrow and Saturday.

The pictures also show the wreck of Rene Fonck's plane, willing of two airmen and the loss of two others in a trial flight, the missing French aviators, Nungesser and Coli, and views of the crash of Commander Byrd's "ship."

lined the curbings of the Champs Elysee, as Captain Lindbergh, accompanied by Ambassador Herrick, and Pierre Godin, president of the municipal council, rode in an open automobile to the city hall where Lindbergh was given the freedom of the city.

It was a striking demonstration, similar only to these seen when France greets royal visitors, with full pomp and ceremony.

Nods Acknowledgements.

Lindbergh, who has become accustomed to more vociferous enthusiasm, seemed greatly moved by the tribute of respect, and with his hat off nodded acknowledgements to the crowds as he drove along.

Double lines of mounted police lined the entire march of the procession, and the crowds were kept well back.

As the procession neared the city hall, which was aflutter with many flags, the ebullience of the French could no longer be restrained and there was prolonged applause.

The awe with which Lindbergh was received today may have been partially due to the fact that many of those who came to see him pass in review were workers, on holiday for Ascension day, who are given to more silent respect than the usual boulevardiers.

Signs "Gold Book."

While the band played the "Marsellaise" and "The Star Spangled Banner", Lindbergh marched into the city hall, where he signed "the gold book", which is reserved for the most important visitors to Paris.

Lindbergh, Ambassador Herrick, and M. Doumer, president of the senate, were seated in huge seventeenth century chairs, while addresses of welcome were made. Under ordinary circumstances only members of the government are permitted to occupy these ancient chairs.

"We salute in you, a worthy son of a noble republic, the United States," said Pierre Godin, president of the municipal council. "The friendship of the nation you represent is one of our greatest prides and our most vivid joys."

Lindbergh listened attentively, but even at the end of five days of listening to words of high praise he is unable to hid his embarassment. He is still a boy, though saluted as a hero.

Songs of Praise.

"After a triumph such as yours, your countrymen can look with a proud smile upon the stars illuminating your flag," said M. Boujou, prefect of the Seine department.

"You bring us unhoped for recompense for the loss of the heroes we mourn who retain the honor of having first attempted the tremendous task you have accomplished," said M. Chiappen, police commissioner. "In our thoughts we will never separate your young and ardent face from the two great figures—Nungesser and Coli."

As these speeches were being made within the city hall, there came murmurings of vocal music from without, where street musicians entertained the crowds who could not gain entry, with songs of praise for Lindbergh, the crowd joining in the chorus.

BOYS IN BLUE ARE HONORED

Civil War Vets Attend Kiwanis Luncheon.

Boys in blue—gray-haired veterans of the Civil war—were guests of the Kiwanis club at a noon luncheon meeting in Larkins' annex today.

Fourteen of the 23 surviving members of General Lyon Post No. 44, Grand Army of the Republic, and Mrs. Harry Logan, secretary, attended the meeting. Each guest received at least two attendance prizes, furnished by members of the club.

Talks were made by Dr. Donald W. MacLeod, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, and Rev. J. A. Armstrong, a member of the post. Dr. MacLeod eulogized the veterans, asserting that "never in the history of the world was there such as response of man-power as came when Abraham Lincoln called for volunteers to preserve the union and the flag."

"I hope the day will never come," he said, "when America will be too busy to forget the debt of gratitude to these men who fought for the preservation of the union."

Dr. W. A. Hobbs, club president, presided. Music was directed by Prof. H. F. Laughlin. Secretary Carl Gruber read a letter from District Governor Howard S. Smith, Dayton, complimenting the East Liverpool club for the "fine showing" made at the divisional meeting held at Steubenville a week ago.

Veterans who attended the meeting were Gideon Standley, Noah Frederick, William Allison, B. W. Haines, William Latham, John A. Armstron, Isaac Burlingame, Benton Kirk, Joseph Webber, John Smith, Levi Hamilton, W. K. Keorge, John Cullen and James Ballentine.

H. S. Firestone Sends Baby Hippopotamus To White House

WASHINGTON, May 26.—President Coolidges private White House menagerie was increased today by a baby hippopotamus—the gift of Harvey S. Firestone, the rubber magnate.

The president was advised that the newest addition will arrive on June 1. It is about six feet long and stands about thirty inches. The animal was captured on the Firestone plantation in Liberia.

The Liberian hippo prefers dry land to water, the president was advised, and arrangements accordingly have been made for a dry berth for the youngster at the national zoo.

Salvation Army Sends Clothes and Food to Sufferers

Through the efforts of the Salvation Army, 3,000 pieces of clothing collected here and a ton of cereals donated by the W. A. Weaver company, wholesale grocers, have been shipped to the Mississippi river flood sufferers.

Clothing was sent by express, no shipping charges being made by the American Railway Express company. The clothing, packed by members of the Home League women was collected by Rainey Bontempt.

Air Race Across Pacific Will be World's Next Thrill

SAN FRANCISCO, May 26.—An air race across the Pacific will be the next thrill given the world by aviation.

Prospects today were that a pot of gold, so large that it will attract the leading aviators of the world, will await the successful flier who follows the setting sun.

With $35,000 in prize money awaiting the first fliers to make the initial hop to Honolulu, movements were under way today to add additional sums for successful flights to Manila, Australia and the Orient that may total $100,000 or more.

LOS ANGELES, May 26.—A $30,000 prize will be given the first American pilot to fly from Los Angeles to Tokio, Japan, Sid Grauman, motion picture theatre owner, announced today. Grauman stated he and his associates had posted the money with the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce.

LISBON, May 26.—The Italian steamer Lucerga has picked up Commander De Pinedo and his plane and is bringing the ill-fated air expedition into Horta, according to a dispatch received here.

De Pinedo was forced down in an attempted flight from Newfoundland to the Azores.

There is some conjecture here as to whether the plane will come through the long tow in the open sea without damage.

WATKINS GUILTY, AWAITS SENTENCE

Albert Watkins, Ridgeway avenue potter, is at liberty under bond today pending passing of sentence by Municipal Judge Hanley upon a charge of unlawful possession of intoxicating liquors.

Mellon Approves Plan to Cut Size Of Paper Money

WASHINGTON, May 26.—The plan to reduce paper money by one-third of the present size was approved today by Secretary of Treasury Mellon.

The present size of 7 7-16 by 3 1-8 inches will be cut to 6 1-8 by 2 5-8 inches. The bills will be aged three months before being put into circulation. New size dollar bills will be the first issued.

Pictures of "Lucky's" flight from the time he left San Diego, jumped to St. Louis, thence to Roosevelt Field and to span the Atlantic, will be shown at the Ceramic theatre tonight, tomorrow and Saturday.

The pictures also show the wreck of Rene Fonck's plane, willing of two airmen and the loss of two others in a trial flight, the missing French aviators, Nungesser and Coli, and views of the crash of Commander Byrd's "ship."

lined the curbings of the Champs Elysee, as Captain Lindbergh, accompanied by Ambassador Herrick, and Pierre Godin, president of the municipal council, rode in an open automobile to the city hall where Lindbergh was given the freedom of the city.

It was a striking demonstration, similar only to these seen when France greets royal visitors, with full pomp and ceremony.

Nods Acknowledgements.

Lindbergh, who has become accustomed to more vociferous enthusiasm, seemed greatly moved by the tribute of respect, and with his hat off nodded acknowledgements to the crowds as he drove along.

Double lines of mounted police lined the entire march of the procession, and the crowds were kept well back.

As the procession neared the city hall, which was aflutter with many flags, the ebullience of the French could no longer be restrained and there was prolonged applause.

The awe with which Lindbergh was received today may have been partially due to the fact that many of those who came to see him pass in review were workers, on holiday for Ascension day, who are given to more silent respect than the usual boulevardiers.

Signs "Gold Book."

While the band played the "Marsellaise" and "The Star Spangled Banner", Lindbergh marched into the city hall, where he signed "the gold book", which is reserved for the most important visitors to Paris.

Lindbergh, Ambassador Herrick, and M. Doumer, president of the senate, were seated in huge seventeenth century chairs, while addresses of welcome were made. Under ordinary circumstances only members of the government are permitted to occupy these ancient chairs.

"We salute in you, a worthy son of a noble republic, the United States," said Pierre Godin, president of the municipal council. "The friendship of the nation you represent is one of our greatest prides and our most vivid joys."

Lindbergh listened attentively, but even at the end of five days of listening to words of high praise he is unable to hid his embarassment. He is still a boy, though saluted as a hero.

Songs of Praise.

"After a triumph such as yours, your countrymen can look with a proud smile upon the stars illuminating your flag," said M. Boujou, prefect of the Seine department.

"You bring us unhoped for recompense for the loss of the heroes we mourn who retain the honor of having first attempted the tremendous task you have accomplished," said M. Chiappen, police commissioner. "In our thoughts we will never separate your young and ardent face from the two great figures—Nungesser and Coli."

As these speeches were being made within the city hall, there came murmurings of vocal music from without, where street musicians entertained the crowds who could not gain entry, with songs of praise for Lindbergh, the crowd joining in the chorus.

BOYS IN BLUE ARE HONORED

Civil War Vets Attend Kiwanis Luncheon.

Boys in blue—gray-haired veterans of the Civil war—were guests of the Kiwanis club at a noon luncheon meeting in Larkins' annex today.

Fourteen of the 23 surviving members of General Lyon Post No. 44, Grand Army of the Republic, and Mrs. Harry Logan, secretary, attended the meeting. Each guest received at least two attendance prizes, furnished by members of the club.

Talks were made by Dr. Donald W. MacLeod, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, and Rev. J. A. Armstrong, a member of the post. Dr. MacLeod eulogized the veterans, asserting that "never in the history of the world was there such as response of man-power as came when Abraham Lincoln called for volunteers to preserve the union and the flag."

"I hope the day will never come," he said, "when America will be too busy to forget the debt of gratitude to these men who fought for the preservation of the union."

Dr. W. A. Hobbs, club president, presided. Music was directed by Prof. H. F. Laughlin. Secretary Carl Gruber read a letter from District Governor Howard S. Smith, Dayton, complimenting the East Liverpool club for the "fine showing" made at the divisional meeting held at Steubenville a week ago.

Veterans who attended the meeting were Gideon Standley, Noah Frederick, William Allison, B. W. Haines, William Latham, John A. Armstron, Isaac Burlingame, Benton Kirk, Joseph Webber, John Smith, Levi Hamilton, W. K. Keorge, John Cullen and James Ballentine.

WASHINGTON, May 26.—The flood relief fund of the American Red Cross climbed to $14,206,488 today.

H. S. Firestone Sends Baby Hippopotamus To White House

WASHINGTON, May 26.—President Coolidges private White House menagerie was increased today by a baby hippopotamus—the gift of Harvey S. Firestone, the rubber magnate.

The president was advised that the newest addition will arrive on June 1. It is about six feet long and stands about thirty inches. The animal was captured on the Firestone plantation in Liberia.

The Liberian hippo prefers dry land to water, the president was advised, and arrangements accordingly have been made for a dry berth for the youngster at the national zoo.

Salvation Army Sends Clothes and Food to Sufferers

Through the efforts of the Salvation Army, 3,000 pieces of clothing collected here and a ton of cereals donated by the W. A. Weaver company, wholesale grocers, have been shipped to the Mississippi river flood sufferers.

Clothing was sent by express, no shipping charges being made by the American Railway Express company. The clothing, packed by members of the Home League women was collected by Rainey Bontempt.

Air Race Across Pacific Will be World's Next Thrill

SAN FRANCISCO, May 26.—An air race across the Pacific will be the next thrill given the world by aviation.

Prospects today were that a pot of gold, so large that it will attract the leading aviators of the world, will await the successful flier who follows the setting sun.

With $35,000 in prize money awaiting the first fliers to make the initial hop to Honolulu, movements were under way today to add additional sums for successful flights to Manila, Australia and the Orient that may total $100,000 or more.

LOS ANGELES, May 26.—A $30,000 prize will be given the first American pilot to fly from Los Angeles to Tokio, Japan, Sid Grauman, motion picture theatre owner, announced today. Grauman stated he and his associates had posted the money with the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce.

PINEDO ABOARD ITALIAN SHIP

Flyer and His Plane Are on Way to Horta.

LISBON, May 26.—The Italian steamer Lucerga has picked up Commander De Pinedo and his plane and is bringing the ill-fated air expedition into Horta, according to a dispatch received here.

De Pinedo was forced down in an attempted flight from Newfoundland to the Azores.

There is some conjecture here as to whether the plane will come through the long tow in the open sea without damage.

WATKINS GUILTY, AWAITS SENTENCE

Albert Watkins, Ridgeway avenue potter, is at liberty under bond today pending passing of sentence by Municipal Judge Hanley upon a charge of unlawful possession of intoxicating liquors.

Mellon Approves Plan to Cut Size Of Paper Money

WASHINGTON, May 26.—The plan to reduce paper money by one-third of the present size was approved today by Secretary of Treasury Mellon.

The present size of 7 7-16 by 3 1-8 inches will be cut to 6 1-8 by 2 5-8 inches. The bills will be aged three months before being put into circulation. New size dollar bills will be the first issued.

SPANISH FLYER AND FREIGHT IN COLLISION

Crash Occurs at Pulpi; Almeria Province.

VICTIMS TRAPPED

Passenger Train is Almost Totally Destroyed.

MADRID, May 26.—Fourteen persons are reported dead and twelve are still buried in the wreckage, following a collision between a freight train and a mail train at Pulpi, Almeria province.

First reports said that seven were dead, but later this figure was increased. The passenger train was almost totally destroyed.

CANADA ENDS SOVIET PACT

Britain Reveals 16 Documents Seized in London Raid.

OTTAWA, May 26.—Canada today followed the lead of the British government by formally terminating the trade agreement between Canada and Soviet Russia.

LONDON, May 26.—The British government today issued a white paper containing 16 documents seized in Soviet House, which the foreign office stated illustrate the "hostile activities of the Soviet government and the Third Internationale against Great Britain."

The white paper was the first shot fired in the campaign for ratification of the cabinet decision for a rupture with Russia, which is being fought out in the house of commons today.

Included in the white paper was a list of "illegal addresses for communication with the Communist parties in America, Mexico, South America, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, and South Africa, which were found in the possession of Anton Miller, who resisted the police when they sought to take possession of his dispatch box."

three changes in the executive board. Besides Wood, Third Vice-President William Young and Fourth Vice-President Sheldon M. Moore, both of Trenton, retire. Young, a winner two years ago over Driber, was defeated by the latter, while Moore made an unsuccessful race against Cartlidge for the first vice-presidency. Hill, fourth vice-president, is a new man.

Two Officers Unopposed.

Joseph Smith, Philadelphia, was re-elected over James Bailey, Perth Amboy, N. J., in the race for fifth vice-president, while Frank Hull, East Liverpool, defeated Lawrence Calder, New Castle, Pa., formerly of East Liverpool, in the contest for seventh vice-president.

T. M. Woods, Sebring and John D. McGillivray, East Liverpool, were unopposed for sixth vice-president and secretary-treasurer, respectively.

The officers-elect will be installed at the 37th annual convention of the Brotherhood which will open in the Odd Fellows' hall, New York avenue, Atlantic City, on July 1.

Less than 17 per cent of the 7,500 members of the Brotherhood voted, officials said.

Wood Held Office 27 Years.

President Wood, a charter member of Local Union No. 9, Kilnmen, has been an officer in the brotherhood since 1900, when he was elected treasurer at a convention held in Wheeling. He held this post until 1907, with the exception of about three months in 1903.

Offices of secretary and treasurer were combined in 1907, the late Edward Menge being named to this post when Wood was elected seventh vice-president. When T. J. Duffy resigned as president of the brotherhood in 1911, Menge succeeded him and Wood took Menge's old place. He held this position until 1921 when he succeeded Menge who resigned the presidency because of ill health.

John D. McGillivray, who had been seventh vice-president, then became secretary-treasurer.

Wood joined the brotherhood in 1892 when the Kilnmen's local was formed. This was two years after the N. B. of O. P. had been organized.

Duffy, the president-elect, is a brother of T. J. Duffy, and a member of Local Union, No. 76, and is employed by the Buffalo Pottery company at Buffalo. He is a turner by trade. He moved to Buffalo about four years ago, when he resigned his position at the Hall China company's No. 2 plant.

The president-elect will move his family to East Liverpool this summer before he takes office. Wood has made no definite plans for the future.

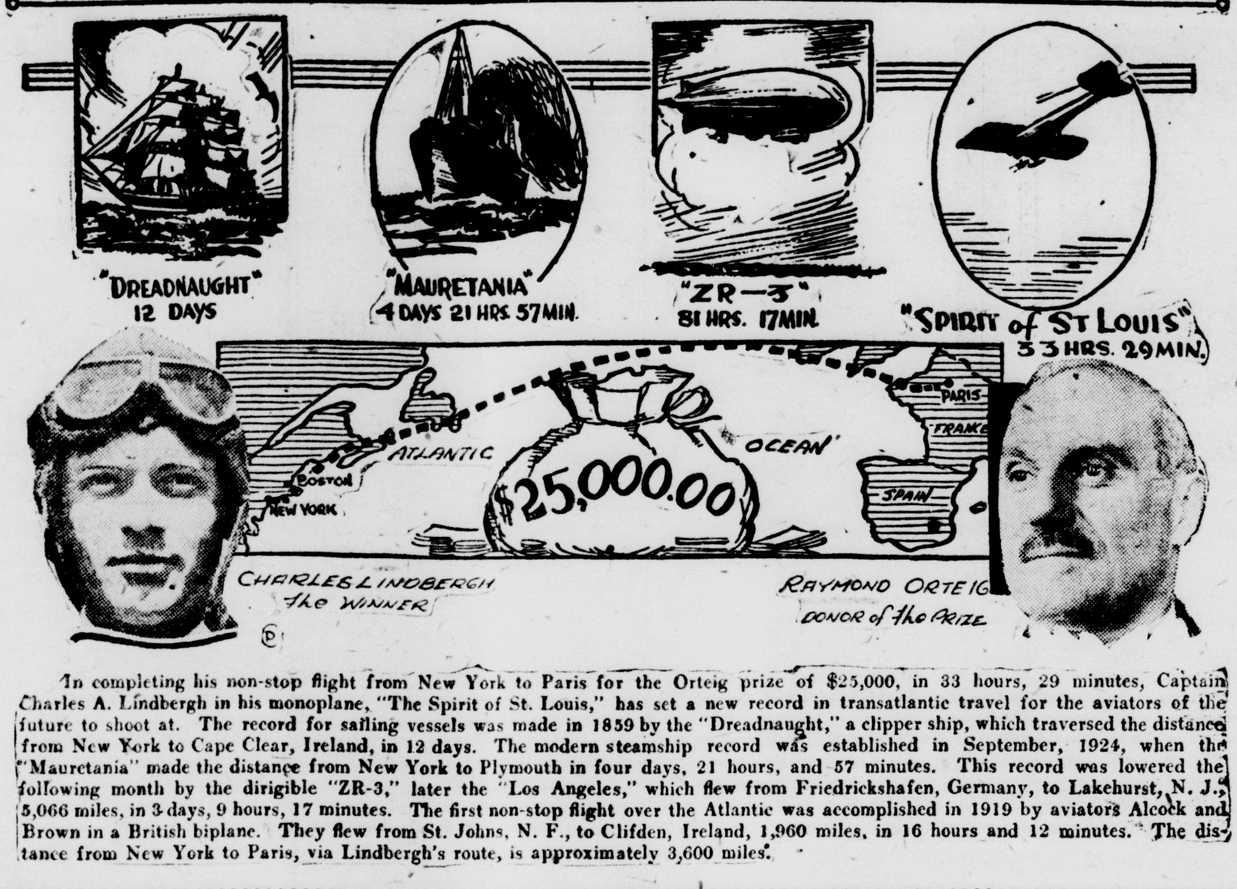
LINDBERGH ADDS NEW MARK TO TRANSATLANTIC RECORDS



In completing his non-stop flight from New York to Paris for the Orteig prize of $25,000, in 33 hours, 29 minutes, Captain Charles A. Lindbergh in his monoplane, "The Spirit of St. Louis," has set a new record in transatlantic travel for the aviators of the future to shoot at. The record for sailing vessels was made in 1859 by the "Dreadnaught," a clipper ship, which traversed the distance from New York to Cape Clear, Ireland, in 12 days. The modern steamship record was established in September, 1924, when the "Mauretania" made the distance from New York to Plymouth in four days, 21 hours, and 57 minutes. This record was lowered the following month by the dirigible "ZR-3," later the "Los Angeles," which flew from Friedrickshafen, Germany, to Lakehurst, N. J., 5,066 miles, in 3 days, 9 hours, 17 minutes. The first non-stop flight over the Atlantic was accomplished in 1919 by aviators Alcock and Brown in a British biplane. They flew from St. Johns, N. F., to Clifden, Ireland, 1,960 miles, in 16 hours and 12 minutes. The distance from New York to Paris, via Lindbergh's route, is approximately 3,600 miles.

SEVEN PERSONS DIE IN STORM

Tornado-like Gale Sweeps Norfolk, Va., Ball Park.

NORFOLK, Va., May 26. — Seven persons were dead today and widespread property damage caused by a sudden tornado-like gale which whipped up suddenly late yesterday and destroyed part of the Norfolk ball park, where the Norfolk and Portsmouth teams were playing.

Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, in the ball park at the time, had a narrow escape. He said it was the worst storm he had even seen.

A. N. McWilliams, a middle-aged spectator at the game, was killed by a crashing timber, and H. C. Everhart, president of the Norfolk Amusement company, died late from injuries. The others killed were Negro workmen in a warehouse a short distance from the park.

Several score were given first aid treatment at hospitals for minor injuries.

"It looked like an ordinary little dust storm when it started," said Judge Landis, "but there was a real tornado behind it."

SALINEVILLE IS SCHEDULED HERE

Homer Laughlin China team of the Industrial league is scheduled to cross bats with the strong Salineville squad on the local diamond Saturday afternoon. The game will begin at 3:45.

Tonight the American Billiards are listed to meet Laughlin here in a league contest.

REVIVAL MEETS CONTINUE HERE

Large crowds continue to attend the revival meetings in the Church of the Nazarene where the sermons are being delivered by Evangelist H. C. Dickerson of Ashland, Ky.

Services will be held every night during the remainder of the week including Saturday. Three meetings will be held Sunday.

SCHOOL BUILDINGS WILL BE REPAIRED

Number of minor repairs will be made at the different school buildings of Grant district during the summer recess period which began yesterday when report cards were issued.

Shepherd's Valley and Elwood buildings will be painted on the interior and exterior, while a well will be drilled at the Washington building.

Work is progressing steadily on the new Wells high and elementary school and it is expected to be completed in August.

Fans To Attend Games.

Number of local baseball fans plan to attend the two games Monday in Pittsburgh between the Pirates and Chicago Cubs. The former club is now leading the league as a result of a long winning streak, while the Cubs are well toward the front in the pennant race.

Lodgemen To Meet.

Members of Clark lodge No. 447, Odd Fellows, will meet tomorrow night in the Aaron building, Fifth street. Routine business will be transacted.

To Award Road Contracts.

Members of the state road commission plan to award a number of highway improvement contracts within the next few weeks covering all sections of the state. Recently the commission awarded 13 contracts at one sitting.

SPEEDING WORK ON NEW BRIDGE

The Ambridge-Woodlawn bridge costing more than six hundred thousand dollars, will be finished on or before May 30, if weather conditions do not retard concrete work. This announcement was made by Col. J. P. Leaf, one of the Beaver county commissioners, at Tuesday night's meeting of the Rochester Rotary club.

Work on the concrete floor was started this week, Col. Leaf said. If weather conditions are not too bad, 250 feet of the floor will be poured each day until completed on or before Decoration Day. The concrete floor weighs about a ton to the foot and must be put down in sections so the structure will not be thrown out of balance, it was stated. The middle section will be the last poured.

Work on the bridge was started in April, 1926. Col. Leaf said he thought a record has been established in building this bridge.

LODGE MEMBERS TO ATTEND PICNIC

Members of Pennova and Rebekah lodges will attend the annual picnic of Tri-State Odd Fellows which will be held at Rock Springs park on Saturday, June 4.

This outing is expected to be one of the largest held in this section during recent years.

Lodge members are expected from all sections of the Ohio Valley.

Students Attend Meet.

Number of high school students from this section of the city attended the finals of the county field meet held yesterday at Mount Union. The event was transferred to the Stark county place owing to the poor condition of the county fair grounds at Lisbon.

To Address Graduates.

Rev. J. O. Campbell, D. D., of Darlington, Pa., former pastor of the Second United Presbyterian church, will deliver the address at the annual commencement exercises of the Columbiana high school to be held next week.

Grading Near Completion.

Work of grading the stretch of road at Smith's Ferry has practically been completed by the contracting firm of Allison and Harris. It will connect with the improved section to Midland.

ELKRUN GRANGE TO HOLD SESSION

A special program has been prepared for the next meeting of Elkrun Grange scheduled for next Saturday night.

In addition to the transaction of a number of important business matters, R. M. Patterson, former county deputy master and state grange speaker will talk on the subject, "How Can We Strengthen Our Organization?"

Elkrun grange orchestra that has recently been reorganized will render a number of instrumental selections under the leadership of Harley Morlan. Miss Mary Finney, juvenile matron will give a reading, and Olive McCamon and Edith Smith will entertain with music. Alta Neville will give an address and George Henry will give a banjo and mouth organ number. Mrs. Megsam will give a reading. At no time during the fiscal year has the attendance at a meeting of this Grange been under 100.

TWO MEN FACING LIQUOR CHARGES

Charged with "furnishing" under the state liquor code, John Sutherin was given a hearing before Judge Lodge Riddle Wednesday and entered a plea of not guilty. He was released on his own recognizance for a hearing at a date to be determined. The charge was preferred against him by G. Y. Bayman, a state prohibition officer. Sutherin was represented by Attorney W. W. Beck.

Francis Martino was also arraigned on a similar charge preferred by the same officer. He was held for a hearing under $300 bond which he did not furnish and was committed to the county jail in default.

Marriage Licenses.

A marriage license has been issued to George Eisenman of East Liverpool and Pauline Eisenhuth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Eisenhuth, also of East Liverpool. They were married by the Rev. John F. Dimit, pastor of the East Liverpool Methodist Protestant church.

Harry H. Sivires, Hanoverton, a former resident of Iowa and Loretta M. Webb, also of Hanoverton, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Webb have been granted a marriage license. They are to be married by the Rev. Donaldson.

Alimony Order Issued.

Following a hearing upon the question of temporary alimony in the divorce action filed several weeks ago by Rosella Seibert against James Seibert Sr., the court has ordered the defendant to pay the plaintiff $50 on or before June 15th and in addition to also pay her $25 per month in semi-monthly payments during the pendency of the suit, and until further order of court. In this case the plaintiff sought a decree of divorce, alimony and restoration to her maiden name.

Sent to Workhouse.

A sentence of six months to the Canton workhouse was handed William Seeley by Judge Lodge Riddle after the defendant entered a plea of guilty to a charge of non support. He has also been ordered to pay the costs in the case, and is to stand committed at Canton until the costs are also paid.

Granted Leave to File.

In the case of Frank Snauffer against Francis Kibler, which action has been pending in court since July 6, 1925, the defense has been granted leave of court to file his answer to the petition of the plaintiff on or before June 11th.

Report Approved.

The report of the appraisers has been filed and approved in the case of William J. Wiggers as administrator against John Penkava. The court has issued an order of sale for the real estate, and it is to be sold as upon execution.

IF "ALWAYS TIRED," TRY THIS

A healthy person never feels constantly tired. Being "too tired" continually is a sign of something wrong. Watch your kidneys. If elimination is faulty, take Foley pills, diuretic, a perfect regulator of irregular kidney action. Miss Giddens, of Hayneville, Ala., says: "Foley Pills, diuretic, have been a wonderful help to me, relieving me entirely of weakness that always "too tired" feeling, headaches and nervousness." Men and women everywhere use and recommend Foley Pills, diuretic. Ask for them. Sold everywhere.

CLEAN-UP WEEK!

The week of May 23-28 has been set aside as Clean Up Week in East Liverpool. All residents of the city are ordered to clean up their cellars, back yards and premises at this time. All rubbish collected in this campaign will be removed free of charge.

Street department trucks will visit East End on Wednesday; the Second Ward or all territory east of St. Clair avenue and Broadway on Thursday; Third Ward or all territory between the St. Clair avenue-Broadway line and Jefferson street, Seventh street and Dresden avenue on Friday, and the Fourth Ward on Saturday.

Residents who fail to comply with the clean-up order will be prosecuted.

ELKRUN GRANGE TO HOLD SESSION

A special program has been prepared for the next meeting of Elkrun Grange scheduled for next Saturday night.

In addition to the transaction of a number of important business matters, R. M. Patterson, former county deputy master and state grange speaker will talk on the subject, "How Can We Strengthen Our Organization?"

Elkrun grange orchestra that has recently been reorganized will render a number of instrumental selections under the leadership of Harley Morlan. Miss Mary Finney, juvenile matron will give a reading, and Olive McCamon and Edith Smith will entertain with music. Alta Neville will give an address and George Henry will give a banjo and mouth organ number. Mrs. Megsam will give a reading. At no time during the fiscal year has the attendance at a meeting of this Grange been under 100.

TWO MEN FACING LIQUOR CHARGES

Charged with "furnishing" under the state liquor code, John Sutherin was given a hearing before Judge Lodge Riddle Wednesday and entered a plea of not guilty. He was released on his own recognizance for a hearing at a date to be determined. The charge was preferred against him by G. Y. Bayman, a state prohibition officer. Sutherin was represented by Attorney W. W. Beck.

Francis Martino was also arraigned on a similar charge preferred by the same officer. He was held for a hearing under $300 bond which he did not furnish and was committed to the county jail in default.

Marriage Licenses.

A marriage license has been issued to George Eisenman of East Liverpool and Pauline Eisenhuth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Eisenhuth, also of East Liverpool. They were married by the Rev. John F. Dimit, pastor of the East Liverpool Methodist Protestant church.

Harry H. Sivires, Hanoverton, a former resident of Iowa and Loretta M. Webb, also of Hanoverton, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Webb have been granted a marriage license. They are to be married by the Rev. Donaldson.

Alimony Order Issued.

Following a hearing upon the question of temporary alimony in the divorce action filed several weeks ago by Rosella Seibert against James Seibert Sr., the court has ordered the defendant to pay the plaintiff $50 on or before June 15th and in addition to also pay her $25 per month in semi-monthly payments during the pendency of the suit, and until further order of court. In this case the plaintiff sought a decree of divorce, alimony and restoration to her maiden name.

Sent to Workhouse.

A sentence of six months to the Canton workhouse was handed William Seeley by Judge Lodge Riddle after the defendant entered a plea of guilty to a charge of non support. He has also been ordered to pay the costs in the case, and is to stand committed at Canton until the costs are also paid.

Granted Leave to File.

In the case of Frank Snauffer against Francis Kibler, which action has been pending in court since July 6, 1925, the defense has been granted leave of court to file his answer to the petition of the plaintiff on or before June 11th.

Report Approved.

The report of the appraisers has been filed and approved in the case of William J. Wiggers as administrator against John Penkava. The court has issued an order of sale for the real estate, and it is to be sold as upon execution.

IF "ALWAYS TIRED," TRY THIS

A healthy person never feels constantly tired. Being "too tired" continually is a sign of something wrong. Watch your kidneys. If elimination is faulty, take Foley pills, diuretic, a perfect regulator of irregular kidney action. Miss Giddens, of Hayneville, Ala., says: "Foley Pills, diuretic, have been a wonderful help to me, relieving me entirely of weakness that always "too tired" feeling, headaches and nervousness." Men and women everywhere use and recommend Foley Pills, diuretic. Ask for them. Sold everywhere.

CLEAN-UP WEEK!

The week of May 23-28 has been set aside as Clean Up Week in East Liverpool. All residents of the city are ordered to clean up their cellars, back yards and premises at this time. All rubbish collected in this campaign will be removed free of charge.

Street department trucks will visit East End on Wednesday; the Second Ward or all territory east of St. Clair avenue and Broadway on Thursday; Third Ward or all territory between the St. Clair avenue-Broadway line and Jefferson street, Seventh street and Dresden avenue on Friday, and the Fourth Ward on Saturday.

Residents who fail to comply with the clean-up order will be prosecuted.

WELLSVILLE POLICE WAR AGAINST RECKLESS DRIVERS

MAYOR REVOKES LICENSES OF TWO OPERATORS

Alleged Intoxicated Car Owners Face Court.

ONE MAN FINED

Arrests of East Liverpool Motorists to be Made.

Relentless in their intention to make Wells avenue and Lisbon street a "safe and sane" thoroughfare for motorists, mill workers and school children, and others who use the street, Wellsville authorities today continued their campaign against speeding and reckless driving.

As a result of police activities last night several East Liverpool and Wellsville license numbers were jotted down and the owners will be called into court before Mayor W. L. Fogo this week.

In addition to the East Liverpool and Wellsville motorists, Steubenville and Salem numbers were noted.

Police charge the operators with driving with excess speed down the recently improved highway and at times, running around other machines and street cars in a reckless manner.

Licenses of two Wellsville motorists were revoked for the remainder of the year at hearings before Mayor Fogo last night, the stiffest sentences of the kind handed out for some time, in line with the executive's avowed intention to check the practice of driving while intoxicated.

Robert Logan, of Fifteenth and Commerce street, whose license recently was revoked for three months by Municipal Judge Jesse Hanley in East Liverpool, was charged with driving while drunk. His period of suspension begins where Judge Hanley's sentence leaves off and continues until December 31.

Harry Mayhew and Kirby Smith were arrested in Mayhew's auto in McQueen's Run road.

They, according to police, had blocked the road and were refusing to permit other drivers to pass.

Smith was fined $25 and costs and paid, while Mayhew's license was revoked for the remainder of the year.

The arrests were made by Chief of Police John Fultz and Patrolman Edward Pugh.

Bill Daniels, arrested on a charge of disorderly conduct, was fined $50 and costs and committed to Lisbon.

PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kelly, of this city, are visiting with friends and relatives in Seattle, Oregon.

Mr. and Mrs. James Culp, Broadway, expect to move in the near future to Canton where the former is employed by the Pennsylvania Railroad company.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Grafton, Center street, visited in Pittsburgh yesterday.

COMMENCEMENT HERE FRIDAY

High School Graduates to Receive Diplomas.

Senator James T. Begg, of Sandusky, tomorrow night will address 54 Wellsville High school students at the fifty-second annual commencement exercises to be held in the high school auditorium.

The ceremonies will be the final event of a two-week series of school activities prefacing the graduation of Senior class members.

Fifty-four members of the class will receive diplomas but only fifty three will be there to take them personally from the hand of W. R. MacDonald, president of the board of education.

Miss Evelyn Fassett, a graduate, who has been bedfast for almost a week, will be absent when the class goes to the state for the coveted awards tomorrow night.

Miss Fassett, who has taken a leading part in class theatricals and other school activities, became ill last Friday night following the second performance of the senior class playlet, and as a result was unable to attend baccalaureate ceremonies Sunday, the Junior-Senior reception Tuesday and tomorrow night will be absent from the culminating event of the year.

Overture—High school orchestra.
Invocation—Rev. R. W. Ustick, pastor of the First United Presbyterian church.
Selection—Orchestra.
Address—Senator James T. Begg.
Selection—Orchestra.
Presentation of diplomas — W. R. MacDonald.
Benediction—Rev. R. W. Ustick.
Selection—Orchestra.

OGLE IS GIVEN $200 JUDGMENT

There was a trial to the court in the case of Rodney T. Ogle as administrator against the North Branch Coal company, and Joseph Hannum, superintendent and manager, and judgment for $200 was awarded the plaintiff, and also for costs. A motion for a new trial was waived by the defendant.

The late Rodney Ogle, father of the administrator, sued the company and Hannum in a justice court, and after the plaintiff recovered judgment there, the case was appealed to common pleas court by the defendant. In the meantime Ogle was slain by Roy Wallen, and Rodney J. Ogle was then substituted on order of court as plaintiff and administrator.

The action has been pending since April 28, 1925.

BRIDGE CLUB IS ENTERTAINED

Mrs. Lloyd Saltsman and Mrs. Harry Chapman entertained members of the Tuesday evening Bridge club at Broadway Inn.

Five tables were in play during the evening, awards being made to Miss Martha Connell, Mrs. Clarence Williamson, Irvin Vorndran and Don James.

POSTPONE CITY OFFICERS' MEET

"Get-together" Session to be Held Next Wednesday.

Get-together meeting of all city officials and board members, scheduled for Friday night in the city hall has been postponed until Wednesday, June 1, according to announcement today by Mayor W. L. Fogo.

The session will be held at the call of the chief executive and will bring together city council, service-safety director, city solicitor, auditor, treasurer, police and fire chiefs, Hammond park commissioners, playground commissioners, library board, school board, sinking fund trustees and, in fact, all other officials in any capacity.

The purpose of the meeting, according to the mayor, is to talk over municipal problems and outline plans, if possible, for the most efficient methods of operation.

The meeting was postponed in order not to conflict with the commencement exercises tomorrow night.

DAMAGE SUIT IS SETTLED

Coal Mine Company Accepts Offer of $6,000.

After considerable testimony had been taken in the case of the Stark Coal company, of Salineville, against the Pennsylvania Railroad company, the cause terminated suddenly Wednesday afternoon when the plaintiff accepted an offer of settlement of $6,000. The original petition sought $43,643.24 damages.

About a year ago, it is related, the defendant offered to adjust the case by offering the plaintiff interests $7,500, which was at the time rejected.

Costs in the action are to be paid by the defendant. The journal entry, however, does not show the amount involved in the settlement, the court making the brief entry, "settled at defendant's costs—no record."

When the jury in this case was taken to Salineville to view the premises Monday, the railroad company provided gasoline track cars for the jury to be conveyed to the mines of the plaintiff.

London has a movement to reduce the price of theatre tickets.

SALINEVILLE

What might have been a disastrous fire was discovered in the wardrobe of Miss Alyce Skinner's bedroom, in the home on Lincoln avenue, Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock. Mrs. Charles Kimberley, who occupies part of the Skinner residence, noticed smoke in the house and called her neighbor, Rev. W. S. Martin, who discovered the fire in the wardrobe. With some heavy bed clothes he smothered the flames until Mrs. Orin Wright, another neighbor, got some water. The alarm was given, and the fire truck arrived in a few minutes, as the fire was being extinguished. Two wool blankets and two quilts were nearly burned up.

The origin of the fire was a mystery. Mrs. Kimberley who was just recovering from an attack of sickness was overcome by the excitement and collapsed. Miss Skinner who was at work at the pottery, was notified, and hurried home. The damage is light.

Arrangements have been completed for the memorial service under the auspices of the G. A. R. The service will be held Sunday, May 29, at 7:30 p. m., in the Presbyterian church, the pastor, Rev. W. S. Martin, in charge. The choir of the church will furnish the music. Rev. Ross S. Wilson will read the scriptures, Rev. A. M. Jenkins will offer the prayer and Rev. H. L. Peoples, pastor of the Methodist church, will deliver the sermon. The offering will go to pay expenses on Decoration Day. The Salineville band will lead the procession from the G. A. R. hall to the church. Beside the members of the G. A. R., the Relief Corps, and the American Legion will attend in a body.

Baccalaureate services for the graduating class of the Salineville high school were held Sunday evening at 7:30 at the United Presbyterian church. The program follows: Invocation by Rev. W. S. Martin; solo, 'Rock of Ages,' by John Lewton; scripture, Rev. A. M. Jenkins; prayer, Rev. H. L. Peoples; anthem, by the choir; offerotory, Miss Ruth Lewton; sermon to the senior class, Rev. Ross S. Wilson, pastor of the United Presbyterian church, from the text: John 16:32. The 23 members of the class were present, accompanied by their teachers. A large audience attended. The church was beautifully decorated with ferns and hot house flowers.

The junior class of the Salineville high school entertained the senior class at a banquet recently, in the dining room of the United Presbyterian church, the senior missionary society of the church serving. Covers were laid for 90. Shubert's orchestra furnished the music.

Miss Gladys Jewel of Canton spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Jewell.

John McBane, a student at Mt. Union college, spent the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. McBane.

HERE IS FIRST INSTALMENT OF STORY OF CAPTAIN LINDBERGH'S LIFE AS TOLD TO REVIEW-TRIBUNE WRITER BY MOTHER

Editor's Note:—This copyrighted story of Lindbergh's life, as told by the young aviator's mother to Miss Bonita Witt of Central Press and Review-Tribune, will be continued in 300-word daily instalments—nine more instalments being scheduled to follow this one.

BY BONITA WITT.

Copyright, 1927, by Central Press Co.

I

It was in 1910 that a wide-eyed youngster, clutching at his mother's hand, watched the daredevil, Lincoln Beachy, swoop down upon six motorcycle riders about to start a race in Washington, D. C., park, so terrifying them that they dropped their motorcycles and fled for cover.

The child who clutched his mother's hand was Charles ("Lucky") Lindbergh, first man to go from New York to Paris in a non-stop flight, the idol of America today.

His mother, Mrs. Evangeline L. Lindbergh, a gracious woman endowed with a Spartan courage that enabled her to teach her classes in chemistry at Cass High school, Detroit, on the day her son began his epochal flight, smiles as she recalls her boy's introduction to aviation.

"That was Charles' first glimpse of an airplane," she says. "Both of us were so impressed with Beachey's performance, we never forgot it."

Seated on the porch of her modest little home on the outskirts of Detroit, where a concrete-walled boat slip, leading to the river, runs past her door, Mrs. Lindbergh told the story of her son's career.

She smiles and laughs now as she relates the humorous aspects of his adventure. But speaking of the long hours when any moment might have brought news of a tragedy, she says, "I couldn't smile, then. On my way to school the day my boy put off, I picked up a paper carrying a statement by an army officer saying that an attempt to make the flight at that time would be suicidal. I couldn't smile after that."

A huge propeller, which Charles broke during a flight, stands in the corner of the Lindbergh porch. Relics from various planes which he has flown occupy honored places in the living room.

Charles was born in Detroit in 1902, later moving with his family to Little Falls, Minn., where much of his boyhood was passed on the family homestead two miles from the town.

MOTHER OF "LUCKY" LINDBERGH

Mrs. Evangeline L. Lindbergh.

His father, Charles A. Lindbergh, a Republican, was prominent in Minnesota political life and served as United States representative from Minnesota from 1907 to 1917.

Thus it was in Washington, D. C., much of Lindbergh's boyhood was passed, the family living in the capital when Congress was in session.

"My boy and I passed many happy hours there and we became very close to each other," Mrs. Lindbergh says. "You see, we didn't care very much for society.

"People were very nice to us and we had many invitations to social affairs. Of course, there were many affairs we had to attend, but most of the dinners we avoided.

"Charles and I loved the out-of doors and we spent a lot of time in the parks. All the worth-while things we took in, but society life didn't appeal to us. Since my husband was busy with his congressional duties, Charles and I did a great many things together."

Charles' schooling was very irregular during his early years, since the family moved to Washington from Little Falls each year when congress was in session, necessitating a change in schools for the boy. Then there were visits to relatives in Detroit and a trip to the west coast. All of which hindered his schooling. Chief of the Detroit relatives is John Lodge, a great uncle of Charles, president of the Detroit city council.

Charles was moved around so much, he attended fourteen schools in all. In between times, his mother tutored him.

Like many other men who have made their mark, Lindbergh wasn't a model scholar. He walked off with honors in the subjects he liked, but in those in which he was not interested he barely passed. If he liked the instructor and believed he was learning something from him Lindbergh applied himself and usually carried off honors.

Lindbergh was more interested in the subject itself than in the mark which would be given him at the end of the semester. If he didn't feel as if he wanted to hand in a report or take a final examination, he didn't do it.

A student who was in Lindbergh's mechanical engineering class says Charles did many more experiments than were required, yet, at the end of the course he neglected to write his reports, since he lost interest once he had mastered all the instructor could teach him. He studied because he wanted to learn, not to please his teacher.

When Charles failed to apply himself at school there was no punishment forthcoming at home, Mrs. Lindbergh says. She considers it useless to try to force a child to take a subject in which he has no interest.

"Charles takes after me, I guess, in his liking for chemistry," she relates. "In looking through his chemistry text books, I find every line about explosives underlined. When Charles makes up his mind he likes a subject he isn't satisfied until he has mastered it."

Mrs. Lindbergh smiles as she says, "I suppose he beats me now when it comes to a knowledge of technical chemistry."

WELLSVILLE POLICE WAR AGAINST RECKLESS DRIVERS

MAYOR REVOKES LICENSES OF TWO OPERATORS

ONE MAN FINED

Arrests of East Liverpool Motorists to be Made.

Relentless in their intention to make Wells avenue and Lisbon street a "safe and sane" thoroughfare for motorists, mill workers and school children, and others who use the street, Wellsville authorities today continued their campaign against speeding and reckless driving.

As a result of police activities last night several East Liverpool and Wellsville license numbers were jotted down and the owners will be called into court before Mayor W. L. Fogo this week.

In addition to the East Liverpool and Wellsville motorists, Steubenville and Salem numbers were noted.

Police charge the operators with driving with excess speed down the recently improved highway and at times, running around other machines and street cars in a reckless manner.

Licenses of two Wellsville motorists were revoked for the remainder of the year at hearings before Mayor Fogo last night, the stiffest sentences of the kind handed out for some time, in line with the executive's avowed intention to check the practice of driving while intoxicated.

Robert Logan, of Fifteenth and Commerce street, whose license recently was revoked for three months by Municipal Judge Jesse Hanley in East Liverpool, was charged with driving while drunk. His period of suspension begins where Judge Hanley's sentence leaves off and continues until December 31.

Harry Mayhew and Kirby Smith were arrested in Mayhew's auto in McQueen's Run road.

They, according to police, had blocked the road and were refusing to permit other drivers to pass.

Smith was fined $25 and costs and paid, while Mayhew's license was revoked for the remainder of the year.

The arrests were made by Chief of Police John Fultz and Patrolman Edward Pugh.

Bill Daniels, arrested on a charge of disorderly conduct, was fined $50 and costs and committed to Lisbon.

PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Grafton, Center street, visited in Pittsburgh yesterday.

COMMENCEMENT HERE FRIDAY

High School Graduates to Receive Diplomas.

Senator James T. Begg, of Sandusky, tomorrow night will address 54 Wellsville High school students at the fifty-second annual commencement exercises to be held in the high school auditorium.

The ceremonies will be the final event of a two-week series of school activities prefacing the graduation of Senior class members.

Fifty-four members of the class will receive diplomas but only fifty three will be there to take them personally from the hand of W. R. MacDonald, president of the board of education.

Miss Evelyn Fassett, a graduate, who has been bedfast for almost a week, will be absent when the class goes to the state for the coveted awards tomorrow night.

Miss Fassett, who has taken a leading part in class theatricals and other school activities, became ill last Friday night following the second performance of the senior class playlet, and as a result was unable to attend baccalaureate ceremonies Sunday, the Junior-Senior reception Tuesday and tomorrow night will be absent from the culminating event of the year.

The program for commencement follows:

Overture—High school orchestra.
Invocation—Rev. R. W. Ustick, pastor of the First United Presbyterian church.
Selection—Orchestra.
Address—Senator James T. Begg.
Selection—Orchestra.
Presentation of diplomas — W. R. MacDonald.
Benediction—Rev. R. W. Ustick.
Selection—Orchestra.

OGLE IS GIVEN $200 JUDGMENT

There was a trial to the court in the case of Rodney T. Ogle as administrator against the North Branch Coal company, and Joseph Hannum, superintendent and manager, and judgment for $200 was awarded the plaintiff, and also for costs. A motion for a new trial was waived by the defendant.

The late Rodney Ogle, father of the administrator, sued the company and Hannum in a justice court, and after the plaintiff recovered judgment there, the case was appealed to common pleas court by the defendant. In the meantime Ogle was slain by Ray Wallen, and Rodney J. Ogle was then substituted on order of court as plaintiff and administrator.

The action has been pending since April 28, 1925.

BRIDGE CLUB IS ENTERTAINED

Mrs. Lloyd Saltsman and Mrs. Harry Chapman entertained members of the Tuesday evening Bridge club at Broadway Inn.

Five tables were in play during the evening, awards being made to Miss Martha Connell, Mrs. Clarence Williamson, Irvin Vondran and Don James.

POSTPONE CITY OFFICERS' MEET

"Get-together" Session to be Held Next Wednesday.

Get-together meeting of all city officials and board members, scheduled for Friday night in the city hall has been postponed until Wednesday, June 1, according to announcement today by Mayor W. L. Fogo.

The session will be held at the call of the chief executive and will bring together city council, service-safety director, city solicitor, auditor, treasurer, police and fire chiefs, Hammond park commissioners, playground commissioners, library board, school board, sinking fund trustees and, in fact, all other officials in any capacity.

The purpose of the meeting, according to the mayor, is to talk over municipal problems and outline plans, if possible, for the most efficient methods of operation.

The meeting was postponed in order not to conflict with the commencement exercises tomorrow night.

DAMAGE SUIT IS SETTLED

Coal Mine Company Accepts Offer of $6,000.

After considerable testimony had been taken in the case of the Stark Coal company, of Salineville, against the Pennsylvania Railroad company, the cause terminated suddenly Wednesday afternoon when the plaintiff accepted an offer of settlement of $6,000. The original petition sought $43,643.24 damages.

About a year ago, it is related, the defendant offered to adjust the case by offering the plaintiff interests $7,500, which was at the time rejected.

Costs in the action are to be paid by the defendant. The journal entry, however, does not show the amount involved in the settlement, the court making the brief entry, "settled at defendant's costs—no record."

When the jury in this case was taken to Salineville to view the premises Monday, the railroad company provided gasoline track cars for the jury to be conveyed to the mines of the plaintiff.

London has a movement to reduce the price of theatre tickets.

SALINEVILLE

What might have been a disastrous fire was discovered in the wardrobe of Miss Alyce Skinner's bedroom, in the home on Lincoln avenue, Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock. Mrs. Charles Kimberley, who occupies part of the Skinner residence, noticed smoke in the house and called her neighbor, Rev. W. S. Martin, who discovered the fire in the wardrobe. With some heavy bed clothes he smothered the flames until Mrs. Orin Wright, another neighbor, got some water. The alarm was given, and the fire truck arrived in a few minutes, as the fire was being extinguished. Two wool blankets and two quilts were nearly burned up.

The origin of the fire was a mystery. Mrs. Kimberley who was just recovering from an attack of sickness was overcome by the excitement and collapsed. Miss Skinner who was at work at the pottery, was notified, and hurried home. The damage is light.

Arrangements have been completed for the memorial service under the auspices of the G. A. R. The service will be held Sunday, May 29, at 7:30 p. m., in the Presbyterian church, the pastor, Rev. W. S. Martin, in charge. The choir of the church will furnish the music. Rev. Ross S. Wilson will read the scriptures, Rev. A. M. Jenkins will offer the prayer and Rev. H. L. Peoples, pastor of the Methodist church, will deliver the sermon. The offering will go to pay expenses on Decoration Day. The Salineville band will lead the procession from the G. A. R. hall to the church. Beside the members of the G. A. R., the Relief Corps, and the American Legion will attend in a body.

Baccalaureate services for the graduating class of the Salineville high school were held Sunday evening at 7:30 at the United Presbyterian church. The program follows: Invocation by Rev. W. S. Martin; solo, 'Rock of Ages,' by John Lewton; scripture, Rev. A. M. Jenkins; prayer, Rev. H. L. Peoples; anthem, by the choir; offerotory, Miss Ruth Lewton; sermon to the senior class, Rev. Ross S. Wilson, pastor of the United Presbyterian church, from the text: John 16:32. The 23 members of the class were present, accompanied by their teachers. A large audience attended. The church was beautifully decorated with ferns and hot house flowers.

The junior class of the Salineville high school entertained the senior class at a banquet recently, in the dining room of the United Presbyterian church, the senior missionary society of the church serving. Covers were laid for 90. Shubert's orchestra furnished the music.

John McBane, a student at Mt. Union college, spent the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. McBane.

I

It was in 1910 that a wide-eyed youngster, clutching at his mother's hand, watched the daredevil, Lincoln Beachy, swoop down upon six motorcycle riders about to start a race in Washington, D. C., park, so terrifying them that they dropped their motorcycles and fled for cover.

The child who clutched his mother's hand was Charles ("Lucky") Lindbergh, first man to go from New York to Paris in a non-stop flight, the idol of America today.

His mother, Mrs. Evangeline L. Lindbergh, a gracious woman endowed with a Spartan courage that enabled her to teach her classes in chemistry at Cass High school, Detroit, on the day her son began his epochal flight, smiles as she recalls her boy's introduction to aviation.

"That was Charles' first glimpse of an airplane," she says. "Both of us were so impressed with Beachey's performance, we never forgot it."

Seated on the porch of her modest little home on the outskirts of Detroit, where a concrete-walled boat slip, leading to the river, runs past her door, Mrs. Lindbergh told the story of her son's career.

She smiles and laughs now as she relates the humorous aspects of his adventure. But speaking of the long hours when any moment might have brought news of a tragedy, she says, "I couldn't smile, then. On my way to school the day my boy put off, I picked up a paper carrying a statement by an army officer saying that an attempt to make the flight at that time would be suicidal. I couldn't smile after that."

A huge propeller, which Charles broke during a flight, stands in the corner of the Lindbergh porch. Relics from various planes which he has flown occupy honored places in the living room.

Charles was born in Detroit in 1902, later moving with his family to Little Falls, Minn., where much of his boyhood was passed on the family homestead two miles from the town.

MOTHER OF "LUCKY" LINDBERGH

Mrs. Evangeline L. Lindbergh.

His father, Charles A. Lindbergh, a Republican, was prominent in Minnesota political life and served as United States representative from Minnesota from 1907 to 1917.

Thus it was in Washington, D. C., much of Lindbergh's boyhood was passed, the family living in the capital when Congress was in session.

"My boy and I passed many happy hours there and we became very close to each other," Mrs. Lindbergh says. "You see, we didn't care very much for society.

"People were very nice to us and we had many invitations to social affairs. Of course, there were many affairs we had to attend, but most of the dinners we avoided.

"Charles and I loved the out-of-doors and we spent a lot of time in the parks. All the worth-while things we took in, but society life didn't appeal to us. Since my husband was busy with his congressional duties, Charles and I did a great many things together."

Charles' schooling was very irregular during his early years, since the family moved to Washington from Little Falls each year when congress was in session, necessitating a change in schools for the boy. Then there were visits to relatives in Detroit and a trip to the west coast. All of which hindered his schooling. Chief of the Detroit relatives is John Lodge, a great uncle of Charles, president of the Detroit city council.

Charles was moved around so much, he attended fourteen schools in all. In between times, his mother tutored him.

Like many other men who have made their mark, Lindbergh wasn't a model scholar. He walked off with honors in the subjects he liked, but in those in which he was not interested he barely passed. If he liked the instructor and believed he was learning something from him Lindbergh applied himself and usually carried off honors.

Lindbergh was more interested in the subject itself than in the mark which would be given him at the end of the semester. If he didn't feel as if he wanted to hand in a report or take a final examination, he didn't do it.

A student who was in Lindbergh's mechanical engineering class says Charles did many more experiments than were required, yet, at the end of the course he neglected to write his reports, since he lost interest once he had mastered all the instructor could teach him. He studied because he wanted to learn, not to please his teacher.

When Charles failed to apply himself at school there was no punishment forthcoming at home, Mrs. Lindbergh says. She considers it useless to try to force a child to take a subject in which he has no interest.

"Charles takes after me, I guess, in his liking for chemistry," she relates. "In looking through his chemistry text books, I find every line about explosives underlined. When Charles makes up his mind he likes a subject he isn't satisfied until he has mastered it."

Mrs. Lindbergh smiles as she says, "I suppose he beats me now when it comes to a knowledge of technical chemistry."

DINNER STORIES.

Keeping Him in His Place.

There was once an Irish cobbler who had so much work to do that he insisted on taking his shoe repairing work to wakes. It got to be so much talked about that the village people thought they would try to cure him of it. A neighbor pretended to die. The cobbler came to the wake, and, sitting beside the coffin, went on with his work.

"The "dead" man suddenly sat up in his coffin and said severely:

"Faith! don't ye know that ye are not supposed to cobble at a wake?"

There's a Reason!

"I've got a fine job now. It's a cinch. I've got the whole day to myself."

"It must be a snap. What do you do?"

"I'm a night watchman!"

Hired!

A recent college graduate applied in the local butcher shop for a job. The butcher looked him over carefully and then said, "We need an energetic young man to run the slicing machine. Have you ever had any experience?

"I used to play golf."

NEW SERVEL WINS FAVOR

Ohio Power Company Offers Ultimate in Refrigeration.

The Ohio Power company today received another shipment of Servels—the ultimate in electric refrigeration for the home.

The Servel "Duplex," demand for which is heavy, is now available in beautiful new steel cabinets of heavy pressed steel. Servel offers in a series of three new models a really significant advance in electric refrigeration. Every detail in design, construction, equipment and finish has been carefully studied to combine greater beauty and convenience with enduring, economical performance.

Servel employs the coldest refrigerant in domestic use. This non-corrosive liquid — methyl chloride—which actually boils at 10 degree below zero—enables real refrigerating temperatures to be more easily reached and more economically maintained. Ask to see this simple, convincing demonstration of refrigerating efficiency. Water—a dash of methyl chloride — instantly ice! You will understand why, in the Servel system, less refrigerant is needed, less work has to be done—less frequent starting and stopping of the mechanism with consequently less wear and tear on the moving parts.

The new Servel chilling tank is a reservoir of freezing cold. The tank is of the indirect expansion type—the coils submerged in a remarkably efficient solution, calcium chloride, possessing great absorption capacity and permitting positive automatic operation of the pressure control within the system. (No outside electrical devices and supplementary wiring to get out of order.) The tank is compact, of sturdy construction and provides unusually large compartment space for freezing ice cubes, desserts, etc.

All Servel models are equipped with perfected "Duplex" machine, employing a double compressor and double fan. This gives an extremely well-balaced machine with plenty of reserve power. It is smooth and quiet in operation, automatic in every sense of the word and requires no attention other than an occasional oiling. The "Duplex" unit is accommodated in the base of the new steel cabinets. It can, of course, be installed in the basement or other out-of-the-way place and the lower compartment of the steel cabinet made available for bulk storage of vegetables and other supplies.

Letters to Editor

Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy.

Cleveland, O., May 23, 1927.

To the Editor of The Review-Tribune:

The bald statement made by a prominent writer in your May 21 issue that "Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy did not care much for doctors . . " might give your readers quite a mistaken impression of the attitude of the Founder and Leader of the Christian Science movement.

It is only just to Mrs. Eddy to say that although she differed quite fundamentally, both in theiry and in practice, with the medical practitioners, nevertheless she was ever respectful and courteous toward them and their profession; and she called upon them on various occesions for certain corroborative information when the circumstances demanded it.

Allow me to quote some of Mrs. Eddy's remarks published in her textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," which show her attitude toward those of the medical profession:

"Great respect is due the motives and philanthropy of the higher class of physicians. We know that if they understood the Science of Mind-healing, and were in possession of the enlarged power it confers to benefit the race physically and spiritually, they would rejoice with us" (Science and Health, p. 151).

"It is just to say that generally the cultured class of medical practitioners are grand men and women, therefore they are more scientific than are false claimants to Christian Science. But all human systems based on material premises are minus the unction of divine Science. Much yet remains to be said and done before all mankind is saved and all the mental microbes of sin and all diseased thought-germs are exterminated" (Science and Health, p. 64).

Highs Finish Third In County Meet Finals At Mount Union

WEST COAST DUE AGAIN

Figured to Cop Laurels in Eastern Meet.

PHILADELPHIA, May 26.—Another West Coast triumph seemed to be ordained today as hundreds of college athletes from the East, Middle West and California prepared to go through their final tuning up paces for the annual championship track and field games of the intercollegiate A. A. A. A. The met will get under way tomorrow on what promises to be a heavy track with a series of trials in every championship event except those at one and two miles. The finals will be held on Saturday.

Since for back in the last century, the games have taken place annually and, for years, the championship title was preserved exclusively for the East.

But that time is no more. Only once in the last six years an eastern college has won the championship and by Saturday it is due to go west again to the trophy rooms of Stanford university at Palo Alto. If it doesn't, it almost surely will ride home with the university of Southern California team, the 1926 champions.

However, the Cardinals, pioneers among the Coast invaders, are almost prohibitive favorites to win their first title.

In so doing, they will repeat the triumphs of California in 1921, 1922 and 1923 and the successive voctories of Southern California in 1925 and 1926. In other words, the other California teams have had their turns; now it is Stanford's.

Seek Child's Cup.

NEW YORK, May 26.—The Columbia varsity will not compete in the Stewards' club race in Philadelphia on Saturday, but will row in the Childs cup race against Penn and Princeton on the same day, according to an announcement by Reynolds Benson, graduate manager of athletics at Columbia. Benson said this action was taken because the strain of competing in two races within a few hours would be too great for the young Columbia crew. Princeton also has withdrawn from the Stewards' club race, in which the Navy, Penn, Syracuse and the Penn A. C. probably will compete.

TINY LAD WITH MIGHTY LEAP

Bill Carr, sixteen years old and only five feet, six inches tall, has set a new scholastic high jump record of 6 ft. 3-4 inches, and hopes to better this mark in the interscholastic meet at Chicago June 3-4. One photo shows him standing under the bar placed at the record height. The other shows his form.

BUCS, SOX WIN AGAIN

Pirates Blank Reds, 2-0; Chicago Takes Two From Browns.

By Lee Conklin.

NEW YORK, May 26.—Pirates and White Sox are furnishing the fireworks in the pennant races today, the Bucs have stretched their winning streak to seven straight, while the Sox, defying the experts, are rushing to the front in seven league boots in the American league as the Yankees are held idle by rain.

The White Sox took the St. Louis Browns over the rapids twice yesterday by scores of 14 to 8 and 1 to 0, pushing the Brownies all the way from third place to fifth. Although the Sox made only three hits off Ballou and Zachary in the nightcap while Ted Lyons was touched for five bingles, a wild throw gave them the verdict. Chicago now trails the Yankees by only two games.

Carl Mays of the Reds held the Pirates to five hits, but the Corsairs won, 2 to 0, with Carmen Hill turning in his third brilliant performance since he heard rumors that he was to be shipped back to the sticks. The Pirates increased their lead to a game and a half.

Alexander the Great beat the Cubs, his former team, 8 to 5, with the aid of a homer by Bell with the bases loaded, but the Cardinals lost the nightcap, 8 to 4. The Clubs and the Giants are now tied for second place.

CORDS-TURK NASH ON EAST END LOT

The Chester Superior Cords-Turk-Nash City Industrial league contest billed for tonight will be staged at Columbiana park.

A force of workmen were sent to the East End lot this morning to clean out the water holes and fill in at various places around the lot to put it in shape for the encounter tonight.

Mile relay—Columbiana won; Salem, 2; Wellsville, 3; East Palestine, 4. Time—3m 47s.

HAYLAKE, England, May 26.—E. H. Haley, the American unknown who has suddenly come into prominence by his defeat of Cyril Tolley in the British amateur golf championship, today defeated Major Keith Thorburn of Sunningdale, three and one.

English, With Three Firsts, in Sprints, Is High Point Man

Local Lad Wins 100, 220 and 440-yard Dashes; Kirkham Second in Discus; Salem, First With 52 Points, Cops Cup; East Palestine Second With 38½; Blue and White Collects 20½.

Salem may have its Allen and Perkins, East Palestine its Dolan and Ross, but the Blue and White of East Liverpool, in Elmer "Elmo" English, has the class of the field, on the matter-of-fact basis of point making as proved at yesterday's 24th annual Columbiana County track and field meet when the local lad piled up a total of 15 points—three firsts—and copped individual honors in a field of contenders as fast as any that has ever competed for county honors.

Salem high won the meet and took permanent possession of the big trophy cup, with a total of 52 points, beating out East Palestine, who ran the Red and Black a neck and neck race until the last couple of events. East Palestine finished with 38 1-2 points; East Liverpool was third with 20 1-2 points; Wellsville and Columbiana fourth with 15 each and Lisbon fifth with two.

The meet was staged at Mt. Union stadium, Alliance, having been transferred suddenly yesterday morning when officials of the county association ascertained, after a survey, that the Lisbon fairgrounds would be impossible.

The Mount cinder track was in fair condition, and although affording a fairly firm footing, was, nevertheless, below par and slowed up sprints time somewhat.

All but five and one-half of the 20 1-2 points made by the Blue and White to finish third were collected by Elmer English. The local lad breasted the tape a full stride ahead of Allen, of Salem, in the 100-yard dash, negotiating the distance in 11 flat, the time being at least two-fifths slower than that of which he is capable.

In the 220-yard dash, English ran almost by himself, finishing fully 15 yards ahead of the entire field. He got off to a great start, picking up his stride probably five yards ahead of the other runners.

Having drawn an outside track on the Mount quarter-mile runway, English headed straight for the pole and kept it, rapidly lengthening the distance between himself and his pursuers.

After these two straining events, English again responded in the 440 and this event probably was the outstanding track competition of the afternoon.

The first four men, English, Rush of Salem, Zellers of Columbiana and Campell of Salem, in order, finished within five steps. English again drew an outside track but by a superb bit of sprinting got to the pole in third place at the first turn. English, Campbell and Rush bunched it all the way to the final turn when the local lad pulled up and drew out in front by less than a step. A distance of probably six inches represented the margin of victory at the tape.

Two new county records were shattered in competition and a third was surpassed in exhibition which, however, will not count against the former mark.

According to form, Colella, of East Palestine, put the shot a distance of 45 feet, 1 1-2 inches, Dick Larkins, of East Liverpool, with a better than 40-foot toss, finishing fourth.

Older, of Salem, sent the discus skimming for a distance of 109 feet, four inches, the previous mark being 108 feet, 11 3-4 inches, made in 1925 by Schafernocker, of East Palestine. Kirmham, of East Liverpool, finished second in this event.

Colella, in the shot, shattered a record that has stood since 1912 when Hum, of Lisbon, put the 12-pound ball 43 feet, 11 inches.

"Mutt" Roessler, of Salem, pressed his team mate, "Rib" Allen, for pole vault honors, the pair tying at 11 feet, 8 inches in official competition.

However, after the event had been closed, Allen, in an exhibition trial, vaulted the bar at an even 12 feet.

Conditions at the jumping and vaulting pits were far from being good, however, which probably handicapped the efforts of all contenders.

Perkins, of Salem, performed well to win both the half mile and the mile events. In neither case was the record in danger.

856 ENTRIES FOR NATIONAL OPEN

NEW YORK, May 26.—It was announced today by the United States Golf association that a total of 856 entries would enter the sectional qualifying rounds for the national open golf championship, with only 110 places in the round available. The sectional rounds will be held on June 6 in seventeen districts, with the survivors and the forty exempt players going into the championship proper at the Oakmont Country club, Pittsburgh, on June 14.

Those exempt include the 28 professionals who finished in the first 32 places at Columbus last year, and Bobby Jones, the winner, Chick Evans and Harrison Johnston, amateurs, and the nine visiting British pros.

The cities in which the qualifying trials will be held include Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Richmond, Atlanta, Dallas, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Detroit, Chicago, Minneapolis, St. Louis, Kansas City, Denver, Los Angeles, San Francisco and Seattle. Chicago leads in entries with 115, followed by Pittsburgh with 113 and New York with 111.

Many homes are being constructed in the Dominican Republic.

Modern smokers demand quality and put Camel first

THIS experienced age knows the good tobaccos it demands in a cigarette. And it has made Camel the greatest leader any age has ever known.

Camel's choice tobaccos and its blending for smoothness and mellowness have made it supreme with modern smokers. Camel today is world favorite, because of quality.

Camel was made to succeed in an age that knows merit. Just try Camels and you'll know why no other cigarette can compare with them. Let the choice of the modern world show you what smoking enjoyment can really be. "Have a Camel!"

Highs Finish Third In County Meet Finals At Mount Union

WEST COAST DUE AGAIN

Figured to Cop Laurels in Eastern Meet.

PHILADELPHIA, May 26.—Another West Coast triumph seemed to be ordained today as hundreds of college athletes from the East, Middle West and California prepared to go through their final tuning up paces for the annual championship track and field games of the intercollegiate A. A. A. A. The met will get under way tomorrow on what promises to be a heavy track with a series of trials in every championship event except those at one and two miles. The finals will be held on Saturday.

Since for back in the last century, the games have taken place annually and, for years, the championship title was preserved exclusively for the East.

But that time is no more. Only once in the last six years an eastern college has won the championship and by Saturday it is due to go west again to the trophy rooms of Stanford university at Palo Alto. If it doesn't, it almost surely will ride home with the university of Southern California team, the 1926 champions.

However, the Cardinals, pioneers among the Coast invaders, are almost prohibitive favorites to win their first title.

In so doing, they will repeat the triumphs of California in 1921, 1922 and 1923 and the successive voctories of Southern California in 1925 and 1926. In other words, the other California teams have had their turns; now it is Stanford's.

Seek Child's Cup.

NEW YORK, May 26.—The Columbia varsity will not compete in the Stewards' club race in Philadelphia on Saturday, but will row in the Childs cup race against Penn and Princeton on the same day, according to an announcement by Reynolds Benson, graduate manager of athletics at Columbia. Benson said this action was taken because the strain of competing in two races within a few hours would be too great for the young Columbia crew. Princeton also has withdrawn from the Stewards' club race, in which the Navy, Penn, Syracuse and the Penn A. C. probably will compete.

TINY LAD WITH MIGHTY LEAP

Bill Carr, sixteen years old and only five feet, six inches tall, has set a new scholastic high jump record of 6 ft. 3-4 inches, and hopes to better this mark in the interscholastic meet at Chicago June 3-4. One photo shows him standing under the bar placed at the record height. The other shows his form.

By Les Conklin.

NEW YORK, May 26.—Pirates and White Sox are furnishing the fireworks in the pennant races tcday, the Bucs have stretched their winning streak to seven straight, while the Sox, defying the experts, are rushing to the front in seven league boots in the American league as the Yankees are held idle by rain.

The White Sox took the St. Louis Browns over the rapids twice yesterday by scores of 14 to 8 and 1 to 0, pushing the Brownies all the way from third place to fifth. Although the Sox made only three hits off Ballou and Zachary in the nightcap while Ted Lyons was touched for five bingles, a wild throw gave them the verdict. Chicago now trails the Yankees by only two games.

Carl Mays of the Reds held the Pirates to five hits, but the Corsairs won, 2 to 0, with Carmen Hill turning in his third brilliant performance since he heard rumors that he was to be shipped back to the sticks. The Pirates increased their lead to a game and a half.

Alexander the Great beat the Cubs, his former team, 8 to 5, with the aid of a homer by Bell with the bases loaded, but the Cardinals lost the nightcap, 8 to 4. The Clubs and the Giants are now tied for second place.

HAYLAKE, England, May 26.—E. H. Haley, the American unknown who has suddenly come into prominence by his defeat of Cyril Tolley in the British amateur golf championship, today defeated Major Keith Thorburn of Sunningdale, three and one.

Local Lad Wins 100, 220 and 440-yard Dashes; Kirkham Second in Discus; Salem, First With 52 Points, Cops Cup; East Palestine Second With 38½; Blue and White Collects 20½.

Salem may have its Allen and Perkins, East Palestine its Dolan and Ross, but the Blue and White of East Liverpool, in Elmer "Elmo" English, has the class of the field, on the matter-of-fact basis of point making as proved at yesterday's 24th annual Columbiana County track and field meet when the local lad piled up a total of 15 points—three firsts—and copped individual honors in a field of contenders as fast as any that has ever competed for county honors.

Salem high won the meet and took permanent possession of the big trophy cup, with a total of 52 points, beating out East Palestine, who ran the Red and Black a neck and neck race until the last couple of events. East Palestine finished with 38 1-2 points; East Liverpool was third with 20 1-2 points; Wellsville and Columbiana fourth with 15 each and Lisbon fifth with two.

The meet was staged at Mt. Union stadium, Alliance, having been transferred suddenly yesterday morning when officials of the county association ascertained, after a survey, that the Lisbon fairgrounds would be impossible.

The Mount cinder track was in fair condition, and although affording a fairly firm footing, was, nevertheless, below par and slowed up sprints time somewhat.

All but five and one-half of the 20 1-2 points made by the Blue and White to finish third were collected by Elmer English. The local lad breasted the tape a full stride ahead of Allen, of Salem, in the 100-yard dash, negotiating the distance in 11 flat, the time being at least two-fifths slower than that of which he is capable.

In the 220-yard dash, English ran almost by himself, finishing fully 15 yards ahead of the entire field. He got off to a great start, picking up his stride probably five yards ahead of the other runners.

Having drawn an outside track on the Mount quarter-mile runway, English headed straight for the pole and kept it, rapidly lengthening the distance between himself and his pursuers.

After these two straining events, English again responded in the 440 and this event probably was the outstanding track competition of the afternoon.

The first four men, English, Rush of Salem, Zellers of Columbiana and Campell of Salem, in order, finished within five steps. English again drew an outside track but by a superb bit of sprinting got to the pole in third place at the first turn. English, Campbell and Rush bunched it all the way to the final turn when the local lad pulled up and drew out in front by less than a step. A distance of probably six inches represented the margin of victory at the tape.

Two new county records were shattered in competition and a third was surpassed in exhibition which, however, will not count against the former mark.

According to form, Colella, of East Palestine, put the shot a distance of 45 feet, 1 1-2 inches. Dick Larkins, of East Liverpool, with a better than 40-foot toss, finishing fourth.

Older, of Salem, sent the discus skimming for a distance of 109 feet, four inches, the previous mark being 108 feet, 11 3-4 inches, made in 1925 by Schafernocker, of East Palestine. Kirmham, of East Liverpool, finished second in this event.

Colella, in the shot, shattered a record that has stood since 1912 when Hum, of Lisbon, put the 12-pound ball 43 feet, 11 inches.

"Mutt" Roessler, of Salem, pressed his team mate, "Rib" Allen, for pole vault honors, the pair tying at 11 feet, 8 inches in official competition.

However, after the event had been closed, Allen, in an exhibition trial, vaulted the bar at an even 12 feet.

Conditions at the jumping and vaulting pits were far from being good, however, which probably handicapped the efforts of all contenders.

Perkins, of Salem, performed well to win both the half mile and the mile events. In neither case was the record in danger.

856 ENTRIES FOR NATIONAL OPEN

NEW YORK, May 26.—It was announced today by the United States Golf association that a total of 856 entries would enter the sectional qualifying rounds for the national open golf championship, with only 110 places in the round available. The sectional rounds will be held on June 6 in seventeen districts, with the survivors and the forty exempt players going into the championship proper at the Oakmont Country club, Pittsburgh, on June 14.

Those exempt include the 28 professionals who finished in the first 32 places at Columbus last year, and Bobby Jones, the winner, Chick Evans and Harrison Johnston, amateurs, and the nine visiting British pros.

The cities in which the qualifying trials will be held include Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Richmond, Atlanta, Dallas, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Detroit, Chicago, Minneapolis, St. Louis, Kansas City, Denver, Los Angeles, San Francisco and Seattle. Chicago leads in entries with 115, followed by Pittsburgh with 113 and New York with 111.

Tilden-Rodel Match.

STADE FRACISE, ST. CLOUD, France, May 26.—After a day of leisure William Tilden today meets the French No. 10, M. Rodel, in the French hardcourt tennis championships.

Rodel yesterday defeated Craig Biddle of Philadelphia, 6-1, 6-2, 10-8, James Van Alen, former Harvard star, is matched to play the Englishman, Lester, today and Sidney Wood, the fifteen year old New York wonder, will face the South African ace, Condon.

DEMPSEY IS 'OLD-TIMER'

Ex-champ 'Has Been' Says King Gene Tunney.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, May 26.—Jack Dempsey has been relegated to the ranks of the "old timers" through Sharkey's rise to sudden prominence, Gene Tunney declared in a statement to the writer today, hard upon his scheduled departure for a seance of early training at Speculator, N. Y. He further intimated that, in his opinion, the knockout of Maloney by Sharkey has rendered Dempsey's proposed return to the ring a matter of comparative unimportance.

"It really doesn't make so much difference to boxing now whether Dempsey returns or not," the champion declared. "If he decides to retire, he will have one of the most eligible of challengers contending for the title and the game will not be the worse for Dempsey remaining in California.

"He has ceased to be a prime factor in the success of the heavyweight tournament. In fact, Sharkey's great fighting has just about relagated Dempsey to the ranks of the old timers."

Tunney made his statements quite casually and with apparent unconcern for the fact that they dealt with a man who, at this time last year, was regarded as the greatest heavyweight champion the world had known, or something. It seemed possible that Dempsey's reputed statement, since denied, that Sharkey would knock out Tunney may have ranled in the champion's mind.

Admits Jack Can Hit.

However, he was willing to admit that a Dempsey comeback would leave no doubt as to the identity of the best challenger available.

"Jack is a great hitter and a great hitter always has a chance," Tunney added. "Dempsey will be dangerous every moment he is in the ring. But Sharkey will be dangerous, too, and don't forget he is young and fast and a smart fighter. That's a great combination to tie to."

Tunney will take only Eddie Eagan, former inter-collegiate heavyweight champion while at Yale; Frank Muskie, of St. Paul, and Lou Fink, his trainer, with him when he leaves town tomorrow. It may be a week before h settles down to boxing, he said. In fact, he indicated that he would box only occasionally.

"Just to keep my eye in," he explained. But when he settles down to the serious grind of championship preparation it will be boxing, boxing, boxing all the way. He doesn't hesitate to say that he plans to match speed with speed against Sharkey. The champion thus sharing the common impression that it will be the 24-year-old and not the 32-year-old Jack who will be the ultimate contender.

"It is too early to make even tentative plans for such a fight," Tunney said in parting. "But in meeting a man like Sharkey, you must outspeed him or you are lost. That would be the only course open to me."

Tunney to Defend Heavyweight Title In Sesqui Stadium

NEW YORK, May 26.—The bout between Gene Tunney and the winner of the Jack Dempsey-Jack Sharkey fight probably will be held in the sesqui-centennial stadium in Philadelphia, according to indications today. Although Promoter Tex Rickard denied this, it is known that Philadelphia city authorities have offered him the stadium. Furthermore, Rickard and his matchmaker, Jess Mahon, will leave here tomorrow on a mysterious trip which it is believed will take them to Philadelphia.

Bulgers are Toppled By Johannes Nine In Slugging Game, 25-16

Heimies soft ball club today stands as undisputed leaders of the Review-Tribune Recreation League race as a result of the initial downfall of the Bulger Drugs, who toppled before the Johannes Drugs in a slugging match last night on the Northside diamond. Adding machines and expert accountants were called into service to compute the final score, 25 to 16.

As a result of their defeat the Bulgers fell back to third place, with four wins and one loss and the Johannes Drugs move up to second place with five conquests and one defeat.

While runs were plentiful in the Northside contest, hits and errors were in keeping with the situation.

The Bulgers got 19 hits off Todd, two more than the Johannes nine got, but 18 errors by the down town pharmacists were about 15 too much for any hope of winning.

Bucher and Herbert, of the Johannes combine, were up to their old tricks again, each clouting a homer.

The Northsiders scored twice in the first frame and four more in the second, the Bulgers counting two in the second, another in the third and four in the fourth to make the count 9 to 7, with Johannes getting three in the fourth. Bulgers went ahead in the fifth with a five-run rally, as the Northsiders got one. The Johannes nine rallied sharply in the seventh to score five runs while the visitors went scoreless in the sixth and seventh, the count standing 15 to 12 in favor of the Northside team at the beginning of the eighth.

Johannes made the tally 17 to 12 in the first of the eighth, but Bulgers came back to score four runs and the margin dwindled to 17-16.

The climax came in the ninth, however, when the home squad went around the sacks eight times.

Heimies soft ball club today stands as undisputed leaders of the Review-Tribune Recreation League race as a result of the initial downfall of the Bulger Drugs, who toppled before the Johannes Drugs in a slugging match last night on the Northside diamond. Adding machines and expert accountants were called into service to compute the final score, 25 to 16.

As a result of their defeat the Bulgers fell back to third place, with four wins and one loss and the Johannes Drugs move up to second place with five conquests and one defeat.

While runs were plentiful in the Northside contest, hits and errors were in keeping with the situation.

The Bulgers got 19 hits off Todd, two more than the Johannes nine got, but 18 errors by the down town pharmacists were about 15 too much for any hope of winning.

Bucher and Herbert, of the Johannes combine, were up to their old tricks again, each clouting a homer.

The Northsiders scored twice in the first frame and four more in the second, the Bulgers counting two in the second, another in the third and four in the fourth to make the count 9 to 7, with Johannes getting three in the fourth. Bulgers went ahead in the fifth with a five-run rally, as the Northsiders got one. The Johannes nine rallied sharply in the seventh to score five runs while the visitors went scoreless in the sixth and seventh, the count standing 15 to 12 in favor of the Northside team at the beginning of the eighth.

Johannes made the tally 17 to 12 in the first of the eighth, but Bulgers came back to score four runs and the margin dwindled to 17-16.

The climax came in the ninth, however, when the home squad went around the sacks eight times.

The Bulger miscues were due chiefly to the fact that Jack Bromby, Earl Reese, Lawrence Reese and Paul White were among the absentees at last night's tilt.

Tilden-Rodel Match.

STADE FRACISE, ST. CLOUD, France, May 26.—After a day of leisure William Tilden today meets the French No. 10, M. Rodel, in the French hardcourt tennis championships.

Rodel yesterday defeated Craig Biddle of Philadelphia, 6-1, 6-2, 10-8. James Van Alen, former Harvard star, is matched to play the Englishman, Lester, today and Sidney Wood, the fifteen year old New York wonder, will face the South African ace, Condon.

DEMPSEY IS 'OLD-TIMER'

Ex-champ 'Has Been' Says King Gene Tunney.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, May 26.—Jack Dempsey has been relegated to the ranks of the "old timers" through Sharkey's rise to sudden prominence, Gene Tunney declared in a statement to the writer today, hard upon his scheduled departure for a seance of early training at Speculator, N. Y. He further intimated that, in his opinion, the knockout of Maloney by Sharkey has rendered Dempsey's proposed return to the ring a matter of comparative unimportance.

"It really doesn't make so much difference to boxing now whether Dempsey returns or not," the champion declared. "If he decides to retire, he will have one of the most eligible of challengers contending for the title and the game will not be the worse for Dempsey remaining in California.

"He has ceased to be a prime factor in the success of the heavyweight tournament. In fact, Sharkey's great fighting has just about relagated Dempsey to the ranks of the old timers."

Tunney made his statements quite casually and with apparent unconcern for the fact that they dealt with a man who, at this time last year, was regarded as the greatest heavyweight champion the world had known, or something. It seemed possible that Dempsey's reputed statement, since denied, that Sharkey would knock out Tunney may have ranled in the champion's mind.

Admits Jack Can Hit.

However, he was willing to admit that a Dempsey comeback would leave no doubt as to the identity of the best challenger available.

"Jack is a great hitter and a great hitter always has a chance," Tunney added. "Dempsey will be dangerous every moment he is in the ring. But Sharkey will be dangerous, too, and don't forget he is young and fast and a smart fighter. That's a great combination to tie to."

Tunney will take only Eddie Eagan, former inter-collegiate heavyweight champion while at Yale; Frank Muskie, of St. Paul, and Lou Fink, his trainer, with him when he leaves town tomorrow. It may be a week before he settles down to boxing, he said. In fact, he indicated that he would box only occasionally.

"Just to keep my eye in," he explained. But when he settles down to the serious grind of championship preparation it will be boxing, boxing, boxing all the way. He doesn't hesitate to say that he plans to match speed with speed against Sharkey. The champion thus sharing the common impression that it will be the 24-year-old and not the 32-year-old Jack who will be the ultimate contender.

"It is too early to make even tentative plans for such a fight," Tunney said in parting. "But in meeting a man like Sharkey, you must outspeed him or you are lost. That would be the only course open to me."

Tunney to Defend Heavyweight Title In Sesqui Stadium

NEW YORK, May 26.—The bout between Gene Tunney and the winner of the Jack Dempsey-Jack Sharkey fight probably will be held in the sesqui-centennial stadium in Philadelphia, according to indications today. Although Promoter Tex Rickard denied this, it is known that Philadelphia city authorities have offered him the stadium. Furthermore, Rickard and his matchmaker, Jess Mahon, will leave here tomorrow on a mysterious trip which it is believed will take them to Philadelphia.

Lindbergh Pictures top A-1 Bill at Ceramic

With pictures of Captain Charles Lindbergh's start of his epochal nonstop flight from New York to Paris and a high class vaudeville offering—The Seven Flashes, four men and three women in "School Day" comedy characters—as well as a screen feature, Gene Stratton-Porter's "Magic Garden," the Ceramic theatre today opened an extraordinary three-day program.

Lindbergh pictures, rushed to East Liverpool, show his arrival at St. Louis from San Diego, thence his flight to New York and then his hop-off to span the Atlantic. Others scenes are shots of his eight competitors' planes, including the wreck of Commander Byrd's craft, the fire which threatened the Bellanca monoplane, and the start of Captain Nungesser's ill-fated voyage from Paris.

Huckleberry Finn, the Dutch school teacher and other characters of school days are depicted in the singing, talking, dancing, comedy act of the Seven Flashes, who will present what is termed a "riot of laughs."

Two children in an enchanted garden, listening to the music of a violin weaving its magic into their hearts and binding them together forever; this is the memory that a boy and girl cherished through long years until they found one another again. Gene Stratton-Porter created this beautiful theme as her last and greatest story, "The Magic Garden."

The picture opens when the boy and girl meet in a place of enchanting loveliness and there in the glorious garden, they pledge their love. However, fate decrees that they must part, but all through the years that follow, their inspiration is the remembrance of those few hours and the hope that they may be reunited again. The girl's part is played by Margaret Morris who invests the role with an ethereal quality, while the boy's screen self is interpreted by Raymond Keane. Others in the cast are: William V. Mong, Joyce Coad, Phillippe de Lacey, Charles Clary, Walter Wilkinson, Alfred Allen, Cesare Gravina, Paulette Duval and Hedda Hopper. The picture was made under the direction of J. Leo Meehan, son-in-law of the late authoress. Mr. Meehan is also responsible for the adaptation, while Charles Kerr wrote the contiuity.

Lindbergh Pictures top A-1 Bill at Ceramic

With pictures of Captain Charles Lindbergh's start of his epochal non-stop flight from New York to Paris and a high class vaudeville offering—The Seven Flashes, four men and three women in "School Day" comedy characters—as well as a screen feature, Gene Stratton-Porter's "Magic Garden," the Ceramic theatre today opened an extraordinary three-day program.

Lindbergh pictures, rushed to East Liverpool, show his arrival at St. Louis from San Diego, thence his flight to New York and then his hop-off to span the Atlantic. Others scenes are shots of his eight competitors' planes, including the wreck of Commander Byrd's craft, the fire which threatened the Bellanca monoplane, and the start of Captain Nungesser's ill-fated voyage from Paris.

Huckleberry Finn, the Dutch school teacher and other characters of school days are depicted in the singing, talking, dancing, comedy act of the Seven Flashes, who will present what is termed a "riot of laughs."

Two children in an enchanted garden, listening to the music of a violin weaving its magic into their hearts and binding them together forever; this is the memory that a boy and girl cherished through long years until they found one another again. Gene Stratton-Porter created this beautiful theme as her last and greatest story, "The Magic Garden."

The picture opens when the boy and girl meet in a place of enchanting loveliness and there in the glorious garden, they pledge their love. However, fate decrees that they must part, but all through the years that follow, their inspiration is the remembrance of those few hours and the hope that they may be reunited again. The girl's part is played by Margaret Morris who invests the role with an ethereal quality, while the boy's screen self is interpreted by Raymond Keane. Others in the cast are: William V. Mong, Joyce Coad, Phillippe de Lacey, Charles Clary, Walter Wilkinson, Alfred Allen, Cesare Gravina, Paulette Duval and Hedda Hopper. The picture was made under the direction of J. Leo Meehan, son-in-law of the late authoress. Mr. Meehan is also responsible for the adaptation, while Charles Kerr wrote the continuity.

Youth of the Atlas

BY MARSHALL D. HALL

SYNOPSIS.

LARRY GRENFALL, American traveler and student of Eastern magic, receives a telephone call.

BEN MANSOUR, cosmopolite and old friend, saying he must see him at once. Larry goes and Mansour tells him he is about to die and that he wants him to go to Morocco, where he, Mansour, is a sherif or native ruler. He is to find the Temple, endure the Ordeal, crush the Group and put Mansour's son on the throne. A Moor appears and gives Monsour a token, a ruby ring which Larry later wears. The Moor also throws into the room a tiny ivory tiger — the Striped Death. Mansour dies and his body disappears — carried off by the Moore. Larry goes to Morocco, finds

OMAR BEN MEDJAD, who dresses him as a wizard, and as Youssef el-Habbassi he starts on his travels. He soon meets

ALLAL ABDI, Mansour's son, who saves his life by killing Beni Ahmed, a Berber outlaw, whose sword Larry takes. Henceforth, they travel together, Larry in his guise as wizard, Allal Abdi as his pupil.

CHAPTER SIXTEEN.

They had left Duk el-Abda shortly after the morning prayer and in less than an hour they were walking through a country as primeval, it seemed to Larry, as that which he imagined must have existed in the very beginning of the world. So wild and forlorn it was that even the wild hares and the jackals showed little fear at their approach and the wild birds in the lotus trees flew not as they passed beneath the low-hanging boughs. High up, the mountains were barren, but in the gorges through which they made a slow and painful way the foliage was magnificently rich and green, seemingly at least one plant of every genus being in existence there. Nothing could have been more lovely, or wilder or more beautiful. Larry, walking behind Allal Abdi, thrilled to the touch of it all, and keeping his stride short, to accompany that of his companion, he wondered if at the end of it all he would find happiness or death.

At nightfall they paused in a thicket of wild fig trees and prepared to rest. With no little effort Larry finally started a fire going, for he could not, and maintain his role, use matches, for being in effect an Algerine wizard, it was not in keeping with his character that he use the habiliments of civilized nations, but once the blaze was going the resultant cheer was worth all the energy he had expended. After the meager evening meal he faced Allal Abdi across the tiny fire, kept alive just sufficiently to fend off the droning attack of the insects that came with the darkness.

He found the youth's soft, luminous eyes fixed on his and once again felt that singular likeness to an electric thrill at the contact of their orbs. He hear the liquid tones of the other, speaking with soft cadence:

"Tell me, Youssef el-Habbassi, since Moulay Edriss does not summon you, why do you wish to go to Moulay Edriss?"

Now, ordinarily, a Moor alone would have understood that but Larry knew the youth was asking him why he risked his life, seemingly without it being absolutely necessary that he do so. Moulay Edriss, founder of the Edrissite branch of Islam, had been dead these many, many years and so the questions could only mean what was the motive that had inspired Larry to risk his life in these mountain fastnesses on this perilous quest, when, mayhap, there was no actual need so far as he was concerned, that he do it?

He answered Allal Abdi in kind:

"The ways of Allah the Compassionate are inscrutable, beardless one; it comes to pass sometimes that one does things without any definite reason other than that a friend has spoken, or that one he loves and who loves him, has urged."

"And did one who loved you, and whom you loved urge you to do this, Youssef el-Habbassi?"

Larry's mind flitted back to that night he had at with Ben Mansour in that great house on the Jersey had seemed to be awry and himself had seemed to e awry and himself the craziest person in it. Briefly, he nodded his head.

"One I loved and who, I think, loved me, urged me to do this thing," he said.

The boy's next question amazed him a little, for with a slow blush that seemed to mount from neck to forehead, he asked:

"And was she you loved and who loved you, very beautiful?"

"It was no woman, Allal Abdi, who thus urged me. It was your father."

At this the youth was silent, but where the flush had stained his handsome features there was now a pallor which somehow gave his soft, exquisite face an ethereal look.

"Forgive me, Allal Abdi, for bringing thoughts of your father to your mind. I did not think," Larry said, contritely. The other looked across the fire:

"Did you love my father so much, then?"

"I did; so much that when he asked me to recover the Sacred Eye and place it in the hands of him we both know, I unhesitatingly promised I would try."

"Then," said Allal Abdi, "I know he loved you, for only of those he loved did my father ask favors. I can readily understand, too, why he should love you, taleb, but I cannot understand where you saw him: those who know, say my father did not touch foot in Islam during all the ten years of his wandering after he fled from the Marabouts. I was seven then," he added, as though through afterthought.

"Which makes you seventeen now," Larry caught him up quickly. "You are right as to your father's wanderings. I did not meet him in Islam alone, but in other places. However, I may not say more than that now."

Somewhere off in the blue-black night, heavy with mystery and the scent of the wild lotus trees a rock moved and losing its purchase on the ledge where it had been fast, went crashing with a hollow, reverberating roar, down into a yawning gorge hard by. Instantly, Larry dropped a heavy foot on the fire, smothering it swiftly; as he did so, Allal Abdi turned with the speed of frightened gazelle and dropped behind a huge boulder that stalked up behind the site of their little night camp.

The sound had menace in it and Larry felt as though an unseen hand had reached out of the nothingness and drawn an icy finger down his spine. He shivered slightly then grew calm.

Larry let his hand fall to the butt of his heavy automatic and stepped back into the midnight shadows of an argan fir; once there he waited silently. Both knew that someone was out there in the darkness; both knew that the unknown man of the night might be a Berber bandit, or a spy who had followed them from as far, perhaps, as Duk el-Abda; both knew, too, that their lives were held very lightly in this game they were playing more or less blindly, this trail they were following toward what was as yet an unknown goal, to achieve an end of which they knew next to nothing.

A soft sound behind the very tree which sheltered him caught Larry's sensitive ears and he turned sharply and easily, waiting silently. He saw a blotch merge with the gloom near him and with a single swoop of his powerful arms he drew it to him clasping it fact the while his right hand crept to a bearded, sinewy throat, ready to throttle. He heard a voice gasping:

"By Allah's beard, you move with the speed of light itself, and with the sureness of a tiger. What hands and arms you have, Youssef el-Habbassi, Peace be with you and Allah's blessing. Now, loose me."

Startled, Larry dropped his hands and allowed the other to step back.

"Omar ben Medjad," he breather. "How, in the name of the Compassionate One, came you here?"

"If Allah willed that you should know, he would have told you," the other replied.

It was, indeed, Omar ben Medjad mysterious as always, arriving thus unheralded in the night, coming from God knew where, going God knew whither.

"It must be an important urge that brings you to me in such a place and at such a time, Omar," Larry said grimly. "Come, what is it?"

"Call Allal Abdi, that he also may hear," Omar ben Medjad bade gravely, and when the youth joined them, he said:

"Your departure from Duk el-Abda is known, Allal Abdi, and since you have joined forces, with the wizard, the Marabout Group suspects more than ever. It has come to my ears that plans have been laid for the pair of you to die on el-Dholl, the Mountain of Shadows. I did not know, when I told you to go with Youssef el-Habbassi, that the Marabouts knew you were actually in Duk el-Abda; I had thought you had out witted them after you left El-Kaiba. Otherwise, I would have bidden you to remain hidden where you were."

"It is as Allah wills," the youth replied.

"You come to tell us to choose a new road?" Larry asked.

The other shook his head.

"Alas, I cannot, for only by way of el-Dholl, up the side of the mountain where it is unguarded, can you hope to find that which you seek. The valley about el-Dholl is guarded heavily, and only the Forbidden Road, which winds across the face of the mountain, is free, and only by going down the Forbidden Road may you find the Temple. I come, instead, to warn you that when you reach el-Dholl you will need all your cunning as a wizard, all your strength as a man, to win through; too, I come to tell you that the call for the Mouloud is going forth and under its urge, from Algeria to the Sus and from Tangier to the Draa on the Sahara's edge, aye, and in the Sahara itself, all Islam is beginning to seethe and foment. You must not fail now, Youssef el-Habbassi, even if, in the end, Moulay Edriss summons you."

"If strength of arm and rugged heart, if cunning brain and alertness of hand will see me through, I shall not fail, Omar ben Medjad," said Larry gravely, "even though my life be forfeit. I have promised one who is dead; his spirit, now with Allah, looks down and hears me repeat the vow I made to him—I shall find the Sacred Eye and place it in your hands, or die trying."

For the first time since he had known the man, Larry saw that Omar was affected visibly; the man's eyes took on a luminosity that was foreign to his nature, and he embraced Larry impulsively.

"Friendship such as yours, Youssef el-Habbassi, is of a kind that no man has the right to expect; it is too wonderful, almost, to be true." He added: "I shall see you either at el-Dholl, or, failing, I shall see you in the Temple itself, I swear it. Now, I have worked hard, but there is much that I must do yet, and I have a journey to make; therefore, I go. Profit by my own experience of this night and if you walk after dark, take care that you step on no loose stones. Above all, be careful, protect Allal Abdi, and guard yourself when you cross el-Dholl."

Mysterious, as ever Omar ben Medjad turned off into the night. Larry called to him eagerly, seeking to follow a few steps, but receiving no reply, he halted. He felt the soft, tugging hands of Allal Abdi on his arm and turned back to face the youth, startled at the glow that burned deep in the soft, luminous eyes.

"Al, wizard, I am fearful for you. Turn back, while there is yet time. You made a promise to my father. Cannot I, his son, absolve you from it? Surely, I may hand back your promise, release you from your word, and leave you without imaginary blot on your honor. Therefore, may I not? Then you can give up this quest and return whence you came."

Larry, seeking to test the mettle of this beardless youth, asked:

"But what of yourself, Allal Abdi? Would that not mean, perhaps, the passing of your chance to win through to your sheriffdom?"

"What care I for becoming sherif of the Seven Tribes? They know me not and I know not them. I know them only as I have been taught to know them, from the things I was told while a student with the Marabout Group. What care I for honor or for riches if one who was my father's dearest friend is to lose his life while venturing in my behalf? Ah, Youssef, I can realize why my father loved you. I, too, have a feeling here," and he touched his breast, then paused in sudden confusion. Again Larry was astonished at the youth, for that slow blush of his had stained his features once more.

He was touched deeply, and dropped his heavy hand, light as a rose petal now, on the youth's turbanned head.

Larry goes and Mansour tells him he is about to die and that he wants him to go to Morocco, where he, Mansour, is a sherif or native ruler. He is to find the Temple, endure the Ordeal, crush the Group and put Mansour's son on the throne. A Moor appears and gives Monsour a token, a ruby ring which Larry later wears. The Moor also throws into the room a tiny ivory tiger — the Striped Death. Mansour dies and his body disappears — carried off by the Moore. Larry goes to Morocco, finds

OMAR BEN MEDJAD, who dresses him as a wizard, and as Youssef el-Habbassi he starts on his travels. He soon meets

CHAPTER SIXTEEN.

They had left Duk el-Abda shortly after the morning prayer and in less than an hour they were walking through a country as primeval, it seemed to Larry, as that which he imagined must have existed in the very beginning of the world. So wild and forlorn it was that even the wild hares and the jackals showed little fear at their approach and the wild birds in the lotus trees flew not as they passed beneath the low-hanging boughs. High up, the mountains were barren, but in the gorges through which they made a slow and painful way the foliage was magnificently rich and green, seemingly at least one plant of every genus being in existence there. Nothing could have been more lovely, or wilder or more beautiful. Larry, walking behind Allal Abdi, thrilled to the touch of it all, and keeping his stride short, to accompany that of his companion, he wondered if at the end of it all he would find happiness or death.

At nightfall they paused in a thicket of wild fig trees and prepared to rest. With no little effort Larry finally started a fire going, for he could not, and maintain his role, use matches, for being in effect an Algerine wizard, it was not in keeping with his character that he use the habiliments of civilized nations, but once the blaze was going the resultant cheer was worth all the energy he had expended. After the meager evening meal he faced Allal Abdi across the tiny fire, kept alive just sufficiently to fend off the droning attack of the insects that came with the darkness.

He found the youth's soft, luminous eyes fixed on his and once again felt that singular likeness to an electric thrill at the contact of their orbs. He hear the liquid tones of the other, speaking with soft cadence:

"Tell me, Youssef el-Habbassi, since Moulay Edriss does not summon you, why do you wish to go to Moulay Idriss?"

Now, ordinarily, a Moor alone would have understood that but Larry knew the youth was asking him why he risked his life, seemingly without it being absolutely necessary that he do so. Moulay Edriss, founder of the Edrissite branch of Islam, had been dead these many, many years and so the questions could only mean what was the motive that had inspired Larry to risk his life in these mountain fastnesses on this perilous quest, when, mayhap, there was no actual need so far as he was concerned, that he do it?

He answered Allal Abdi in kind:

"The ways of Allah the Compassionate are inscrutable, beardless one; it comes to pass sometimes that one does things without any definite reason other than that a friend has spoken, or that one he loves and who loves him, has urged."

"And did one who loved you, and whom you loved urge you to do this, Youssef el-Habbassi?"

Larry's mind flitted back to that night he had at with Ben Mansour in that great house on the Jersey had seemed to be awry and himself had seemed to e awry and himself the craziest person in it. Briefly, he nodded his head.

"One I loved and who, I think, loved me, urged me to do this thing," he said.

The boy's next question amazed him a little, for with a slow blush that seemed to mount from neck to forehead, he asked:

"And was she you loved and who loved you, very beautiful?"

"It was no woman, Allal Abdi, who thus urged me. It was your father."

At this the youth was silent, but where the flush had stained his handsome features there was now a pallor which somehow gave his soft, exquisite face an ethereal look.

"Forgive me, Allal Abdi, for bringing thoughts of your father to your mind. I did not think," Larry said, contritely. The other looked across the fire:

"Did you love my father so much, then?"

"I did; so much that when he asked me to recover the Sacred Eye and place it in the hands of him we both know, I unhesitatingly promised I would try."

"Then," said Allal Abdi, "I know he loved you, for only of those he loved did my father ask favors. I can readily understand, too, why he should love you, taleb, but I cannot understand where you saw him: those who know, say my father did not touch foot in Islam during all the ten years of his wandering after he fled from the Marabouts. I was seven then," he added, as though through afterthought.

"Which makes you seventeen now," Larry caught him up quickly. "You are right as to your father's wanderings. I did not meet him in Islam alone, but in other places. However, I may not say more than that now."

Somewhere off in the blue-black night, heavy with mystery and the scent of the wild lotus trees a rock moved and losing its purchase on the ledge where it had been fast, went crashing with a hollow, reverberating roar, down into a yawning gorge hard by. Instantly, Larry dropped a heavy foot on the fire, smothering it swiftly; as he did so, Allal Abdi turned with the speed of frightened gazelle and dropped behind a huge boulder that stalked up behind the site of their little night camp.

The sound had menace in it and Larry felt as though an unseen hand had reached out of the nothingness and drawn an icy finger down his spine. He shivered slightly then grew calm.

Larry let his hand fall to the butt of his heavy automatic and stepped back into the midnight shadows of an argan fir; once there he waited silently. Both knew that someone was out there in the darkness; both knew that the unknown man of the night might be a Berber bandit, or a spy who had followed them from as far, perhaps, as Duk el-Abda; both knew, too, that their lives were held very lightly in this game they were playing more or less blindly, this trail they were following toward what was as yet an unknown goal, to achieve an end of which they knew next to nothing.

A soft sound behind the very tree which sheltered him caught Larry's sensitive ears and he turned sharply and easily, waiting silently. He saw a blotch merge with the gloom near him and with a single swoop of his powerful arms he drew it to him clasping it fact the while his right hand crept to a bearded, sinewy throat, ready to throttle. He heard a voice gasping:

"By Allah's beard, you move with the speed of light itself, and with the sureness of a tiger. What hands and arms you have, Youssef el-Habbassi, Peace be with you and Allah's blessing. Now, loose me."

Startled, Larry dropped his hands and allowed the other to step back.

"Omar ben Medjad," he breather. "How, in the name of the Compassionate One, came you here?"

"If Allah willed that you should know, he would have told you," the other replied.

It was, indeed, Omar ben Medjad mysterious as always, arriving thus unheralded in the night, coming from God knew where, going God knew whither.

"It must be an important urge that brings you to me in such a place and at such a time, Omar," Larry said grimly. "Come, what is it?"

"Call Allal Abdi, that he also may hear," Omar ben Medjad bade gravely, and when the youth joined them, he said:

"Your departure from Duk el-Abda is known, Allal Abdi, and since you have joined forces, with the wizard, the Marabout Group suspects more than ever. It has come to my ears that plans have been laid for the pair of you to die on el-Dholl, the Mountain of Shadows. I did not know, when I told you to go with Youssef el-Habbassi, that the Marabouts knew you were actually in Duk el-Abda; I had thought you had out witted them after you left El-Kaiba. Otherwise, I would have bidden you to remain hidden where you were."

"It is as Allah wills," the youth replied.

"You come to tell us to choose a new road?" Larry asked.

The other shook his head.

"Alas, I cannot, for only by way of el-Dholl, up the side of the mountain where it is unguarded, can you hope to find that which you seek. The valley about el-Dholl is guarded heavily, and only the Forbidden Road, which winds across the face of the mountain, is free, and only by going down the Forbidden Road may you find the Temple. I come, instead, to warn you that when you reach el-Dholl you will need all your cunning as a wizard, all your strength as a man, to win through; too, I come to tell you that the call for the Mouloud is going forth and under its urge, from Algeria to the Sus and from Tangier to the Draa on the Sahara's edge, aye, and in the Sahara itself, all Islam is beginning to seethe and foment. You must not fail now, Youssef el-Habbassi, even if, in the end, Moulay Edriss summons you."

"If strength of arm and rugged heart, if cunning brain and alertness of hand will see me through, I shall not fail, Omar ben Medjad," said Larry gravely, "even though my life be forfeit. I have promised one who is dead; his spirit, now with Allah, looks down and hears me repeat the vow I made to him—I shall find the Sacred Eye and place it in your hands, or die trying."

For the first time since he had known the man, Larry saw that Omar was affected visibly; the man's eyes took on a luminosity that was foreign to his nature, and he embraced Larry impulsively.

"Friendship such as yours, Youssef el-Habbassi, is of a kind that no man has the right to expect; it is too wonderful, almost, to be true." He added: "I shall see you either at el-Dholl, or, failing, I shall see you in the Temple itself, I swear it. Now, I have worked hard, but there is much that I must do yet, and I have a journey to make; therefore, I go. Profit by my own experience of this night—and if you walk after dark, take care that you step on no loose stones. Above all, be careful, protect Allal Abdi, and guard yourself when you cross el-Dholl."

Mysterious, as ever Omar ben Medjad turned off into the night. Larry called to him eagerly, seeking to follow a few steps, but receiving no reply, he halted. He felt the soft, tugging hands of Allal Abdi on his arm and turned back to face the youth, startled at the glow that burned deep in the soft, luminous eyes.

"Al, wizard, I am fearful for you. Turn back, while there is yet time. You made a promise to my father. Cannot I, his son, absolve you from it? Surely, I may hand back your promise, release you from your word, and leave you without imaginary blot on your honor. Therefore, may I not? Then you can give up this quest and return whence you came."

Larry, seeking to test the mettle of this beardless youth, asked:

"But what of yourself, Allal Abdi? Would that not mean, perhaps, the passing of your chance to win through to your sheriffdom?"

"What care I for becoming sherif of the Seven Tribes? They know me not and I know not them. I know them only as I have been taught to know them, from the things I was told while a student with the Marabout Group. What care I for honor or for riches if one who was my father's dearest friend is to lose his life while venturing in my behalf? Ah, Youssef, I can realize why my father loved you. I, too, have a feeling here," and he touched his breast, then paused in sudden confusion. Again Larry was astonished at the youth, for that slow blush of his had stained his features once more.

He was touched deeply, and dropped his heavy hand, light as a rose petal now, on the youth's turbanned head.

Youth of the Atlas

BY MARSHALL D. HALL

SYNOPSIS.

LARRY GRENFALL, American traveler and student of Eastern magic, receives a telephone call.

BEN MANSOUR, cosmopolite and old friend, saying he must see him at once. Larry goes and Mansour tells him he is about to die and that he wants him to go to Morocco, where he, Mansour, is a sherif or native ruler. He is to find the Temple, endure the Ordeal, crush the Group and put Mansour's son on the throne. A Moor appears and gives Monsour a token, a ruby ring which Larry later wears. The Moor also throws into the room a tiny ivory tiger — the Striped Death. Mansour dies and his body disappears — carried off by the Moore. Larry goes to Morocco, finds

OMAR BEN MEDJAD, who dresses him as a wizard, and as Youssef el-Habbassi he starts on his travels. He soon meets

ROCK SPRINGS EDITION

Rock Springs Park Is Once Again Taking on the Aspects of the Greatest Amusement Park in the Country From a Standpoint of Both Natural Beauty and Amusement Devices.

The management has not spared time nor money to make this enterprise the finest of its kind in the country. Everything essential to happiness of the kiddies and adults alike have been housed at Rock Springs Park and nothing that the amusement world has proved to be the desire of the public has been omitted from the popular resort. The very latest word in the form of Coasters, Aero Swings, both for children and adults, Custer Cars, Merry Go Round, have been installed. The lake has been bulk-headed thus causing the lake to be higher than heretofore, on this there is a new swan yacht along with the canoes of the past, the swimming pool has had a complete new filteration system installed in it. By this system the water can be regulated to a purity that is as good as the drinking water of most cities. The bath house will be speeded up by the new method planned. The new system is to furnish each person with a hanger and parcel bag attached, the clothes are placed on the hanger and in the bag and returned to check room, this leaves your bath house room open and can be occupied by some one else, returning from the water you can obtain your clothes from the check room and take any room vacant. Ice cooled spring drinking water can be obtained from the drinking fountains that have been placed in the park, from this you can obtain the idea that you don't have to travel back down to the spring for a cool drink. Virginia Gardens, Ohio Valley's most beautiful Ball Room, is the talk of the town. It is without a doubt the most beautiful ball room in the country; in it setting of wisteria and colored lights, its atmospher of Virginia hospitality is beyond comprehension. The Great Coaster Contest closes on the evening of the 28th, and the hundreds of names that have been submitted will be carefully considered on the 29th, the winner notified and on the afternoon of the 30th, the big ride will be christened amid the cheers of thousands of people. All those who have submitted names to the ride are requested to be present at the affair. Who knows but that you might be the big winner. Remember the date, May 30th. Who's the winner?

SOME PROMINENT FEATURES

Rock Springs Park has been the mecca of thousands of excursions and picnics for about thirty years primarily to the wonderful natural scenery of hill and valley—its mirrored lakes and mountain streams, but principally to its wonderful Springs that flow from a wall of solid rock—and from which the Park takes its name—Rock Springs.

History records that George Washington, while a young surveyor traveling up and down the Ohio River, stopped here one night and drank water from the "Springs that never run dry." The pathway that runs from the main entrance at the entrance of the Park on the Lincoln Highway to the Crystal Pool Lagoon was formerly the start of a long portage which the Indians used from the Beaver Valley to the head waters of the Ohio. Here amid old forest trees, among family and friends you may picnic to your heart's content—with nothing to depress or demoralize in a Park richly endowed by nature—splendidly equipped and maintained by man.

AMUSEMENT FEATURES.

Virginia Gardens—rightfully named the Ohio Valley's Most Beautiful Ball-Room—where Social PlanDancing reigns supreme. Dazzling lighting effects, wonderful decorations, picturing a scene in the Sunny South—trellises overhanging with Virginia Wisteria. Orchestra pit in center, illuminated with colored lights! where traveling orchestras play, from one to two-week engagaments, make this a most attractive dance palace. Picnic parties can arrange for afternoon dancing, as well as the regular session in the evening.

LOCATION — ROCK SPRINGS PARK

Is located on the Lincoln Righway—in the City of Chester, W. Va.—37 miles from Pittsburgh, Pa., 42 miles from Wheeling, W. Va., 42 miles from Youngstown, O., 35 miles from New Castle, Pa., 52 miles Southeast of Canton, O. Good automobile roads from each of these cities directly into the Park gates. Railroad connection over the C. & P. and Pan Handle Divisions of the Pennsylvania; while The Steubenville, East Liverpool and Beaver Valley Traction Company lines run to the Park gate. The Youngstown and Ohio River Traction connects at Alliance and Leetonia with the Stark Electric and the N. O. P. and L. Electric Lines from Cleveland and New Philadelphia, Ohio River Steamers stop within one city block from the Park entrance. From a transportation standpoint, Rock Springs Park for excursions and picnics cannot be duplicated. East Liverpool one mile away and just across the Old Ohio, is rightfully named the Pottery Center of the World. More than 24% of the Queensware of thes United States is produced in one plant in this vicinity.

"Everything For Builders"

Historyof Rock Springs Park.

Rock Springs Park was originated and founded in the year 1895 by Patsy Kernan. He also opened the Columbian Park at East End a few years later. Patsy has been dead a number of years now but his projects have lived on and are still in existence. This is saying much for Mr. Kernan's foresight as to park sites.

There was nothing at Rock Springs Park for years except a dance pavilion way up beyond the springs. The old timers of this community will remember very distinctly what existed in those days in what is now Rock Springs Park. The only means of transportation in those days from East Liverpool to Rock Springs was by means of an old time ferry named Ollie Neville. This boat landed just about where the Chester Tin Mill is located today, there was a walk up the hollow past the old Rock Springs to the dance pavilion at the upper end where the old time square dance was the source of entertainment. There were no fine brick walks or gravelled paths in that era upon which the feet of the pedestrian might tread; no powerful electric lights swung over head to light the way of the traveler. Nothing but a heavy wooded path and an old wagon road from the ferry up to the dance hall. There were no amusements of any sort within the borders of the then Rock Springs Park, the only diversion being the square dance as was the fashion of those days. The plan then as now is the custom of Rock Springs Park was to change orchestras frequently, and play only traveling organizations. This seems to be the policy as has been carried out for all these years. Some of the old timers of this vicinity will recall having spent many a fine and happy evening at the old Rock Springs Park dancing pavilion.

They will recall the names of the diffent orchestras as being Bill McGraw's, Jake Elwell, Daddy Rowe and Henry Schenkels. There isn't much possibility of those orchestras playing the jazz music of today but there are many sweet memories they have left behind in their ability to play the most popular pieces of their day. Although they were not so snappy or as fast as they are now, yet we are sure that they were real treats then. These orchestras were the ones that furnished the music for the old time Rock Springs Park and it is said without fear of contradition that they were the best possible source of music at that time and the only real orchestras in the vicinity.

There were picnic woods and sheds of their kind but for further source of amusement there were no hopes. The Rock Springs Park of then and today has vastly changed in its aspect. Where heretofore the wagon road trailed up through the hollow, past the lake and then beyond into the distant hills and valleys, there has superceded this rugged trail fine brick walks, cinder paths and trails lighted and illuminated as if by the sun; the spring in its solid founda-tion in its originality is the only land mark left of the old Rock Springs Park in the past era. This alone is the only thing that has not changed in its facial appearance or in its pace with progress.

The woods, athough there are hundreds of trees within the borders of Rock Springs Park, have been thinned, not from the standpoint of destruction, but from the standpoint of artificial beauty. Skilled landscape gardeners have made remarkable changes in clearing this wooded era in such a way that the buildings of Rock Springs Park seem to have been transplanted in the heart of a forest; the trees sheltering and shading most of the picnic grounds. The lake in the upper end of the valley is one of nature's most beautiful spots. Although the artistic hand of man has assisted nature in its work of transformation, yet nature supercedes the artificial look of the lake. The gentle slopes of Virginia hills run down to its borders overflowing with an abundance of flowers, ferns and mosses; the trees along the bank seem to bend in a bow or recognition as to the splendor and beauty of the lake, their arching arms reaching down into the crystal mirror of the pool as the swish of the wind on the water and the gentle breezes through the tree tops causes the reproduction of a musical tendency that causes the whole valley to echo with the happiness of nature. The hillsides are covered with large trees that mark their endurance, not in years but in decay; their branches lift upward to Heaven with the prayer and thanksgiving that in the community that incorporated Rock Springs Park there is a valley of lost happiness.

Everything is being done by the new management to put Rock Springs Park just as close to nature as possible and yet keep it within the demands of the public in holding it one of the greatest amusement parks in the entire valley. Those that come to Rock Springs Park will find that the efforts have been to place rustic structures on the midway in every case possible; the restaurant, for instance, will be a masterpiece of the Canadian forest with its rustic furniture, its barbecue and its over hung ship lanterns. It will be a typical recreation from the heart of the Canadian forests, like those in some of the famous resorts, the Glacier National Park or the Yelowstone Nationa Park. It will be the opportunity for many of those who have never had the opportunity of seeing these things to witness in their own community the Canadian forest in reality. To eat and dine within the smell of spruce and pine of the Canadian forests as the winds of the Ohio Valley whisk the fragrance from the logs past their nostrils on into eternity.

At the head of the midway, perched there among the native virgin trees of Virginia stands a structure, a reproduction of the Canadian forests, is the rustic home of Mr. Macdonald. It is alone a curiosity and a treat for those who for all these years have known nothing of the beauty of life outside the borders of this valley. The world has been brought to them at a great expense.

Not to forget the amusement devices of Rock Springs Park may we say that although they are not so lavish in number yet they are the best of their kind in the country; they are what years of park study have proved to be the most popular. The new coaster of Rock Springs Park is the fastest structure of its kind in the country; its dips are sixty-seven feet; its height from the street to the lower curb is one hundred twenty-eight feet: its area over all is a distance of twenty-five hundred feet ;and the course is traversed at the terrific speed of one minute and twenty-eight seconds. The cars themselves weigh twenty-two hundred pounds each; this added to the live weight when loaded, coupled with the drops of sixty-seven feet, coming around the Carolina curve at the rate of twenty-five hundred feet in one minute and twenty-eight seconds causes this coaster to stand out as being the fastest in the country without fear of contradiction. The new Aero Swing is the finest type in the country, costing approximately $10,000; the kiddies swing being operated by a competent matron, is really an attraction for the kiddies. The $22,000 Dentzel Merry Go Round is the latest word of its kind in the country, being solid steel center poles, sweeps and rollers, whereas the Merry Go Rounds heretofore have been wood. The Custer Car, the small electric automobiles, have proven so far to be the most popular ride of its kind. The Whip needs no introduction other than to say that it will be the largest Whip ever secured for any amusement park.

The midways of Rock Springs Park are lighted from one end to the other with streamers of high powered lights. The Virginia Gardens with its ten thousand feet of hardwood surface, highly polished, the small zoo with its birds, monkeys and geese, the concessions and refreshment stands are only some of the many things that Rock Springs Park has to offer. There are acres of free parking space for cars; no admission charge to the gate whatsoever. Rock Springs Park is a community enterprise; should be boosted as a community enterprise; and supported as a community enterprise for the good of this community from its standpoint of good wholesome entertainment at home for the young and the old alike, and for the national advertisement that it gives East Liverpool and the Ohio Valley. To fail to support such an enterprise is not to be a booster for your locality and to be a traitor to human interests; to your city; to your community and to yourself.

Rock Springs Park is open for picnics, both large and small, at all times and any of those desiring to come are most welcome. The management of Rock Springs will be at your service, first, last and always; courteous and gentle at all times.

WASHINGTON STEWART'S LETTER

POPULAR HISTORICAL LEGENDS PUNCTURED BY ADMIRAL SIMS

By Charles P. Stewart.

WASHINGTON, May 26.—Rear Admiral William S. Sims made a speech at Norristown (Pa.) the other day. His theme was national defense—our lack of any.

ADMIRAL SIMS

The Narragansett Bay war games had just been concluded at the time—with a glorious victory for the land forces which had theoretically beaten off the enemy navy.

Yes, Sims agreed, the United States might be able to drive back a hostile fleet which had promised in advance to consider itself beaten, unless it captured the American coast on a certain date at a specified hour.

The point he raised was that you couldn't persuade a hostile fleet to make such a promise—or to keep it, at any rate.

WAR games generally come out the way it's desired to have them come out, Sims strongly intimated.

So does "popular history," he added. It wouldn't be so "popular," the old sea dog remarked, if historians told more about what actually happened.

Then he proceeded to puncture some popularity historical legends.

Among other things, he declared George Washington had had a scandalously difficult time of it—to read about it, anybody'd imagine he experienced one uninterrupted round of victories, but in reality he squeaked through by the narrowest kind of narrow margins—simply because the folk of his time refused to take seriously the difficulties he was up against.

Sims examined every foot of the ground minutely.

He heard all about the soldiers' frozen feet, their ragged uniforms, the scarcity of food, and nodded grimly at every item of information.

It all went to prove, as he summed it up, in conclusion, that the United States may win when it gets into a fight, but if it does, it does it by main strength, and never by virtue of going into it trained to the minute.

THE admiral visited Norristown to get a medal voted to him by the Huguenot Society of Pennsylvania, a branch of the national organization of which his own Huguenot descent makes him a member.

He discussed national defense because that's what he always discusses, when he discusses anything.

Nobody can accuse him of being a pacifist. He's a militant old man, if there's one in the country and he looks it—very tall and erect, without an ounce of superfluous flesh on him and a set of bristling white whiskers, trimmed to a bayonet point at every angle where they can be trained into one.

A VISIT to Valley Forge is a natural sequel to a visit to Norristown. It's right in the city's outskirts.

But the funny part of it—

The admiral was the only man who forgot to take off his hat when the chimes played The Star Spangled Banner, in the Washington Memorial Chapel.

"William, William," admonished his wife, tugging frantically at his coattails—the admiral, of course, was in mufti—as the rest of the party uncovered reverently.

"Take off your hat"—in an urgent whisper, in reply to the admiral's look of mild inquiry.

Piles Disappear

No Cutting or Salves Needed.

External treatments seldom banish Piles and for the very good reason that the cause is inside—bad circulation in affected parts, veins are flabby and bowel walls weakened.

To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation—send fresh, healthy blood to the raw, sensitive membranes. Internal treatment is one safe method. Ointments and other external treatments can't give lasting relief.

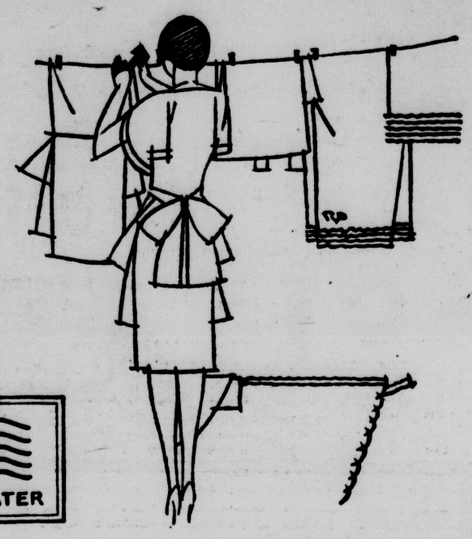
J. S. Leonhardt, M. D., a specialist, set at work some years ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He succeeded. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and it has proven successful in thousands of cases—so successful that now HEM-ROID is sold by druggists under a money back guarantee. It is a harmless tablet, easy to take, and can always be found at Mathews Original Cut Rate, who will promptly refund the purchase price if you are dissatisfied.

Couldn't Eat Fruit, Stomach So Bad

"I was badly constipated and troubled with gas after eating. Could not eat fruit and many other things. Adlerika has done me good—can now eat anything."—W. H. Fletcher.

Adlerika relieves stomach gas and sourness in TEN minutes. Acting on BOTH upper and lower bowel, it removes old waste matter you never thought was in your system. Let Adlerika give your stomach and bowels a REAL cleansing and see how much better you feel. Economy Drug Store.

These clothes are as white as snow



HARD WATER PLUS MEL'O MAKES SOFT WATER

THEY were very dirty . . . grime . . . grass stains . . . just plain dirt. Yes, they were boiled. Yes, they were rubbed. Yes, they were rinsed twice and hung in the sun to dry. But these clothes are as white as snow because they were washed in soft water.

How can that be when the water which comes from the faucet was hard?

They were washed in hard water made soft as rain water with Melo. Two tablespoonfuls put in the tubs before washing prevents scum from forming. That scum is the result of soap combining with the hardness in hard water. That scum collects the little particles of dirt. It clings to the fabric. It makes the clothes gray. No amount of rinsing can get it all out. Add as much soap as you want, the scum always remains—in hard water. But soften the water with Melo and there isn't any scum. A teaspoonful in the dishpan saves soap, time and hands. And two tablespoonfuls in the bath prevents the dirty ring from forming around the tub.

Keep a can of Melo in the kitchen, in the laundry, in the bathroom. Get it at your grocer's.

The water in East Liverpool is 9 times as hard as it should be. Two tablespoonfuls of Melo will soften a bathtub full of water. Two tablespoonfuls in the washtubs. One teaspoonful in the dishpan.

Will your skin bear close scrutiny?

Skilled physicians recognize the appearance of pimples, boils and other skin eruptions as being an indication of an abnormal condition of the system. This is why so many thousands have been enabled to free themselves of these unsightly blemishes and painful annoyances by taking a course of S. S. S.

You owe it to yourself to try S. S. S. It helps Nature build up red corpuscles. It improves the processes by which the blood is nourished.

"I suffered from impure blood—was weak, and I had lost so much weight, I didn't look natural. I had pimples and was also bothered with a breaking-out that itched terribly. I also had boils one after another. I tried different kinds of remedies, but nothing did me any good until a friend advised me to take S. S. S., which I did. This was some time ago. Now I feel well, and I am getting along fine. S. S. S. stopped the itching and it cured me of boils. I advise all weak and run-down people to give S. S. S. a trial. It clears up the skin and makes you strong and fills you with energy." Mrs. J. W. Barker, 1337 Walnut Street, Cincinnati, Ohio.

S. S. S. is made from the fresh roots of medicinal herbs and plants and is prepared in a scientific way in a modern laboratory. It is time-tried and reliable.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

the Rapier flash of its Getaway

Until you ride in the Hudson Super-Six there is a motoring thrill you can never know.

Here is brilliancy of performance that gives new luster and meaning to the word.

It is the master car at every issue. And in every performance asked of a motor it possesses ability beyond anything heretofore known.

In all the years your Hudson serves, you will hardly require its full capacity. You can scarcely encounter a situation to tax its limit of power.

This performance mastery gives innumerable advantages. For instance you travel faster within the speed limits. That is because you are away quicker. You pick up faster. You level hills with ease. You have smoothness that makes the long journey comfortable and free of fatigue.

And these qualities have won Hudson the greatest reception, sales and public acknowledgment in its history.

WASHINGTON STEWART'S LETTER.

POPULAR HISTORICAL LEGENDS PUNCTURED BY ADMIRAL SIMS

By Charles P. Stewart.

WASHINGTON, May 26.—Rear Admiral William S. Sims made a speech at Norristown (Pa.) the other day.

His theme was national defense—our lack of any.

The Narragansett Bay war games had just been concluded at the time—with a glorious victory for the land forces which had theoretically beaten off the enemy navy.

Yes, Sims agreed, the United States might be able to drive back a hostile fleet which had promised in advance to consider itself beaten, unless it captured the American coast on a certain date at a specified hour.

The point he raised was that you couldn't persuade a hostile fleet to make such a promise—or to keep it, at any rate.

WAR games generally come out the way it's desired to have them come out, Sims strongly intimated.

So does "popular history," he added.

It wouldn't be so "popular," the old sea dog remarked, if historians told more about what actually happened.

Then he proceeded to puncture some popularity historical legends.

Among other things, he declared George Washington had had a scandalously difficult time of it—to read about it, anybody'd imagine he experienced one uninterrupted round of victories, but in reality he squeaked through by the narrowest kind of narrow margins—simply because the folk of his time refused to take seriously the difficulties he was up against.

Sims examined every foot of the ground minutely.

He heard all about the soldiers' frozen feet, their ragged uniforms, the scarcity of food, and nodded grimly at every item of information.

It all went to prove, as he summed it up, in conclusion, that the United States may win when it gets into a fight, but if it does, it does it by main strength, and never by virtue of going into it trained to the minute.

THE admiral visited Norristown to get a medal voted to him by the Huguenot Society of Pennsylvania, a branch of the national organization of which his own Huguenot descent makes him a member.

He discussed national defense because that's what he always discusses, when he discusses anything.

Nobody can accuse him of being a pacifist. He's a militant old man, if there's one in the country and he looks it—very tall and erect, without an ounce of superfluous flesh on him and a set of bristling white whiskers, trimmed to a bayonet point at every angle where they can be trained into one.

A VISIT to Valley Forge is a natural sequel to a visit to Norristown. It's right in the city's outskirts.

But the funny part of it—

The admiral was the only man who forgot to take off his hat when the chimes played The Star Spangled Banner, in the Washington Memorial Chapel.

"William, William," admonished his wife, tugging frantically at his coattails—the admiral, of course, was in mufti—as the rest of the party uncovered reverently.

"Take off your hat"—in an urgent whisper, in reply to the admiral's look of mild inquiry.

Piles Disappear

No Cutting or Salves Needed.

External treatments seldom banish Piles and for the very good reason that the cause is inside—bad circulation in affected parts, veins are flabby and bowel walls weakened.

To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation—send fresh, healthy blood to the raw, sensitive membranes. Internal treatment is one safe method. Ointments and other external treatments can't give lasting relief.

J. S. Leonhardt, M. D., a specialist, set at work some years ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He succeeded. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and it has proven successful in thousands of cases—so successful that now HEM-ROID is sold by druggists under a money back guarantee. It is a harmless tablet, easy to take, and can always be found at Mathews Original Cut Rate, who will promptly refund the purchase price if you are dissatisfied.

HARD WATER PLUS MEL'O MAKES SOFT WATER

THEY were very dirty . . . grime . . . grass stains . . . just plain dirt. Yes, they were boiled. Yes, they were rubbed. Yes, they were rinsed twice and hung in the sun to dry. But these clothes are as white as snow because they were washed in soft water.

How can that be when the water which comes from the faucet was hard?

They were washed in hard water made soft as rain water with Melo. Two tablespoonfuls put in the tubs before washing prevents scum from forming. That scum is the result of soap combining with the hardness in hard water. That scum collects the little particles of dirt. It clings to the fabric. It makes the clothes gray. No amount of rinsing can get it all out. Add as much soap as you want, the scum always remains—in hard water. But soften the water with Melo and there isn't any scum. A teaspoonful in the dishpan saves soap, time and hands. And two tablespoonfuls in the bath prevents the dirty ring from forming around the tub.

Keep a can of Melo in the kitchen, in the laundry, in the bathroom. Get it at your grocer's.

The water in East Liverpool is 9 times as hard as it should be. Two tablespoonfuls of Melo will soften a bathtub full of water. Two tablespoonfuls in the washtubs. One teaspoonful in the dishpan.

Will your skin bear close scrutiny?

Skilled physicians recognize the appearance of pimples, boils and other skin eruptions as being an indication of an abnormal condition of the system. This is why so many thousands have been enabled to free themselves of these unsightly blemishes and painful annoyances by taking a course of S. S. S.

You owe it to yourself to try S. S. S. It helps Nature build up red corpuscles. It improves the processes by which the blood is nourished.

"I suffered from impure blood—was weak, and I had lost so much weight, I didn't look natural. I had pimples and was also bothered with a breaking-out that itched terribly. I also had boils one after another. I tried different kinds of remedies, but nothing did me any good until a friend advised me to take S. S. S., which I did. This was some time ago. Now I feel well, and I am getting along fine. S. S. S. stopped the itching and it cured me of boils. I advise all weak and run-down people to give S. S. S. a trial. It clears up the skin and makes you strong and fills you with energy." Mrs. J. W. Barker, 1337 Walnut Street, Cincinnati, Ohio.

S. S. S. is made from the fresh roots of medicinal herbs and plants and is prepared in a scientific way in a modern laboratory. It is time-tried and reliable.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

Another Bad Break.

Merciless Civil War.
"Come Here"—Mussolini.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

[The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.]

The total number driven from their homes and requiring food at public expense now is 600,000.

This Mississippi flood is too big an affair for private enterprise or private charity. It is the government's business to take care of it, and the government's business to see that it does not happen AGAIN.

EX-GOVERNOR PINCHOT declares the Mississippi can be controlled and made to pay for the cost of the control. Reservoirs built on tributaries to the Mississippi could regulate the flow of water, and produce electric power sufficient to pay theentire cost.

Pinchot, an earnest, useful and well informed citizen, remarks that you cannot deal successfully with floods on the Mississippi merely by trying to control them when they happen. What is needed is "to prevent their happening."

OUR young Lindbergh is enjoying himself in Europe, not in any hurry to accept American offers that would make him rich. He will attend to those things when he comes home. On Saturday he will fly to Brussels and later fly over to see London and King George. He isn't even sure he will not continue flying in the air mail service. He says, "I'm only on leave now."

MR. STIMSON, back from official investigation of affairs in Nicaaragua, gives a gloomy picture of fighting down there. Civil war is always the worst war, and Nicaragua's kind is especially bad.

Mr. Stimson says: "I found that no prisoners were being taken on either side. The wounded and captured were killed and non-combatants, men, women and children were butchered in cold blood. Some such non-combatants were tortured and mutilated."

Mr. Stimson is a reliable observer, a man well trained in accuracy. It is easy to believe that Nicaragua accepts American intervention gratefully.

MUSSOLINI says to the world, "Come here to Italy, spend your money, and you will get your money's worth." And he makes the statement good. Prices are cut from top to bottom, beginning with a cut of 18 per cent in workmen's wages, to be made gradually. Retail prices, rents and railroad fares are also reduced.

Magnificent Italian ships, as fine as any in the world, will take you direct from the United States, through the Straits of Gibraltar, to Naples. Think it over for your summer vacation. Don't "see Naples and die," but see Naples, then Rome, and north to Florence, Pisa, Genoa, on to Paris, via Monte Carlo—a fine trip, and prices reasonable.

Mrs. Mabel Brennen Asks $5,000 as Result of Fall

City of East Liverpool was named defendant in a suit for $5,000 damages filed in common pleas court, Lisbon, today by Mrs. Mabel C. Brennen, College street, for injuries alleged to have been sustained in a fall in Sixth street on January 25, 1926.

Mrs. Brennen charges that her leg and shoulder were injured when she slipped and fell upon the icy sidewalk while walking along the southside of the street, between Crook alley and the Diamond.

Negligence on the part of the city in permitting the ice to remain on the sidewalk is charged in the petition filed by Attorney Frank E. Grosshans.

John E. Rogers, 77, Attorney, Dies in His Home in Salem

Attorney John E. Rogers, 77, died in his home in Salem today, following a brief illness.

He was born in Fairfield township, a son of the late George Rogers. He attended Salem high school and Mt. Union college, Alliance, and was admitted to the bar in 1874.

Mr. Rogers was never married. He was a Republican in politics and a member of the Quaker church.

Governor Enjoys "Chuck Wagon" Food Served by Cowboys

COLUMBUS, O., May 26.—Governor Vic Donahey enjoyed a "chuck wagon" breakfast, consisting of flapjacks and black coffee, on the statehouse campus here this forenoon.

The meal featured a visit to the statehouse by a gang of western cowboys who came to participate in a stampede and rodeo opening at the state fairgrounds Friday.

All wearing their picturesque cowboy costumes, some astride their horses and others riding in the chuck wagon, the visitors went to the statehouse where they were greeted by the governor.

British Ruler and Prince Will Receive American Who Spanned Atlantic, in Audience in London.

FRANCE ACCLAIMS DARING YOUTH

LONDON, May 25. — King George will receive Captain Charles A. Lindbergh in audience on Monday, it was announced officially today.

The king's reception is expected to be informal and it is believed that the Prince of Wales will be present and the American youth will be invited to join with the monarch in an informal chat about aviation.

London is preparing to make Lindbergh's visit a gala occasion.

Arrangements are being made for a huge escort of air liners and privately-owned planes when Lindbergh arrives at the English coast.

It is expected that Lindbergh will remain in London for five or six days and a round of entertainment in his honor is being arranged.

Foresees Atlantic Air Service.

PARIS, May 26.—A regular air service between France and the United States, was the hope expressed by Captain Charles A. Lindbergh today in a speech at the city hall, where he had been given an official welcome.

"I am unable to express my appreciation of the honors you have conferred upon me and my country," said Lindbergh in replying to the official speeches of welcome.

"I have one desire and that is that my flight may be the forerunner of a regular air service between France and the United States and an understanding suchas has never existed before.

"That is my hope today. My greatest desire, I am sure, would have been the greatest desire of Captains Nungesser and Coli."

Lindbergh's speech, while delivered in his usual boyish manner, made a great impression on his listeners as have all of his utterances, for in his confused embarrassed speeches he gives the impression of great sincerity.

Reverence for a Hero.

All the speeches made to Lindbergh at the city hall were in French, and while they were in progress Sheldon Whitehouse, counselor of the embassy, leaned over and gave Lindbergh snatches of translation.

The wild enthusiasm of the French people for the American airman gave way today to a remarkable demonstration of reverence for a hero.

BUDDY POPPY DAY CAMPAIGN HERE SATURDAY

Foreign War Veterans Will Sell Flanders Bloom.

RELIEF DRIVE

Seek Funds for Memorial Day Expenses.

Saturday will be Buddy Poppy Day in East Liverpool.

Silk imitations of the Flanders bloom, made by disabled soldiers in a hospital at Chillicothe, Ohio, will be sold on the streets by school girls, women and other workers in behalf of Private Eddy Post, No. 66, Veterans of Foreign Wars, to defray Memorial Day expenses and also to provide relief for needy ex-service men.

The campaign will be directed by William H. Kinsey, William P. Bock and Clyde Petty, of the Foreign War Veterans' post, and Mrs. Augusta Rosenberg and her corps, representing the veterans' auxiliary.

Headquarters during the day will be maintained in the lobby of the Little building, Diamond. The sale will begin at 9 o'clock in the morning and continue until 9 in the evening.

Memorial Day Parade.

"A Buddy poppy in every buttonhole on Decoration Day, and remember the dead by helping the disabled living" is the slogan of the campaign.

The Foreign War Veterans have invited the Grand Army of the Republic and the American Legion to join them in the Memorial Day observance. A parade, headed by the Eagles' band, will form at the veterans' headquarters, Fifth and Market streets, at 9:15 a. m. and move promptly at 9:30. Exercises will be held at Riverview cemetery at 10:30.

Members of Private Eddy post will meet in the post rooms at 11:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon, preparatory to proceeding to cemeteries in East Liverpool and Wellsville to decorate the graves of the soldier dead.

Mrs. Clara Bancroft Dies in Hospital; Funeral Saturday

Mrs. Clara Bancroft, 53, died last night in the City hospital, after two months' illness.

She is survived by one sister, Mrs. Mollie Orr, East Liverpool, and two brothers, Elmer and Claude Swearingen, of Pittsburgh.

Funeral services will be held at 3:30 Saturday afternoon in the home of Michael Emmerling, Vernia street, Beechwood, in charge of Rev. John MacDonald, pastor of the Avondale Free Methodist church. Burial will be made in Spring Grove cemetery.

Body Recovered by Operator on Sand Digger.

Body of an unidentified man, aged about 35, believed to be one of three laborers who were drowned at West Economy, near Ambridge, Pa., a week ago, when a fill being made for a new railroad spur caved in, was found floating in the Ohio river near Babb's Island, at 5 o'clock this morning.

The discovery was made by Theodore Farnsworth, Second street, night operator on the sand digger of the East Liverpool Sand company, which was working near the lower end of the island. Farnsworth caught the floater with a rope.

Aided by two other workmen, Farnsworth brought the body to the Ohio shore near the Colonial pottery. It was later removed to the Miller funeral parlors.

Wore Lumberman's Blouse.

The victim was dressed in high top leather shoes, blue trousers, a heavy black and white lumberman's blouse and wore canvas gloves. He was about six feet tall and weighed approximately 175 pounds.

The body was in such a state of decomposition that identification except by his clothes seems improbable.

The men drowned at West Economy were employes of the Kennedy Brothers' Construction cmpany, of Youngstown. They were riding dump cars when the track gave way and they were precipitated into the river. Two were Italians and the other a Serbian.

Coroner J. M. Van Fossan, East Palestine, was expected here today to conduct an inquest.

William Beardmore Dies in Lisbon; Funeral Saturday

William C. Beardmore, lifelong resident of East Liverpool, died last night in Lisbon of complication of diseases.

He is survived by one brother and two sisters: Edward, Anna and Ella Beardmore, all of this city.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon in the Miller funeral home, West Sixth street, in charge of Rev. B. R. Johnson, pastor of the First Church of Christ. Burial will be made in Rieverview cemetery.

Friends may view the body tonight and Friday evening at the Miller parlors.

BLAST VICTIM CRITICALLY ILL

Little hope was entertained today for the recovery of Lawrence Baker, 22, Dixonville laborer, who is in the City hospital suffering from burns sustained Saturday afternoon in a gas explosion at the corner of St. Clair avenue and North street.

D. A. Cunningham, also burned in the blast, is recovering. Two other workmen, all employes of the Manufacturers Light & Heat company, were less seriously burned.

Wrecking Tugs Prepare To Tow Palatial Liner To Port After Crash

New San Francisco Steamship, Malolo, Costing $7,000,000, Anchored 15 Miles West-Southwest of Nantucket Lightship After Being reighter.

Pacific Coast Steamer's Firemen Stand in Four Feet of Water Following Collision, But Wealthy New York and Philadelphia Passengers are Reported Unharmed.

NEW YORK, May 26.—With her boiler rooms flooded from the hole gashed in the collision with the freighter Jacob Christensen, the Matson liner Malolo, swiftest deluxe passenger ship ever built in American shipyards, today was being towed to New York where she will arrive Saturday.

BOSTON, May 26.—Radio messages picked up here today stated that the disabled new San Francisco steamship, Malolo, with 310 persons aboard was anchored 15 miles west-southwest of Nantucket lightship with wrecking tugs prepared to tow her to New York.

The freight steamship, Jacob Christensen, which crashed into the Malolo late yesterday in a fog, was reported approaching New York.

The coast guard cutter, Shaw, a steam trawler, and several other vessels were standing by the Malolo, which was enveloped in a heavy fog.

Temporary repairs had been made on the palatial new $7,000,000 Pacific coast liner which was on her trial run and all aboard were reported safe.

LONDON, May 26.—According to a Central News dispatch from Madrid today 13 persons were killed in the train wreck near Pulpi when a freight collided with a mail train.

Freighter's Bow Punctured.

The Malolo's wireless operator stated that the giant liner had a hole punctured over the fire room and that two of her engines were disabled. Firemen had been standing in four feet of water.

The Christensen, a Norwegian freighter, with a punctured bow, proceeded to New York under her own steam, with the steamship Fisher as escort.

The Malolo wirelessed the steamship Rotterdam, "No assistance needed." Tugs were near to tow her to New York. The Malolo was anchored in latitude 40.29 north; langitude 70.13 west.

Several wealthy and prominent men from New York and Philadelphia were guests aboard the Malolo.

The Jacob Christensen may go direct to Philadelphia instead of carrying out her commander's plans to put into New York. Her wireless operator could not be reached this forenoon.

The liners President Roosevelt and Rotterdam were in close touch with the Malolo. The tanker Gulf Land, came up to the anchored liner's side and a small fleet of other rescue craft were standing off. The fog was lifting.

FORD COUPE STOLEN HERE

Arthur Parrish, 502 Palissy street, reported to the police at 1 o'clock this morning that his Ford coupe, carrying license No. 386-891, had been stolen while parked in Mulberry street, East End, last night. The car, valued at $300, had not been located up to the noon hour today.

The address will be delivered by S. E. Daw, superintendent of the Wellsville schools.

BIG LIQUOR RAID IN BROOKE COUNTY

Detection of a heavy laden car by Prohibition Officer Alonzo Prince, which was found to contain an excess amount of yeast and sugar yesterday led to a large moonshine still in Pierce Run, Brooke county, resulting in two arrests.

Prince, who was in Wheeling, after learning the identity of the owner summoned several deputies and members of the state police force and went to Brooke county. They visited the home owned by M. J. Deapes and arrested Michael and Andy Parnell on charges of operating a still.

Fifty-three barrels or 2,650 gallons of mash, 155 gallons and one quart of moonshine liquor, and one 100-gallon still, 25 empty five-gallon kegs, 66 50-gallon barrels, one air compressor and 850 pounds of sugar were confiscated and Andy Parnell, who was found in the house was taken into custody as the operator. The 100 and the 25-gallon stills were in operation when the officers entered the home, they say.

WAITS, UNAFRAID OF PRISON

Unafraid of prison, Miss Charlotte Anita Whitney, California society woman and social welfare worker, has been waiting at her cottage at Carmel-by-the-Sea, Calif., for the day when she must begin serving a one-to-fourteen years' sentence under the California criminal syndicalism law. The law has been confirmed by the United States supreme court. A movement for a pardon has not been participated in by Miss Whitney. Her conviction was based on her attendance at a meeting of communists in Oakland.

BUTLER SCHOOLS BREAK RECORD

Two records, one for school attendance and another for banking were broken during the ninth month of school in the Butler district, according to announcement made yesterday.

A room at the Weirton school taught by Miss Mary Jane Coves during the month of May banked $89.54. The total amount banked represents part by each pupil of the room, thereby establishing a 100 per cent mark for banking. This mark betters any previous mark for banking in the district for the school year.

Lodge Meeting Scheduled.

SUPERIOR TIRES MEET TURK-NASH

Chester Superior Cord Tires will meet Turk-Nash in an Industrial league game tonight at Columbian park, East Liverpool. Manager Riley will probably use Evans on the mound, while he will be opposed by Mundy or Deshler.

Large delegation of local rooters are expected to witness the contest.

PARENT-TEACHERS ELECT OFFICERS

At a recent meeting of the Parent-Teachers association the following officers were elected: President, Rev. W. J. H. McKnight; vice president, Miss Alma Cunningham; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. William James; entertainment committee, Mrs. Joseph Geon and Mrs. George C. Holliday.

REV. W. T. McKEE TO GIVE ADDRESS

Rev. W. T. McKee, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will be the speaker tonight at the meeting of the Chester Business Men's association to be held in the Stewart hall, Third street and Carolina avenue. Supper will be served at 6:45.

Wives of members will be guests. M. E. Eppley will act as toastmaster.

Cabinet Member To Speak.

James J. Davis, secretary of labor, will deliver the address at the graduation exercises of the Follansbee high school scheduled for tonight. He will be tendered a banquet at which addresses will be given by Congressman Carl G. Bachmann, of Wheeling, and State Senator W. S. Wilkin.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to thank the many friends and neighbors who so kindly assisted us during the sickness and death of our wife and daughter.

We wish especially to thank Rev. and Mrs. A. L. Duncan and those who sent the beautiful flowers.

Stage Manager

Elizabeth North.

One of the very few feminine stage managers of the theater is Elizabeth North of New York City, who manages the stage "props" for "Broadway," New York success. At one time she was a private secretary during the day and stage manager at night, but says she has left the secretary job to give her whole time to the stage. She plans to take an intensive course in interior decoration and architecture as related to the stage that she may have a complete technical mastery of stage craft to fit her to be a producer.

RIN-TIN-TIN AT AMERICAN

"Tracked by Police" Opens Three-day Engagement.

"Tracked by the Police," Rin-Tin-Tin's latest starring vehicle for Warner Brothers, directed by Ray Enright, records the courageous fight of a dog hero to save not only one of the greatest reclamation projects in the United States but also his friends engaged in building it. With a splendid cast including Brown Faire, Tom Santschi, Nanette, Dave Morris, Theodore Lorch, Ben Walker and Wilfred North, Rinty is said to depict the most sympathetic and thrilling role of his career.

The story deals with the construction of a great dam and desert irrigation project. For the beautiful exteriors the company journeyed to Yuma, Arizona, using the Laguna Dam and reclamation project across the Colorado river as a setting.

Rinty is seen as the dog of a young foreman in love with the daughter of the superintendent. She is also the subject of dishonorable interest of another foreman who has been bribed by a rival construction company to place all the obstacles possible in the way of the work, so that the company would be forced to abandon it, because Rinty has foiled many of these attempts, the plotters determine to get him. The superintendent is disabled in a mysterious accident, and when the young foreman takes his place a heinous scheme to put him and Rinty out of the way leaving the girl and the dam unprotected, is hatched. The way by which the schemes of the bad men are coped with by the wonder-dog make thrilling melodrama and gives Rinty an opportunity to display his uncanny brilliance as never before.

Rin-Tin-Tin in "Tracked by the Police" comes to the American theatre today for a run of three days.

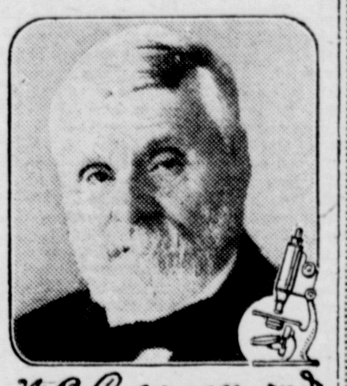
Dr. Caldwell's 3 Rules Keep You Healthy



W. B. Caldwell M D
AT AGE 83

I Qhave been watching the results of constipation for 47 years, since I began the practice of medicine back in 1875, and though from time to time the medical profession makes some wonderfully interesting experiments and tests, the fundamentals of causes and relief in this common ailment are unchanged.

No matter how careful people are of their health, diet and exercise, constipation will occur from time to time regardless of how much one tries to avoid it. Of next importance, then, is how to treat it when it comes. I believe in getting as close to nature as possible, hence my remedy for constipation, known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a mild vegetable compound. It can not harm the most delicate system and is not a habit forming preparation. Syrup Pepsin is pleasant-tasting, and youngsters love it. It does not gripe. Thousands of mothers have written me to that effect.

Recently there has been a new wave of drastic physics. Calomel, a mercurial that salivates and loosens teeth, has been revived; salts which draw vital fluids from the body and thin the blood, causing rheumatic aches and pains; coal tar (phenolphthalein) disguised in gum or candy form, that poisons and irritates the tissue of the stomac, intestine and bowel, causing skin eruptions. In a practice of 47 years I never saw any reason for their use when a medicine like Syrup Pepsin will empty the bowels just as promptly, more cleanly and gently, without griping and damage to the system.

Keep free from constipation! It robs your strength, hardens your arteries and brings on premature old age. Do not let a day go by without a bowel movement. Do not sit and hope, but go to a druggist and get one of the generous bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Take a teaspoonful that night and by morning you will feel like a different person. The cost is only about a cent a dose. Use Syrup Pepsin for yourself and members of the family in constipation, biliousness, sour and crampy stomach, bad breath, no appetite, headaches, and to break up fevers and colds. Always have a bottle in the house, and observe these three rules of health: Keep the head cool, the feet warm, the bowels open.

EAST LIVERPOOL—AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

THURSDAY, MAY 26, 1927.

Mayor's Salary Reduction

Fate of the councilmanic ordinance providing a reduction from $1,800 to $1,200 in the annual salary of East Liverpool's chief executive rests in the hands of Mayor Ralph C. Benedum. Whether he shall sign, veto or permit the proposal to become a law without his signature will be decided within ten days.

The legislative measure, enacted by a vote of 5 to 2, is the outgrowth of a movement which began during the administration of Mayor Charles Brown, who vetoed the plan. A few months ago the proposal was again introduced, but council defeated it. Then followed the movement for the submission of an initiative ordinance, petitions for which are now in circulation.

The consensus of opinion seems to be that the salary should be cut. This sentiment has increased since the establishment of the municipal court, which relieved the mayor of police court work. The only question, apparently, is the amount of the stipend. The initiative proposal provides for $600, while some citizens have urged as low as $300.

Council's enactment of the $1,200 salary measure, a compromise on the wide divergence of opinion as to a fair compensation for the office, places the issue squarely before Mayor Benedum. He should win friends by signing the measure. Otherwise, East Liverpool electors will pass judgment upon a $600 proposal at the November election.

"We"

Entertaining extract from Capt. Lindbergh's account of his air voyage to Paris:

"All the way up the American coast to Newfoundland we had uncommonly good weather—lots better than we expected. But for the next 1,000 miles it couldn't have been worse for us. After we got away from land, we ran into fog, then into rain, then hail. Sometimes we flew not more than 10 feet above water, sometimes 10,000 feet."

"When Lindbergh says 'we,' he means the ship and himself," explained Ambassador Herrick to the puzzled correspondents.

It's amusing, and tremendously human, with an element of pathos. Alone, Lindbergh thought of the "ship" itself as a companion. There were the two of them, roaring bravely through the cold and wetness and darkness, toward their distant goal. His personification of the airplane endows it with life. You feel an instinctive sympathy for that plane, pelted with sleet and blinded by fog, and you feel admiration for its endurance.

In another sense, Lindbergh seems to identify the plane with himself. The two are one mechanism, one mind and spirit. No wonder they succeeded. The man who feels like that about his horse, his automobile, his business, is pretty sure to arrive.

Oklahoma And Mexico

A curious situation is said to exist in the Oklahoma oil fields.

The plentitude of oil in the United States and the low prices of gasoline and other petroleum products are attributed to overproduction in that state. Everybody is puncturing the oil-bearing rock and pumping the oil out.

Wherever a new field is found, everybody rushes in to help empty it. Wherever a productive well is drilled, some neighbor drills another as close to it as possible. Supply exceeds demand. Producers and refiners have to cut prices to unload their stock.

So the oil producers, of all people, are now turning conservationists. They know the oil shouldn't be drawn out and wasted that way, but they are not able to agree among themselves on a program of restricted output. So they want the government to step in and do the restricting and conserving for them.

The curious phase of it is that Mexico has been trying to do the same thing with oil deposits in that country, eking out the supply to meet national requirements for as long a period as possible, instead of squandering the whole supply at once. And that has been bitterly condemned by American oil interests.

Nations' Names

"Don't call us 'Latin-Americans,'" says Federico Alfonso Pezet of Peru, formerly ambassador from that country at Washington and now representative of chambers of commerce and trade associations of Peru. "We don't call you Anglo-Americans. Call us South Americans or Central Americans, or better still, speak of us as Peruvians or Chileans or Bolivians. We have our own national individualities just as you and the Canadians have."

One reason why we of the northern continent of the Western Hemisphere refer to our southern neighbors as one great group is that we are sadly ignorant of the individual characteristics, racial origins, histories and civilizations of those various South American nations.

Pezet and other educated South Americans know much more about us than we do about them.

There are enough women voters in England now to rule the country, if they hang together. The men will continue ruling.

HURTING NOBODY'S FEELINGS

One of the well-known citizens of our Republic, who has an occasional lapse, is inclined to roam at such times through the great city of New York where he resides. Tracing him is difficult, because he breaks in a new circuit of illicit saloons and clandestine souse-parlors with each expedition. He regards these trips as educational in the study of human nature, but is silent on the worth of the varied bombardment of bootlegged goods over the bar.

A recent excursion took him into a neighborhood which his pursuers lit on by the veriest chance.

"How in blazes did you ever come to pick out an awful dump like this?" exclaimed the chief of staff with a show of indignation.

The explorer looked surprised.

"Why slight any of them?" he asked.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY
By O. O. McINTYRE

PARIS, May 26.—This afternoon I went out in search of George Ade who arrived here from Egypt yesterday. I seemed to be about four soda water fountains behind him and wound up at the Dome in the Latin quarter at a table thegarcon informed me the humorist had just vacated.

"He had a glass of vichy water, seemed bored and departed," he explained. The usual crowd was on the terasse of the Dome—the mannish lady with a monocle, art students in blue and wine colored smocks, silbouette cutters, dreamy eyes poets, ink stained scribblers of pot boilers, near sculptors with Jo Davidson whiskers, pale models of the garrets and such.

Across the street at the Rotonde and the Select were the same odd types. All seeking to express the artistic urge cubistically or otherwise. Indeed, in the main, a glorious collection of good natured, likable and harmless nuts. The same assortment that used to be found in Greenwich Village.

The Latin Quarter is the same as it was a year ago or ten years ago save for a new sartorial note. It has tired of velveteen jackets and flowing black bow ties. A number have gone back to the Louis XV period and are appearing as silk calved courtiers.

Two of them, with powdered hair, occupied a table on the outer edge of the sidewalk at the Dome. Montnarnasse coiffeurs announce they are equipped to powder hair—price four francs. Tailors on boulevard Saint-Germain are showing frilled shirts silk stockings and silver buckled pump.

Even the fashionable male tailoring salons along Faubourg St. Honore are showing short silk pantaloons for full evening clothes. I am told they have been worn at the Ciro Friday night and the Ritz Sunday night dinner dances but I have not seen them.

It will be a blow to the Sioux City drug store cowboys who have stocked up with the bell mouthed trousers. At the Dome I saw something entirely new in begging. A tattered old lady leading a miserable little boy stopped in front of my table. She screeched at the child: "Pleurer pour l'homme!" And the urchin began to weep. He cried me out of a ten franc note.

Later I ran across George Ade in that long labyrinth of glittering show cases in the Ritz. Ade called it the "Alley of Temptations." It is," he said, "the place where husbands should put blinders on their wives."

No person seems so symbolic of his calling as the Parisian funeral coach driver around the Madelaine. There is a touch of grief to his cockade hat and frayed overcoat. His jowls hang lugubriously and he appears to have a perpetual lump in his throat. Then there are the professional mourners who stand about the curbs in long black coats, smoking their pipes, ready to swing off behind the hearse in the long walk to the cemetery. They lend their leaden presence to the mourning for eight francs per funeral—or about 30 cents.

Then, too, are the old women balloon vendors who stand at the gates of the parks and gardens with their tugging blurs of color. Their personality is that of a mould on a pat of butter. I have watched them for years and never have I seen one of them make a sale.

In one of the smartest restaurants in Paris for dinner this evening an American negro in full evening dress entered with a blonde young woman fashionably attired. He was ebony black and she was as fair as a lily. The head waiter with a flourish seated thew at a prominent table in the middle of the room. They seemed agreeably welcome.

In the same restaurant was Mrs. Jean Nash, publicized as the best dressed woman in the world. She was with her husband—the dashing young Dubonnet. She was in a simple blue gown and dazzled with diamonds One could find hundreds of more beautiful and more becoming dressed women in New York at the same hour. Mrs. Nash happened to be good newspaper copy. Hence her fame, such as it is.

Below my hotel window is a garden, abloom with multi-colored flowers and slit with cool graveled walks. Under huge umbrellas, festooned with lights, are gay crowds having an after theater bite. The soft blue sky seems a starry mesh. And despite all the beauty and froth, one cannot help but sense the ugliness and depravity that all. I do not see how a normal American could be content here permanent-exist here. That somehow spoils it ly.

Why "90%" Are Still Suffering.

It is a glorious thing to awake with a lively, healthy, energetic body. It is a misery to drag an aching, tired, weary body from a restless, sleepless bed. W. K. Holland, Harlingen, Texas, thus: "I bet that 90% of those suffering from kidney irregularities never take anything for kidney regulation until it is too late, whereas Foley Pills diuretic would be a god-send to them, as they have been to me." A reliable, valuable medicine, constantly in use over 25 years. Ask for Foley Pills, diuretic. Sold everywhere.

HASKINS' LETTER
By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

WASHINGTON, May 26—The first cruise of the first floating university that took between four and five hundred youths of both sexes on a leisurely tour around the world and gave them the equivalent of a year's college work has but recently been concluded. Already plans are afoot for two such universities, and possibly three, for the next collegiate year. The year following, it is predicted, there will be at least five, and no limits are set as to the ultimate developments of this innovation in education.

The time may not be far distant when each of the larger universities of the country will include in its curriculum a similar world tour open to a limited number of its students each year, or when a youth may matriculate and take a four-years' course in and get his degree from a university that has no campus other than the bounding main and the decks of a modern steamship.

Some five or six years ago three college professors in New York conceived the idea of the floating university and broached it to a practical steamship man. He was not interested. He could not see it as a business proposition and not being an educator his imagination was not fired with that phase of the idea, which was fundamental.

Not to be discouraged, the professors took the matter up with the shipping man a year later and kept after him more or less persistently for another twelve-month. A year after that, the man of the sea made a trip abroad in the course of which he gave considerable thought to the floating university idea, and came home completely sold on it. It was his turn, then, to go to the professors, which he did, and plans were formulated that went to pot, so the story goes, because the educators could only agree to disagree when their dream was about to be realized.

A Flier in Education.

Thereupon the hard-headed business man decided to take a flier in education on his own account, to the extent of ascertaining whether students could be secured for a modern improvement upon the peripatetic school of Aristotle, who instructed his students while walking about the Lyceum. To his surprise, and to the amazement of those who knew about the undertaking, he signed up considerably more than a million dollars' worth of business in an incredibly short space of time.

The financial success of the first floating university was thus assured. That it has proved an educational success is attested by the students who made the cruise, and by the fact that, as stated, two such enterprises and possibly three are assured for the coming year. Educators all over the country are interested and are advising young men and women who can to give a year to this departure in education and applications for enrollment are said to be coming in so rapidly that the weeding out process has already begun.

Briefly stated, the floating university is this: A modern steamship is provided that affords accommodations for 450 to 550 students and a faculty of from 40 to 60 members, with ample class-room facilities. The courses offered include art, astronomy and navigation, biology, botany, ancient and modern languages, economics, education, English, georgraphy, geology, history, journalism, mathematics, political science, psychology and philosophy, sociology and anthropology, and public speaking. Students may take the courses which they need preparatory to entering college or a university or for credits on their college or university requirements.

The steamship sails from New York in September and returns to that port the following May. It proceeds to Havana, then through the Panama Canal, to Los Angeles, Hawaii, Japan, China, Indian Ocean ports, through the Suez Canal, and after visiting various European and African cities crosses the Atlantic to the home port.

Students elect the studies they wish to pursue and are expected to carry the same amount of work that they would in a prep school or college or university. The ship does not carry laboratories with elaborate equipments, so courses in chemistry, physics, and the like, are not offered.

Shore Trips Supplement Class Work.

"In addition to the regular academic work which will be carried on while the ship is at sea," says the announcement of one of the schools, "the trips ashore will be conducted on the project plan, designed to stimulate the spirit of intelligent observation and promote individual development. The details of the itinerary are not a set program as in a tourist trip. They are arranged in cooperation with the educational, economic, and government bodies in each country. There will be receptions in foreign countries extended by universities and other important groups; detailed study of museums, excavations, and political, economic, and special institutions in the various countries; local investigations leading to an intelligent understanding of the history, philosophy, and contemporary life of the important nations of the world; an effort to coordinate the knowledge gained in the classroom with the observations of travel."

The shore trips, it is explained are organized into small groups of from ten to twen studens, each with a member of the faculty in charge, and each with an individual objective according to the special interests of the various students. Numerous inland trips are arranged from each of the more important ports touched, and groups are given a choice of the places to be visited. One school plans to spend six weeks next year in touring continental Europe by train and visiting such capitals as Brussels, Berlin, Vienna, and Paris.

In addition to study, sightseeing and discipline, special attention is given to the health of the students. In the first place, no student is enrolled who can not pass an exacting physical examination, and then on board ship there are physicians, surgeons, dentists, and nurses, and all the paraphernalia of a modern hospital. Gymnasiums, swimming pools, and deck games afford the needed exercise, and social diversions are carefully arranged and supervised.

One of the two schools that will "shove off," as they say in the Navy, next September will be coeducational and one will be for boys and men only. The question as to whether the coeducational system is desirable for the floating university is said to have been found identical with the same question as applied to schools on shore. There are arguments and arguers on both sides.

It is the dream of most boys and girls to round out their education by foreign travel. Many of them spend summer vacations abroad and some take a year for the "grand tour" after they have been graduated from their chosen institutions of learning.

Now comes the floating university and offers them a chance to combine study and travel under the most auspicious conditions, and at an expense approximating that of a year at the conventional college or university.

India is taking to harmonicas.

Sciatic - Neuritis

The sciatic nerve, situated at the back of the hip joint is frequently the subject of Neuritis, giving rise to the painful disease Sciatica. The symptoms are intense pains which shoot down the thigh to the foot, often aggravated by walking, and with painful points along the course of the nerve, very tender to the touch.

The trouble is a very obstinate one and does not readily respond to ordinary treatment. It takes more than the usual pain sedative even to alleviate the pain. The best way to get relief from the persistent nerve racking pains of Neuritis is to get a bottle of Allenrhu Special Formula No. 2, which comes in capsule form. Take them as directed and in about 24 hours you should be able to notice that they have considerably reduced, if not almost banished, all pain and soreness. Continue faithfully and in a reasonable time you should be able to work and rest in comfort once again. Mathews Med. Store keeps Allenrhu Special Formula No. 2 in stock all the time and sells lots of it.

Clicquot Club
Ginger Ale
Aged 6 months

—an exclusive, secret process

Only master hands, guided by the skill and experience of many years, can weave its choice flavorings, from the world's best markets, into this unusual product.

Only aging under expert care can give these ingredients, whose quality is higher than the highest government standards, a chance to develop a distinctive flavor. As in well-ripened wines, the bouquet and aroma depend upon aging—upon proper protection from air and light.

Like liquid diamonds, the pure, clear water of the Clicquot spring finds its way into the New England sunlight to become a perfect medium for man's skill in the blending of Clicquot Club Ginger Ale.

In all the world there is only one Clicquot spring and only Clicquot Club can offer this heritage of purity.

It is the result of forty years of skillful working with a natural water which scientists say is peculiarly adapted to the production of a high quality ginger ale. The water of the Clicquot spring combines perfectly with the pure fruit flavors used in its making.

Every time you open a bottle of Clicquot Club—the glowing Golden or the dainty Pale Dry—the combination of Nature's bounty and man's devotion to an ideal offers a refreshing delight.

Clicquot Club is a complete answer to thirst and should be in every home for all occasions.

15 BALLOONS READY FOR DECORATION DAY RACE

CARL WOLLAM NAMED PILOT OF AKRON BAG

East Liverpool Lad Seeks Place in Bennett Contest.

WILL PICK THREE

Van Orman and Morton, 1926 Winners, Will Compete.

C. K. WOLLAM PILOT BEACON JOURNAL

AKRON, May 26.—Decoration Day, 15 balloons, each carrying 35,000 cubic feet of hydrogen gas, arising from the ground at the Cleveland-Akron speedway near Akron, contest for the honor of representing the United States in the first Gordon Bennett international balloon race to be held in this country since 1920. The three balloons traveling the greatest distance in the national elimination race will qualify for the international event to be held at Denver, Colo., in September.

This is the greatest number of balloons ever entered in an American elimination contest. The army has four "bags" in the race, the navy has three, and Akron, Detroit, Los Angeles, Kansas City and St. Louis are represented.

Akron, with three entries, the "Goodyear VII," the "Scripps-Howard" and the "Akron Beacon Journal," hopes to win permanent possession of the Litchfield trophy awarded to the chapter of the National Aeronautic Association whose member wins the national race. The Akron chapter now has two legs on the trophy and a win this year will give it permanent title.

Champion Again In Race.

Ward T. Van Orman and W. W. Morton, of Akron, winners of last year's race international in Belgium again are entered, determined to give the United States another leg on the Gordon Bennett trophy. Three successive victories give permanent possession of the cup. Belgium is the possessor of the first cup, which it won in 1924.

Ballooning isn't an adventure to Ward T. Van Orman, America's champion. A world figure at 31, Van Orman, is a quiet, unassuming chap, who discusses record making flights in the manner most folk would talk of a two or three hundred mile automobile ride. "Two or three flights a year are enough for me," he says, "more than that would be work. I look forward to the races each year with keen anticipation, for each race is entirely different from the last and I enjoy them thoroughly, but a balloon ascension every day would be hard work."

Hazards in ballooning? Van Orman shakes his head. "It's a lot easier and safer to travel in a balloon than to drive an auto in the city," he avers smilingly. He has been interested in ballooning since 1917 when, after being graduated from college, he taught army cadets the science of piloting lighter-than-air craft.

Landed on Ship's Deck.

In the 1925 international race from Brussels, Belgium, Van Orman and his aide, Carl K. Wollam, finding themselves drifting rapidly toward Brazil, across the Atlantic ocean, were forced to land at three o'clock in the morning on the deck of a ship.

Yet, Van Orman doesn't count this his most thrilling experience. "You may thing it queer," he says, "but my most thrilling experience is of a different nature. It came in 1926 Wollam and I became lost in a heavy fog. Our sextant, upon which we depended for ascertaining our location was useless in the dark. Tuning in our radio set I picked up Berlin, Germany, then Bremen, and finally Madrid. By calculation we decided we were on the outskirts of Bremen. Five minutes later, descending below the clouds we found ourselves exactly over the heart of Bremen. That was my greatest thrill!"

He tells also of tuning in concerts from continental hotels which helped pass the lonely hours.

This year six radio stations will broadcast information to the flyers.

In 1906 the Aero club of France was presented with a trophy by James Gordon Bennett, famous New York newspaperman, to be competed for annually in the country holding the cup, between the dates of April 1st and November 1st, by the representatives of the various national clubs forming the International Aeronautic Federation, and to be held permanently by the club winning it three successive times. Balloons entered may not exceed 2,200 cubic meters or 80,00 cubic feet in volume, all contests to be held for distance.

The first of these international races was in Paris, France, in 1906. Sixteen ballons entered and the French were the favorites, since the sport was popular there. More than 250,000 spectators observed the take-off. America's lone entrant, Lieut. Frank P. Lahm of the United States Army, found a current of air which would take him nothward and he landed at Flying Dales, England, victorious after covering 410 miles.

The following race at St. Louis, was won by a German, Oscar Erbsloh. In the 1908 race Colonel Schaeck representing Switzerland, in addition to winning the race remained in the air 73 hours, setting a new world's duration record. For the second time, in 1909, the United States again had but one entrant, Edgar W. Mix, and again the trophy came to America.

Great enthusiasm marked the return of the trophy to the United States and elaborate preparations were made for the fifth race to be held in St. Louis. The American team, composed of A. R. Hawley, H. E. Honeywell and S. Louis Van Phul, landed in the Canadian wilderness near Quebec, after traveling 1,172.9 miles, a new distance record for America, which still stands. Hawley and his aides had been given up for lost. After tramping in the woods for five days they met two trappers, who guided them to the nearest habitation. This race marked the entry of H. E. Honeywell, "dean of American balloonists," who since has been identified with every Gordon Bennett race with the exception of that held in 1921.

As the winning of the 1911 race would give America permanent possession of the cup no pains were spared to make the race at Kansas City a success from the United States standpoint. But Hans Gericke of Germany won the cup although Honeywell, flying as a noncontestant, outdistanced him by about 30 miles.

Another American Winner.

In 1913, an American, Ralph Upson, flying the "Goodyear I" in his first race, won taking advantage of the varying winds at the different altitudes, the value of which older and more experienced ballonists had failed to recognize. He and his aide, R. A. D. Preston, landed on the English shore, clinching the race for America for the fourth time. Ballonists say this was the first "scientific" flight.

From 1914 to 1919, because of the war, the trophy was not competed for.

In 1920 when racing was resumed Belgium won for the first time. In 1921 the trophy went to Switzerland.

Then came the period in which Lieut. Ernest Demuyter, of Belgium, dominated ballooning. In 1922, 1923 and 1924 he won the trophy for Belgium, thus ending competition for the first Gordon Bennett trophy. In 1925 Belgium won a leg on the new trophy.

Taking off during a storm in 1926 Ward T. Van Orman and W. W. Morton covered 528 miles, landing in Solvesborg, Sweden, and the trophy returned to the United States.

The twelfth contest in 1923 was the most disastrous in the history of the race. High winds and electrical storms made conditions the worst ever experienced in competition for the trophy. A heavy rain was falling. Five ballonists were killed and five others seriously injured.

Elaborate preparations are being made for the elimination race in Akron. An extensive program of aerial events as well as the big race itself is scheduled. One hundred planes participating in maneuvers, two dirigibles circling above the field, parachute jumps and sham battles are featured.

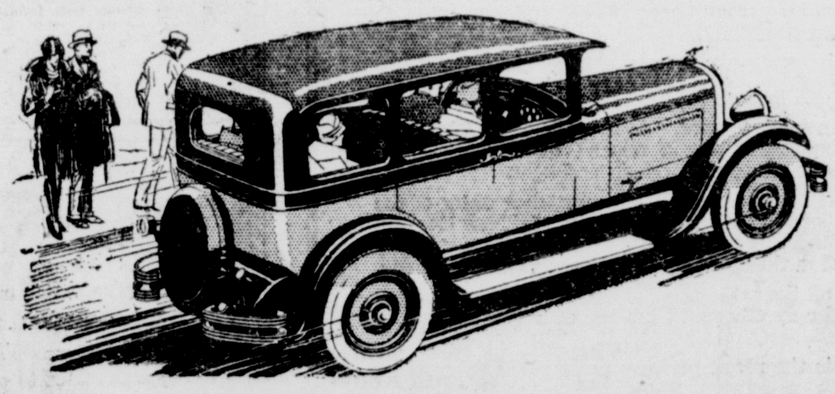
More Glory for Studebaker Commander

Tests show 17¼ miles per gallon



First—5000 miles in 4909 minutes—the fastest going for the greatest distance of any enclosed car in the world or any stictly stock car, open or closed.

Next, in 33 nation-wide hill-climbing contests, The Commander demonstrated its thrilling power over some of the steepest hills in the country.

17¼ miles per gallon!

And now—in 61 tests held all over the United States, The Commander delivered an average of 17¼ miles per gallon of gasoline! In every instance the carburetor was drained and connected to an accurately measured one-gallon container. Each test was carefully checked by motor club officials or newspaper representatives.

And remember, this average of 17¼ miles per gallon was made by a Big Six equaled in rated horsepower by only seven other American cars—and they cost from $4,000 to $10,000! No wonder the Studebaker Big Six outsells the combined total of all other cars in the world of equal or greater rated horsepower.

There is a sound basis for the statement that The Commander is "the greatest post-war achievement in automotive engineering."

The astounding feat of covering 5000 continuous miles in less than 5000 consecutive minutes merely dramatized the thrilling performance, the freedom from repair expense, the peace of mind and economy which all owners of this plus-powered car enjoy.

What Harry Hartz Says About The Commander:

"It is my opinion that The Commander will maintain any given speed, up to 65 miles per hour, longer, more smoothly, and at less expense per hour traveled, for gasoline, oil and repairs, than any other stock automobile now being built in the United States."

Drive The Commander yourself!

Get behind the wheel, step on the throttle and step out in front—try it in traffic for flexible handling—or level out the steepest hills. Any gait of travel suits The Commander—it answers instantly to the spur of its accelerator or the curb of its positive-acting 4-wheel brakes.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, May 26.—Washington dispatches outlining the progress of the southwestern railroad merger plans stimulated active buying of the railroad stocks at the beginning of trading today. So great was the rush for the Nickel Plate rails that two of the sticks in this group jumped 3½ and 4½ points on the initial sales, with heavy trading immediately following.

Nickel Plate's rise to 236 was prompted by expert calculations showing the asset value of the stock at from $250 to $300 per share, depending on market prices of Chesapeake and Ohio, Pere Marquette, Wheeling and Lake Erie, as well as on to correct valuation of the rolling property of Nickel Plate itself.

Chesapeake and Ohio jumped an additional 5 points in the first half-hour, adding a potential 8 points to Nickel Plate's value. Pere Marquette was up about 3 points. The Nickel Plate holdings of this stock amount to 174,000 shares. Erie common and first preferred easily moved upward into the highest price levels of the year.

Of the so-called unattached merger prospects, western Maryland and Chicago Great Western monopolized the center of the stage. Western Maryland is doubtless under accumulation by the big railroad interests, including Baltimore and Ohio, and probably Pennsylvania. The stock sold above 60 today, compared with the March quotation of 13¾. Chicago Great Western preferred raced up to a new high at 41¼ in active trading, with Wall Street still in the dark as to the source of the buying demand.

SPANISH FLYER AND FREIGHT IN COLLISION

Crash Occurs at Pulpi; Almeria Province.

VICTIMS TRAPPED

Passenger Train is Almost Totally Destroyed.

MADRID, May 26.—Fourteen persons are reported dead and twelve are still buried in the wreckage, following a collision between a freight train and a mail train at Pulpi, Almeria province.

First reports said that seven were dead, but later this figure was increased. The passenger train was almost totally destroyed.

CANADA ENDS SOVIET PACT

Britain Reveals 16 Documents Seized in London Raid.

OTTAWA, May 26.—Canada today followed the lead of the British government by formally terminating the trade agreement between Canada and Soviet Russia.

LONDON, May 26.—The British government today issued a white paper containing 16 documents seized in Soviet House, which the foreign office stated illustrate the "hostile activities of the Soviet government and the Third Internationale against Great Britain."

The white paper was the first shot fired in the campaign for ratification of the cabinet decision for a rupture with Russia, which is being fought out in the house of commons today.

Included in the white paper was a list of "illegal addresses for communication with the Communist parties in America, Mexico, South America, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, and South Africa, which were found in the possession of Anton Miller, who resisted the police when they sought to take possession of his dispatch box."

three changes in the executive board. Besides Wood, Third Vice-President William Young and Fourth Vice-President Sheldon M. Moore, both of Trenton, retire. Young, a winner two years ago over Driber, was defeated by the latter, while Moore made an unsuccessful race against Cartlidge for the first vice-presidency. Hill, fourth vice-president, is a new man.

Two Officers Unopposed.

Joseph Smith, Philadelphia, was re-elected over James Bailey, Perth Amboy, N. J., in the race for fifth vice-president, while Frank Hull, East Liverpool, defeated Lawrence Calder, New Castle, Pa., formerly of East Liverpool, in the contest for seventh vice-president.

T. M. Woods, Sebring and John D. McGillivray, East Liverpool, were unopposed for sixth vice-president and secretary-treasurer, respectively.

The officers-elect will be installed at the 37th annual convention of the Brotherhood which will open in the Odd Fellows' hall, New York avenue, Atlantic City, on July 1.

Less than 17 per cent of the 7,500 members of the Brotherhood voted, officials said.

Wood Held Office 27 Years.

President Wood, a charter member of Local Union No. 9, Kilnmen, has been an officer in the brotherhood since 1900, when he was elected treasurer at a convention held in Wheeling. He held this post until 1907, with the exception of about three months in 1903.

Offices of secretary and treasurer were combined in 1907, the late Edward Menge being named to this post when Wood was elected seventh vice-president. When T. J. Duffy resigned as president of the brotherhood in 1911, Menge succeeded him and Wood took Menge's old place. He held this position until 1921 when he succeeded Menge who resigned the presidency because of ill health.

John D. McGillivray, who had been seventh vice-president, then became secretary-treasurer.

Wood joined the brotherhood in 1892 when the Kilnmen's local was formed. This was two years after the N. B. of O. P. had been organized.

Duffy, the president-elect, is a brother of T. J. Duffy, and a member of Local Union, No. 76, and is employed by the Buffalo Pottery company at Buffalo. He is a turner by trade. He moved to Buffalo about four years ago, when he resigned his position at the Hall China company's No. 2 plant.

The president-elect will move his family to East Liverpool this summer before he takes office. Wood has made no definite plans for the future.

Wheeling Revokes Daylight Saving.

WHEELING, W. Va., May 26.—Daylight saving time will end here Sunday 2 a. m., and Eastern Standard time will become effective. A referendum, on May 12, caused city council to revoke the daylight savings ordinance passed two years ago.

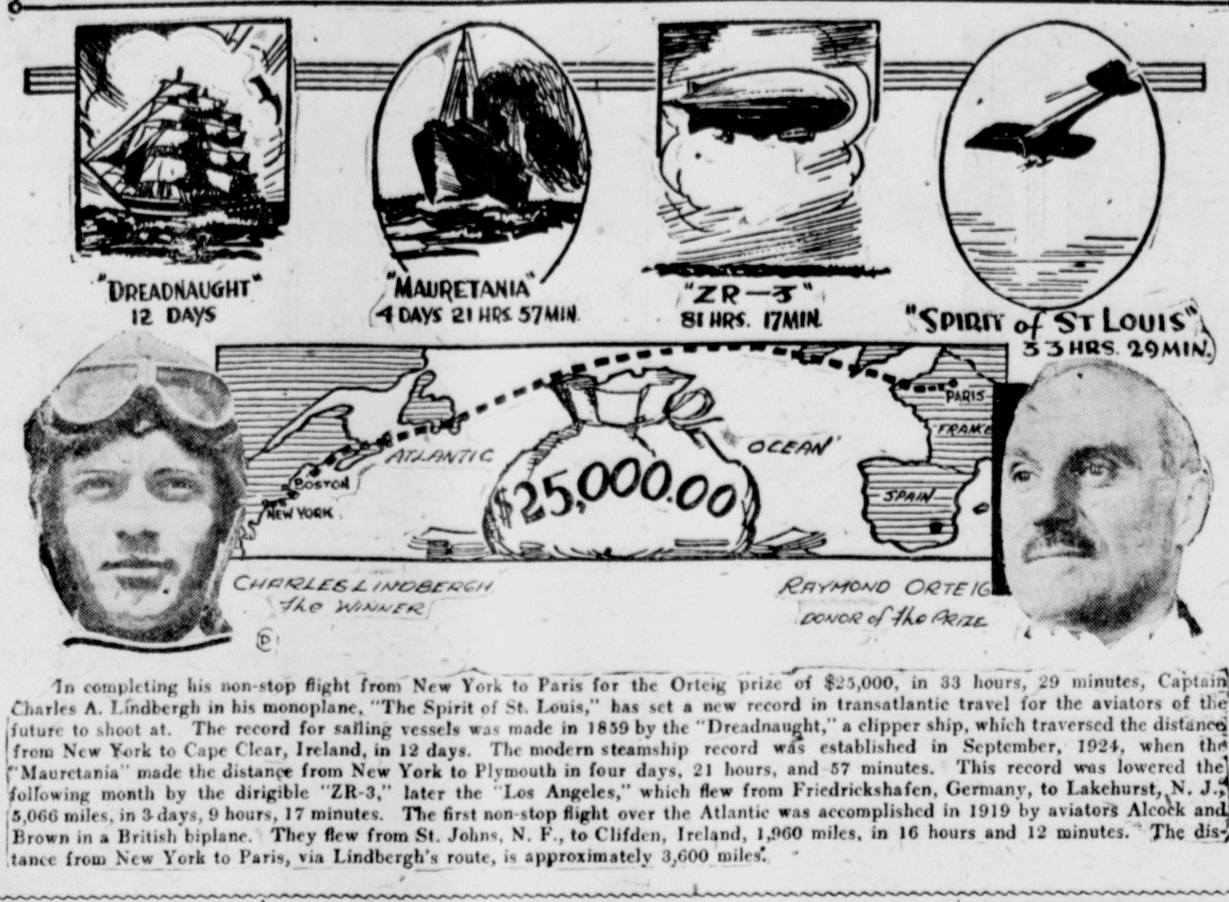
LINDBERGH ADDS NEW MARK TO TRANSATLANTIC RECORDS



In completing his non-stop flight from New York to Paris for the Orteig prize of $25,000, in 33 hours, 29 minutes, Captain Charles A. Lindbergh in his monoplane, "The Spirit of St. Louis," has set a new record in transatlantic travel for the aviators of the future to shoot at. The record for sailing vessels was made in 1859 by the "Dreadnaught," a clipper ship, which traversed the distance from New York to Cape Clear, Ireland, in 12 days. The modern steamship record was established in September, 1924, when the "Maurctania" made the distance from New York to Plymouth in four days, 21 hours, and 57 minutes. This record was lowered the following month by the dirigible "ZR-3," later the "Los Angeles," which flew from Friedrickshafen, Germany, to Lakehurst, N. J., 5,066 miles, in 3 days, 9 hours, 17 minutes. The first non-stop flight over the Atlantic was accomplished in 1919 by aviators Alcock and Brown in a British biplane. They flew from St. Johns, N. F., to Clifden, Ireland, 1,960 miles, in 16 hours and 12 minutes. The distance from New York to Paris, via Lindbergh's route, is approximately 3,600 miles.

SEVEN PERSONS DIE IN STORM

NORFOLK, Va., May 26. — Seven persons were dead today and widespread property damage caused by a sudden tornado-like gale which whipped up suddenly late yesterday and destroyed part of the Norfolk ball park, where the Norfolk and Portsmouth teams were playing.

Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, in the ball park at the time, had a narrow escape. He said it was the worst storm he had ever seen.

A. N. McWilliams, a middle-aged spectator at the game, was killed by a crashing timber, and H. C. Everhart, president of the Norfolk Amusement company, died late from injuries. The others killed were Negro workmen in a warehouse a short distance from the park.

Several score were given first aid treatment at hospitals for minor injuries.

"It looked like an ordinary little dust storm when it started," said Judge Landis, "but there was a real tornado behind it."

Comb Placentia Bay District for Missing Airmen

ST. JOHNS, N. F., May 26.—Exploration of the back country near Swift Current, Placentia Bay, is being made today as the result of the statement of H. Collins and his son that they heard a crash on the morning of May 9, followed by three explosions, which may have been the crash of Captain Nungesser's plane.

Collins said that he did not know until recently that Nungesser's plane was missing. Earlier reports had been received of a plane being heard near Swift Current on the morning of May 9.

Theatrical Producer Weds Divorced Wife Of Frank J. Gould

LONDON, May 26.—Albert De Courville, theatrical producer, and Edith Kelly Gould, divorced wife of Frank J. Gould, were married today at St. Martin's registry office.

Two Seminarians Drowned.

"LUCKY LINDY" ON SCREEN HERE

Pictures of "Lucky's" flight from the time he left San Diego, jumped to St. Louis, thence to Roosevelt Field and to span the Atlantic, will be shown at the Ceramic theatre tonight, tomorrow and Saturday.

The pictures also show the wreck of Rene Fonck's plane, willing of two airmen and the loss of two others in a trial flight, the missing French aviators, Nungesser and Coli, and views of the crash of Commander Byrd's "ship."

King Honors Lindy

lined the curbings of the Champs Elysee, as Captain Lindbergh, accompanied by Ambassador Herrick, and Pierre Godin, president of the municipal council, rode in an open automobile to the city hall where Lindbergh was given the freedom of the city.

It was a striking demonstration, similar only to these seen when France greets royal visitors, with full pomp and ceremony.

Nods Acknowledgements.

Lindbergh, who has become accustomed to more vociferous enthusiasm, seemed greatly moved by the tribute of respect, and with his hat off nodded acknowledgements to the crowds as he drove along.

Double lines of mounted police lined the entire march of the procession, and the crowds were kept well back.

As the procession neared the city hall, which was aflutter with many flags, the ebullience of the French could no longer be restrained and there was prolonged applause.

The awe with which Lindbergh was received today may have been partially due to the fact that many of those who came to see him pass in review were workers, on holiday for Ascension day, who are given to more silent respect than the usual boulevardiers.

Signs "Gold Book."

While the band played the "Marsellaise" and "The Star Spangled Banner", Lindbergh marched into the city hall, where he signed "the gold book", which is reserved for the most important visitors to Paris.

Lindbergh, Ambassador Herrick, and M. Doumer, president of the senate, were seated in huge seventeenth century chairs, while addresses of welcome were made. Under ordinary circumstances only members of the government are permitted to occupy these ancient chairs.

"We salute in you, a worthy son of a noble republic, the United States," said Pierre Godin, president of the municipal council. "The friendship of the nation you represent is one of our greatest prides and our most vivid joys."

Lindbergh listened attentively, but even at the end of five days of listening to words of high praise he is unable to hid his embarassment. He is still a boy, though saluted as a hero.

Songs of Praise.

"After a triumph such as yours, your countrymen can look with a proud smile upon the stars illuminating your flag," said M. Boujou, prefect of the Seine department.

"You bring us unhoped for recompense for the loss of the heroes we mourn who retain the honor of having first attempted the tremendous task you have accomplished," said M. Chiappen, police commissioner. "In our thoughts we will never separate your young and ardent face from the two great figures—Nungesser and Coli."

As these speeches were being made within the city hall, there came murmurings of vocal music from without, where street musicians entertained the crowds who could not gain entry, with songs of praise for Lindbergh, the crowd joining in the chorus.

BOYS IN BLUE ARE HONORED

Civil War Vets Attend Kiwanis Luncheon.

Boys in blue—gray-haired veterans of the Civil war—were guests of the Kiwanis club at a noon luncheon meeting in Larkins' annex today.

Fourteen of the 23 surviving members of General Lyon Post No. 44, Grand Army of the Republic, and Mrs. Harry Logan, secretary, attended the meeting. Each guest received at least two attendance prizes, furnished by members of the club.

Talks were made by Dr. Donald W. MacLeod, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, and Rev. J. A. Armstrong, a member of the post. Dr. MacLeod eulogized the veterans, asserting that "never in the history of the world was there such as response of man-power as came when Abraham Lincoln called for volunteers to preserve the union and the flag."

"I hope the day will never come," he said, "when America will be too busy to forget the debt of gratitude to these men who fought for the preservation of the union."

Dr. W. A. Hobbs, club president, presided. Music was directed by Prof. H. F. Laughlin. Secretary Carl Gruber read a letter from District Governor Howard S. Smith, Dayton, complimenting the East Liverpool club for the "fine showing" made at the divisional meeting held at Steubenville a week ago.

Veterans who attended the meeting were Gideon Standley, Noah Frederick, William Allison, B. W. Haines, William Latham, John A. Armstron, Isaac Burlingame, Benton Kirk, Joseph Webber, John Smith, Levi Hamilton, W. K. Keorge, John Cullen and James Ballentine.

Flood Relief Fund Hits $14,206,488.

WASHINGTON, May 26.—The flood relief fund of the American Red Cross climbed to $14,206,488 today.

H. S. Firestone Sends Baby Hippopotamus To White House

WASHINGTON, May 26.—President Coolidges private White House menagerie was increased today by a baby hippopotamus—the gift of Harvey S. Firestone, the rubber magnate.

The president was advised that the newest addition will arrive on June 1. It is about six feet long and stands about thirty inches. The animal was captured on the Firestone plantation in Liberia.

The Liberian hippo prefers dry land to water, the president was advised, and arrangements accordingly have been made for a dry berth for the youngster at the national zoo.

Salvation Army Sends Clothes and Food to Sufferers

Through the efforts of the Salvation Army, 3,000 pieces of clothing collected here and a ton of cereals donated by the W. A. Weaver company, wholesale grocers, have been shipped to the Mississippi river flood sufferers.

Clothing was sent by express, no shipping charges being made by the American Railway Express company. The clothing, packed by members of the Home League women was collected by Rainey Bontempt.

Air Race Across Pacific Will be World's Next Thrill

SAN FRANCISCO, May 26.—An air race across the Pacific will be the next thrill given the world by aviation.

Prospects today were that a pot of gold, so large that it will attract the leading aviators of the world, will await the successful flier who follows the setting sun.

With $35,000 in prize money awaiting the first fliers to make the initial hop to Honolulu, movements were under way today to add additional sums for successful flights to Manila, Australia and the Orient that may total $100,000 or more.

LOS ANGELES, May 26.—A $30,000 prize will be given the first American pilot to fly from Los Angeles to Tokio, Japan, Sid Grauman, motion picture theatre owner, announced today. Grauman stated he and his associates had posted the money with the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce.

PINEDO ABOARD ITALIAN SHIP

Flyer and His Plane Are on Way to Horta.

LISBON, May 26.—The Italian steamer Lucerga has picked up Commander De Pinedo and his plane and is bringing the ill-fated air expedition into Horta, according to a dispatch received here.

De Pinedo was forced down in an attempted flight from Newfoundland to the Azores.

There is some conjecture here as to whether the plane will come through the long tow in the open sea without damage.

WATKINS GUILTY, AWAITS SENTENCE

Albert Watkins, Ridgeway avenue potter, is at liberty under bond today pending passing of sentence by Municipal Judge Hanley upon a charge of unlawful possession of intoxicating liquors.

Mellon Approves Plan to Cut Size Of Paper Money

WASHINGTON, May 26.—The plan to reduce paper money by one-third of the present size was approved today by Secretary of Treasury Mellon.

The present size ar 7 7-16 by 3 1-8 inches will be cut to 6 1-8 by 2 5-8 inches. The bills will be aged three months before being put into circulation. New size dollar bills will be the first issued.

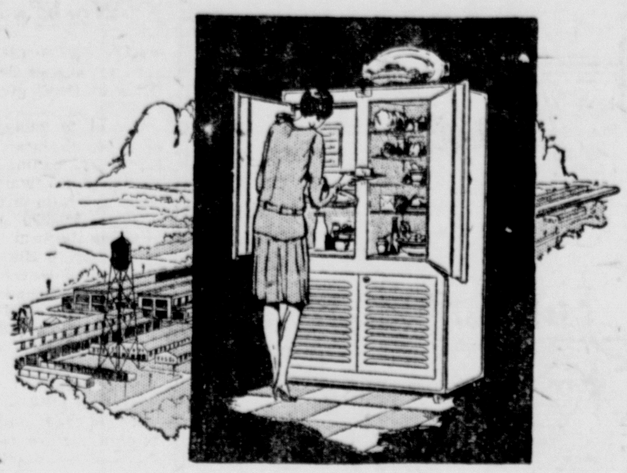
cabinets are built in the Frigidaire factory



—and designed exclusively for electric refrigeration

GENERAL Motors standards are carried out in every detail of Frigidaire construction. Even the cabinets are made in the Frigidaire factory. Each one is steel and finished either in white duco or seamless porcelain. Each has the famous hydrolene-treated insulation that keeps heat out and cold in, thus reducing operating costs to a minimum.

It is this scientific insulation, plus direct frost-coil cooling, that maintains a temperature in Frigidaire 12° colder than you ever thought possible.

Come in and see how easy it is to have this modern, sanitary, care-free refrigeration. A small deposit puts Frigidaire in your home. Then pay a little each month under liberal General Motors terms.

SALINEVILLE IS SCHEDULED HERE

Homer Laughlin China team of the Industrial league is scheduled to cross bats with the strong Salineville squad on the local diamond Saturday afternoon. The game will begin at 3:45.

Tonight the American Billiards are listed to meet Laughlin here in a league contest.

REVIVAL MEETS CONTINUE HERE

Large crowds continue to attend the revival meetings in the Church of the Nazarene where the sermons are being delivered by Evangelist H. C. Dickerson of Ashland, Ky.

Services will be held every night during the remainder of the week including Saturday. Three meetings will be held Sunday.

SCHOOL BUILDINGS WILL BE REPAIRED

Number of minor repairs will be made at the different school buildings of Grant district during the summer recess period which began yesterday when report cards were issued.

Shepherd's Valley and Elwood buildings will be painted on the interior and exterior, while a well will be drilled at the Washington building.

Work is progressing steadily on the new Wells high and elementary school and it is expected to be completed in August.

Fans To Attend Games.

Number of local baseball fans plan to attend the two games Monday in Pittsburgh between the Pirates and Chicago Cubs. The former club is now leading the league as a result of a long winning streak, while the Cubs are well toward the front in the pennant race.

Lodgemen To Meet.

Members of Clark lodge No. 447, Odd Fellows, will meet tomorrow night in the Aaron building, Fifth street. Routine business will be transacted.

To Award Road Contracts.

Members of the state road commission plan to award a number of highway improvement contracts within the next few weeks covering all sections of the state. Recently the commission awarded 13 contracts at one sitting.

EAST END

SPEEDING WORK ON NEW BRIDGE

The Ambridge-Woodlawn bridge costing more than six hundred thousand dollars, will be finished on or before May 30, if weather conditions do not retard concrete work. This announcement was made by Col. J. P. Leaf, one of the Beaver county commissioners, at Tuesday night's meeting of the Rochester Rotary club.

Work on the concrete floor was started this week, Col. Leaf said. If weather conditions are not too bad, 250 feet of the floor will be poured each day until completed on or before Decoration Day. The concrete floor weighs about a ton to the foot and must be put down in sections so the structure will not be thrown out of balance, it was stated. The middle section will be the last poured.

Work on the bridge was started in April, 1926. Col. Leaf said he thought a record has been established in building this bridge.

LODGE MEMBERS TO ATTEND PICNIC

Members of Pennova and Rebekah lodges will attend the annual picnic of Tri-State Odd Fellows which will be held at Rock Springs park on Saturday, June 4.

This outing is expected to be one of the largest held in this section during recent years.

Students Attend Meet.

Number of high school students from this section of the city attended the finals of the county field meet held yesterday at Mount Union. The event was transferred to the Stark county place owing to the poor condition of the county fair grounds at Lisbon.

To Address Graduates.

Rev. J. O. Campbell, D. D., of Darlington, Pa., former pastor of the Second United Presbyterian church, will deliver the address at the annual commencement exercises of the Columbiana high school to be held next week.

Grading Near Completion.

Work of grading the stretch of road at Smith's Ferry has practically been completed by the contracting firm of Allison and Harris. It will connect with the improved section to Midland.

ELKRUN GRANGE TO HOLD SESSION

A special program has been prepared for the next meeting of Elkrun Grange scheduled for next Saturday night.

In addition to the transaction of a number of important business matters, R. M. Patterson, former county deputy master and state grange speaker will talk on the subject, "How Can We Strengthen Our Organization?"

Elkrun grange orchestra that has recently been reorganized will render a number of instrumental selections under the leadership of Harley Morlan. Miss Mary Finney, juvenile matron will give a reading, and Olive McCamon and Edith Smith will entertain with music. Alta Neville will give an address and George Henry will give a banjo and mouth organ number. Mrs. Megsam will give a reading. At no time during the fiscal year has the attendance at a meeting of this Grange been under 100.

TWO MEN FACING LIQUOR CHARGES

Charged with "furnishing" under the state liquor code, John Sutherin was given a hearing before Judge Lodge Riddle Wednesday and entered a plea of not guilty. He was released on his own recognizance for a hearing at a date to be determined. The charge was preferred against him by G. Y. Bayman, a state prohibition officer. Sutherin was represented by Attorney W. W. Beck.

Francis Martino was also arraigned on a similar charge preferred by the same officer. He was held for a hearing under $300 bond which he did not furnish and was committed to the county jail in default.

Marriage Licenses.

A marriage license has been issued to George Eisenman of East Liverpool and Pauline Eisenhuth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Eisenhuth, also of East Liverpool. They were married by the Rev. John F. Dimit, pastor of the East Liverpool Methodist Protestant church.

Harry H. Sivires, Hanoverton, a former resident of Iowa and Loretta M. Webb, also of Hanoverton, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Webb have been granted a marriage license. They are to be married by the Rev. Donaldson.

Alimony Order Issued.

Following a hearing upon the question of temporary alimony in the divorce action filed several weeks ago by Rosella Seibert against James Seibert Sr., the court has ordered the defendant to pay the plaintiff $50 on or before June 15th and in addition to also pay her $25 per month in semi-monthly payments during the pendency of the suit, and until further order of court. In this case the plaintiff sought a decree of divorce, alimony and restoration to her maiden name.

Sent to Workhouse.

A sentence of six months to the Canton workhouse was handed William Seeley by Judge Lodge Riddle after the defendant entered a plea of guilty to a charge of non support. He has also been ordered to pay the costs in the case, and is to stand committed at Canton until the costs are also paid.

Granted Leave to File.

In the case of Frank Snauffer against Francis Kibler, which action has been pending in court since July 6, 1925, the defense has been granted leave of court to file his answer to the petition of the plaintiff on or before June 11th.

Report Approved.

The report of the appraisers has been filed and approved in the case of William J. Wiggers as administrator against John Penkava. The court has issued an order of sale for the real estate, and it is to be sold as upon execution.

IF "ALWAYS TIRED," TRY THIS

A healthy person never feels constantly tired. Being "too tired" continually is a sign of something wrong. Watch your kidneys. If elimination is faulty, take Foley pills, diuretic, a perfect regulator of irregular kidney action. Miss Giddens, of Hayneville, Ala., says: "Foley Pills, diuretic, have been a wonderful help to me, relieving me entirely of weakness that always "too tired" feeling, headaches and nervousness." Men and women everywhere use and recommend Foley Pills, diuretic. Ask for them. Sold everywhere.

CLEAN-UP WEEK!

The week of May 23-28 has been set aside as Clean Up Week in East Liverpool. All residents of the city are ordered to clean up their cellars, back yards and premises at this time. All rubbish collected in this campaign will be removed free of charge.

Street department trucks will visit East End on Wednesday; the Second Ward or all territory east of St. Clair avenue and Broadway on Thursday; Third Ward or all territory between the St. Clair avenue-Broadway line and Jefferson street, Seventh street and Dresden avenue on Friday, and the Fourth Ward on Saturday.

Residents who fail to comply with the clean-up order will be prosecuted.

WELLSVILLE POLICE WAR AGAINST RECKLESS DRIVERS

MAYOR REVOKES LICENSES OF TWO OPERATORS

Alleged Intoxicated Car Owners Face Court.

ONE MAN FINED

Arrests of East Liverpool Motorists to be Made.

Relentless in their intention to make Wells avenue and Lisbon street a "safe and sane" thoroughfare for motorists, mill workers and school children, and others who use the street, Wellsville authorities today continued their campaign against speeding and reckless driving.

As a result of police activities last night several East Liverpool and Wellsville license numbers were jotted down and the owners will be called into court before Mayor W. L. Fogo this week.

In addition to the East Liverpool and Wellsville motorists, Steubenville and Salem numbers were noted.

Police charge the operators with driving with excess speed down the recently improved highway and at times, running around other machines and street cars in a reckless manner.

Licenses of two Wellsville motorists were revoked for the remainder of the year at hearings before Mayor Fogo last night, the stiffest sentences of the kind handed out for some time, in line with the executive's avowed intention to check the practice of driving while intoxicated.

Robert Logan, of Fifteenth and Commerce street, whose license recently was revoked for three months by Municipal Judge Jesse Hanley in East Liverpool, was charged with driving while drunk. His period of suspension begins where Judge Hanley's sentence leaves off and continues until December 31.

Harry Mayhew and Kirby Smith were arrested in Mayhew's auto in McQueen's Run road.

They, according to police, had blocked the road and were refusing to permit other drivers to pass.

Smith was fined $25 and costs and paid, while Mayhew's license was revoked for the remainder of the year.

The arrests were made by Chief of Police John Fultz and Patrolman Edward Pugh.

Bill Daniels, arrested on a charge of disorderly conduct, was fined $50 and costs and committed to Lisbon.

PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kelly, of this city, are visiting with friends and relatives in Seattle, Oregon.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Grafton, Center street, visited in Pittsburgh yesterday.

COMMENCEMENT HERE FRIDAY

High School Graduates to Receive Diplomas.

Senator James T. Begg, of Sandusky, tomorrow night will address 54 Wellsville High school students at the fifty-second annual commencement exercises to be held in the high school auditorium.

The ceremonies will be the final event of a two-week series of school activities prefacing the graduation of Senior class members.

Fifty-four members of the class will receive diplomas but only fifty three will be there to take them personally from the hand of W. R. MacDonald, president of the board of education.

Miss Evelyn Fassett, a graduate, who has been bedfast for almost a week, will be absent when the class goes to the state for the coveted awards tomorrow night.

Miss Fassett, who has taken a leading part in class theatricals and other school activities, became ill last Friday night following the second performance of the senior class playlet, and as a result was unable to attend baccalaureate ceremonies Sunday, the Junior-Senior reception Tuesday and tomorrow night will be absent from the culminating event of the year.

The program for commencement follows:

Overture—High school orchestra.
Invocation—Rev. R. W. Ustick, pastor of the First United Presbyterian church.
Selection—Orchestra.
Address—Senator James T. Begg.
Selection—Orchestra.
Presentation of diplomas — W. R. MacDonald.
Benediction—Rev. R. W. Ustick.
Selection—Orchestra.

OGLE IS GIVEN $200 JUDGMENT

There was a trial to the court in the case of Rodney T. Ogle as administrator against the North Branch Coal company, and Joseph Hannum, superintendent and manager, and judgment for $200 was awarded the plaintiff, and also for costs. A motion for a new trial was waived by the defendant.

The late Rodney Ogle, father of the administrator, sued the company and Hannum in a justice court, and after the plaintiff recovered judgment there, the case was appealed to common pleas court by the defendant. In the meantime Ogle was slain by Roy Wallen, and Rodney J. Ogle was then substituted on order of court as plaintiff and administrator.

The action has been pending since April 28, 1925.

BRIDGE CLUB IS ENTERTAINED

Mrs. Lloyd Saltsman and Mrs. Harry Chapman entertained members of the Tuesday evening Bridge club at Broadway Inn.

Five tables were in play during the evening, awards being made to Miss Martha Connell, Mrs. Clarence Williamson, Irvin Vorndran and Don James.

POSTPONE CITY OFFICERS' MEET

"Get-together" Session to be Held Next Wednesday.

Get-together meeting of all city officials and board members, scheduled for Friday night in the city hall has been postponed until Wednesday, June 1, according to announcement today by Mayor W. L. Fogo.

The session will be held at the call of the chief executive and will bring together city council, service-safety director, city solicitor, auditor, treasurer, police and fire chiefs, Hammond park commissioners, playground commissioners, library board, school board, sinking fund trustees and, in fact, all other officials in any capacity.

The purpose of the meeting, according to the mayor, is to talk over municipal problems and outline plans, if possible, for the most efficient methods of operation.

The meeting was postponed in order not to conflict with the commencement exercises tomorrow night.

DAMAGE SUIT IS SETTLED

Coal Mine Company Accepts Offer of $6,000.

After considerable testimony had been taken in the case of the Stark Coal company, of Salineville, against the Pennsylvania Railroad company, the cause terminated suddenly Wednesday afternoon when the plaintiff accepted an offer of settlement of $6,000. The original petition sought $43,643.24 damages.

About a year ago, it is related, the defendant offered to adjust the case by offering the plaintiff interests $7,500, which was at the time rejected.

Costs in the action are to be paid by the defendant. The journal entry, however, does not show the amount involved in the settlement, the court making the brief entry, "settled at defendant's costs—no record."

When the jury in this case was taken to Salineville to view the premises Monday, the railroad company provided gasoline track cars for the jury to be conveyed to the mines of the plaintiff.

London has a movement to reduce the price of theatre tickets.

SALINEVILLE

What might have been a disastrous fire was discovered in the wardrobe of Miss Alyce Skinner's bedroom, in the home on Lincoln avenue, Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock. Mrs. Charles Kimberley, who occupies part of the Skinner residence, noticed smoke in the house and called her neighbor, Rev. W. S. Martin, who discovered the fire in the wardrobe. With some heavy bed clothes he smothered the flames until Mrs. Orin Wright, another neighbor, got some water. The alarm was given, and the fire truck arrived in a few minutes, as the fire was being extinguished. Two wool blankets and two quilts were nearly burned up.

The origin of the fire was a mystery. Mrs. Kimberley who was just recovering from an attack of sickness was overcome by the excitement and collapsed. Miss Skinner who was at work at the pottery, was notified, and hurried home. The damage is light.

Arrangements have been completed for the memorial service under the auspices of the G. A. R. The service will be held Sunday, May 29, at 7:30 p. m., in the Presbyterian church, the pastor, Rev. W. S. Martin, in charge. The choir of the church will furnish the music. Rev. Ross S. Wilson will read the scriptures, Rev. A. M. Jenkins will offer the prayer and Rev. H. L. Peoples, pastor of the Methodist church, will deliver the sermon. The offering will go to pay expenses on Decoration Day. The Salineville band will lead the procession from the G. A. R. hall to the church. Beside the members of the G. A. R., the Relief Corps, and the American Legion will attend in a body.

Baccalaureate services for the graduating class of the Salineville high school were held Sunday evening at 7:30 at the United Presbyterian church. The program follows: Invocation by Rev. W. S. Martin; solo, 'Rock of Ages,' by John Lewton; scripture, Rev. A. M. Jenkins; prayer, Rev. H. L. Peoples; anthem, by the choir; offerotory, Miss Ruth Lewton; sermon to the senior class, Rev. Ross S. Wilson, pastor of the United Presbyterian church, from the text: John 16:32. The 23 members of the class were present, accompanied by their teachers. A large audience attended. The church was beautifully decorated with ferns and hot house flowers.

The junior class of the Salineville high school entertained the senior class at a banquet recently, in the dining room of the United Presbyterian church, the senior missionary society of the church serving. Covers were laid for 90. Shubert's orchestra furnished the music.

John McBane, a student at Mt. Union college, spent the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. McBane.

HERE IS FIRST INSTALMENT OF STORY OF CAPTAIN LINDBERGH'S LIFE AS TOLD TO REVIEW-TRIBUNE WRITER BY MOTHER

Editor's Note:—This copyrighted story of Lindbergh's life, as told by the young aviator's mother to Miss Bonita Witt of Central Press and Review-Tribune, will be continued in 300-word daily instalments—nine more instalments being scheduled to follow this one.

BY BONITA WITT.
Copyright, 1927, by Central Press Co.

I

It was in 1910 that a wide-eyed youngster, clouching at his mother's hand, watched the daredevil, Lincoln Beachy, swoop down upon six motorcycle riders about to start a race in Washington, D. C., park, so terrifying them that they dropped their motorcycles and fled for cover.

The child who clutched his mother's hand was Charles ("Lucky") Lindbergh, first man to go from New York to Paris in a non-stop flight, the idol of America today.

His mother, Mrs. Evangeline L. Lindbergh, a gracious woman endowed with a Spartan courage that enabled her to teach her classes in chemistry at Cass High school, Detroit, on the day her son began his epochal flight, smiles as she recalls her boy's introduction to aviation.

"That was Charles' first glimpse of an airplane," she says. "Both of us were so impressed with Beachey's performance, we never forgot it."

Seated on the porch of her modest little home on the outskirts of Detroit, where a concrete-walled boat slip, leading to the river, runs past her door, Mrs. Lindbergh told the story of her son's career.

She smiles and laughs now as she relates the humorous aspects of his adventure. But speaking of the long hours when any moment might have brought news of a tragedy, she says, "I couldn't smile, then. On my way to school the day my boy put off, I picked up a paper carrying a statement by an army officer saying that an attempt to make the flight at that time would be suicidal. I couldn't smile after that."

A huge propeller, which Charles broke during a flight, stands in the corner of the Lindbergh porch. Relics from various planes which he has flown occupy honored places in the living room.

Charles was born in Detroit in 1902, later moving with his family to Little Falls, Minn., where much of his boyhood was passed on the family homestead two miles from the town.

MOTHER OF "LUCKY" LINDBERGH

Mrs. Evangeline L. Lindbergh.

His father, Charles A. Lindbergh, a Republican, was prominent in Minnesota political life and served as United States representative from Minnesota from 1907 to 1917.

Thus it was in Washington, D. C., much of Lindbergh's boyhood was passed, the family living in the capital when Congress was in session.

"My boy and I passed many happy hours there and we became very close to each other," Mrs. Lindbergh says. "You see, we didn't care very much for society.

"People were very nice to us and we had many invitations to social affairs. Of course, there were many affairs we had to attend, but most of the dinners we avoided.

"Charles and I loved the out-of doors and we spent a lot of time in the parks. All the worth-while things we took in, but society life didn't appeal to us. Since my husband was busy with his congressional duties, Charles and I did a great many things together."

Charles' schooling was very irregular during his early years, since the family moved to Washington from Little Falls each year when congress was in session, necessitating a change in schools for the boy. Then there were visits to relatives in Detroit and a trip to the west coast. All of which hindered his schooling. Chief of the Detroit relatives is John Lodge, a great uncle of Charles, president of the Detroit city council.

Charles was moved around so much, he attended fourteen schools in all. In between times, his mother tutored him.

Like many other men who have made their mark, Lindbergh wasn't a model scholar. He walked off with honors in the subjects he liked, but in those in which he was not interested he barely passed. If he liked the instructor and believed he was learning something from him Lindbergh applied himself and usually carried off honors.

Lindbergh was more interested in the subject itself than in the mark which would be given him at the end of the semester. If he didn't feel as if he wanted to hand in a report or take a final examination, he didn't do it.

A student who was in Lindbergh's mechanical engineering class says Charles did many more experiments than were required, yet, at the end of the course he neglected to write his reports, since he lost interest once he had mastered all the instructor could teach him. He studied because he wanted to learn, not to please his teacher.

When Charles failed to apply himself at school there was no punishment forthcoming at home, Mrs. Lindbergh says. She considers it useless to try to force a child to take a subject in which he has no interest.

"Charles takes after me, I guess, in his liking for chemistry," she relates. "In looking through his chemistry text books, I find every line about explosives underlined. When Charles makes up his mind he likes a subject he isn't satisfied until he has mastered it."

Mrs. Lindbergh smiles as she says, "I suppose he beats me now when it comes to a knowledge of technical chemistry."

MRS. CARRIE C. CATT

One year ago today a Riff rebel leader in Morocco capitulated and placed himself under French protection. What was his name?

By what name are the scholarships known which enable students of United States universities to study at Oxford university in England?

Ex-Kaiser Wilhelm Hohenzollern of Germany is in exile in Holland. Can you name the place?

"As a jewel of gold in a swine's snout, so is a fair woman which is without discretion." Where does this passage occur in the Bible?

Today's Horoscope.

Persons born on this date are not always capable of remaining agreeable under stress of difficulties, and therefor should guard against explosive anger, which later they have reason to regret.

DINNER STORIES.

Keeping Him in His Place.

There was once an Irish cobbler who had so much work to do that he insisted on taking his shoe repairing work to wakes. It got to be so much talked about that the village people thought they would try to cure him of it. A neighbor pretended to die. The cobbler came to the wake, and, sitting beside the coffin, went on with his work.

"The "dead" man suddenly sat up in his coffin and said severely:

"Faith! don't ye know that ye are not supposed to cobble at a wake?"

There's a Reason!

"I've got a fine job now. It's a cinch. I've got the whole day to myself."

"It must be a snap. What do you do?"

"I'm a night watchman!"

Hired!

A recent college graduate applied in the local butcher shop for a job. The butcher looked him over carefully and then said, "We need an energetic young man to run the slicing machine. Have you ever had any experience?

"I used to play golf."

NEW SERVEL WINS FAVOR

Ohio Power Company Offers Ultimate in Refrigeration.

The Ohio Power company today received another shipment of Servels—the ultimate in electric refrigeration for the home.

The Servel "Duplex," demand for which is heavy, is now available in beautiful new steel cabinets of heavy pressed steel. Servel offers in a series of three new models a really significant advance in electric refrigeration. Every detail in design, construction, equipment and finish has been carefully studied to combine greater beauty and convenience with enduring, economical performance.

Servel employs the coldest refrigerant in domestic use. This non-corrosive liquid — methyl chloride—which actually boils at 10 degree below zero —enables real refrigerating temperatures to be more easily reached and more economically maintained. Ask to see this simple, convincing demonstration of refrigerating efficiency. Water—a dash of methyl chloride — instantly ice! You will understand why, in the Servel system, less refrigerant is needed, less work has to be done—less frequent starting and stopping of the mechanism with consequently less wear and tear on the moving parts.

The new Servel chilling tank is a reservoir of freezing cold. The tank is of the indirect expansion type—the coils submerged in a remarkably efficient solution, calcium chloride, possessing great absorption capacity and permitting positive automatic operation of the pressure control within the system. (No outside electrical devices and supplementary wiring to get out of order.) The tank is compact, of sturdy construction and provides unusually large compartment space for freezing ice cubes, desserts, etc.

All Servel models are equipped with perfected "Duplex" machine, employing a double compressor and double fan. This gives an extremely well-balaced machine with plenty of reserve power. It is smooth and quiet in operation, automatic in every sense of the word and requires no attention other than an occasional oiling. The "Duplex" unit is accommodated in the base of the new steel cabinets. It can, of course, be installed in the basement or other out-of-the-way place and the lower compartment of the steel cabinet made available for bulk storage of vegetables and other supplies.

Letters to Editor

Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy.

Cleveland, O., May 23, 1927.

To the Editor of The Review-Tribune:

The bald statement made by a prominent writer in your May 21 issue that "Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy did not care much for doctors . . " might give your readers quite a mistaken impression of the attitude of the Founder and Leader of the Christian Science movement.

It is only just to Mrs. Eddy to say that although she differed quite fundamentally, both in theiry and in practice, with the medical practitioners, nevertheless she was ever respectful and courteous toward them and their profession; and she called upon them on various occesions for certain corroborative information when the circumstances demanded it.

Allow me to quote some of Mrs. Eddy's remarks published in her textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," which show her attitude toward those of the medical profession:

"Great respect is due the motives and philanthropy of the higher class of physicians. We know that if they understood the Science of Mind-healing, and were in possession of the enlarged power it confers to benefit the race physically and spiritually, they would rejoice with us" (Science and Health, p. 151).

"It is just to say that generally the cultured class of medical practitioners are grand men and women, therefore they are more scientific than are false claimants to Christian Science. But all human systems based on material premises are minus the unction of divine Science. Much yet remains to be said and done before all mankind is saved and all the mental microbes of sin and all diseased thought-germs are exterminated" (Science and Health, p. -64.).

Highs Finish Third In County Meet Finals At Mount Union

WEST COAST DUE AGAIN

Figured to Cop Laurels in Eastern Meet.

PHILADELPHIA, May 26.—Another West Coast triumph seemed to be ordained today as hundreds of college athletes from the East, Middle West and California prepared to go through their final tuning up paces for the annual championship track and field games of the intercollegiate A. A. A. A. The met will get under way tomorrow on what promises to be a heavy track with a series of trials in every championship event except those at one and two miles. The finals will be held on Saturday.

Since for back in the last century, the games have taken place annually and, for years, the championship title was preserved exclusively for the East.

But that time is no more. Only once in the last six years an eastern college has won the championship and by Saturday it is due to go west again to the trophy rooms of Stanford university at Palo Alto. If it doesn't, it almost surely will ride home with the university of Southern California team, the 1926 champions.

However, the Cardinals, pioneers among the Coast invaders, are almost prohibitive favorites to win their first title.

In so doing, they will repeat the triumphs of California in 1921, 1922 and 1923 and the successive voctories of Southern California in 1925 and 1926. In other words, the other California teams have had their turns; now it is Stanford's.

Seek Child's Cup.

NEW YORK, May 26.—The Columbia varsity will not compete in the Stewards' club race in Philadelphia on Saturday, but will row in the Childs cup race against Penn and Princeton on the same day, according to an announcement by Reynolds Benson, graduate manager of athletics at Columbia. Benson said this action was taken because the strain of competing in two races within a few hours would be too great for the young Columbia crew. Princeton also has withdrawn from the Stewards' club race, in which the Navy, Penn, Syracuse and the Penn A. C. probably will compete.

TINY LAD WITH MIGHTY LEAP

Bill Carr, sixteen years old and only five feet, six inches tall, has set a new scholastic high jump record of 6 ft. 3-4 inches, and hopes to better this mark in the interscholastic meet at Chicago June 3-4. One photo shows him standing under the bar placed at the record height. The other shows his form.

BUCS, SOX WIN AGAIN

Pirates Blank Reds, 2-0; Chicago Takes Two From Browns.

By Les Conklin.

NEW YORK, May 26.—Pirates and White Sox are furnishing the fireworks in the pennant races today, the Bucs have stretched their winning streak to seven straight, while the Sox, defying the experts, are rushing to the front in seven league boots in the American league as the Yankees are held idle by rain.

The White Sox took the St. Louis Browns over the rapids twice yesterday by scores of 14 to 8 and 1 to 0, pushing the Brownies all the way from third place to fifth. Although the Sox made only three hits off Ballou and Zachary in the nightcap while Ted Lyons was touched for five bingles, a wild throw gave them the verdict. Chicago now trails the Yankees by only two games.

Carl Mays of the Reds held the Pirates to five hits, but the Corsairs won, 2 to 0, with Carmen Hill turning in his third brilliant performance since he heard rumors that he was to be shipped back to the sticks. The Pirates increased their lead to a game and a half.

Alexander the Great beat the Cubs, his former team, 8 to 5, with the aid of a homer by Bell with the bases loaded, but the Cardinals lost the nightcap, 8 to 4. The Clubs and the Giants are now tied for second place.

CORDS-TURK NASH ON EAST END LOT

The Chester Superior Cords-Turk-Nash City Industrial league contest billed for tonight will be staged at Columbian park.

A force of workmen were sent to the East End lot this morning to clean out the water holes and fill in at various places around the lot to put it in shape for the encounter tonight.

COUNTY MEET SUMMARY

220-yard hurdles—Seeds (Salem), won; Mathews (Salem), 2; Dolan (East Palestine), 3; Calhoun (Wellsville), 4. Time—28 3-5s.

100-yard dash—English (East Liverpool), won; Allen (Salem), 2; Seeds (Salem), 3; Dellers (Columbiana), 4. Time 11s.

Shot put—Collela (East Palestine), won; Cook (East Palestine), 2; Calhoun (Wellsville), 3; Larkins (East Liverpool), 4. Distance—45ft 1½in. (This broke the Columbiana county record of 43ft 11in., established in 1912.)

Discus throw—Older (Salem), won; Kirkham (East Liverpool), 2; Schmid (Salem), 3; Collela (East Palestine), 4. Distance—109ft 4in. (New county record).

Mile run—Perkins (Salem), won; Fleming (East Palestine), 2; Hoover (Columbiana), 3; Swaney (East Liverpool), 4. Time—4m 58 4-5s.

Mile relay—Columbiana won; Salem, 2; Wellsville, 3; East Palestine, 4. Time—3m 47s.

HAYLAKE, England, May 26.—E. H. Haley, the American unknown who has suddenly come into prominence by his defeat of Cyril Tolley in the British amateur golf championship, today defeated Major Keith Thorburn of Sunningdale, three and one.

English, With Three Firsts, in Sprints, Is High Point Man

Local Lad Wins 100, 220 and 440-yard Dashes; Kirkham Second in Discus; Salem, First With 52 Points, Cops Cup; East Palestine Second With 38½; Blue and White Collects 20½.

Salem may have its Allen and Perkins, East Palestine its Dolan and Ross, but the Blue and White of East Liverpool, in Elmer "Elmo" English, has the class of the field, on the matter-of-fact basis of point making as proved at yesterday's 24th annual Columbiana County track and field meet when the local lad piled up a total of 15 points—three firsts—and copped individual honors in a field of contenders as fast as any that has ever competed for county honors.

Salem high won the meet and took permanent possession of the big trophy cup, with a total of 52 points, beating out East Palestine, who ran the Red and Black a neck and neck race until the last couple of events. East Palestine finished with 38 1-2 points; East Liverpool was third with 20 1-2 points; Wellsville and Columbiana fourth with 15 each and Lisbon fifth with two.

The meet was staged at Mt. Union stadium, Alliance, having been transferred suddenly yesterday morning when officials of the county association ascertained, after a survey, that the Lisbon fairgrounds would be impossible.

The Mount cinder track was in fair condition, and although affording a fairly firm footing, was, nevertheless, below par and slowed up sprints time somewhat.

All but five and one-half of the 20 1-2 points made by the Blue and White to finish third were collected by Elmer English. The local lad breasted the tape a full stride ahead of Allen, of Salem, in the 100-yard dash, negotiating the distance in 11 flat, the time being at least two-fifths slower than that of which he is capable.

In the 220-yard dash, English ran almost by himself, finishing fully 15 yards ahead of the entire field. He got off to a great start, picking up his stride probably five yards ahead of the other runners.

Having drawn an outside track on the Mount quarter-mile runway, English headed straight for the pole and kept it, rapidly lengthening the distance between himself and his pursuers.

After these two straining events, English again responded in the 440 and this event probably was the outstanding track competition of the afternoon.

The first four men, English, Rush of Salem, Zellers of Columbiana and Campell of Salem, in order, finished within five steps. English again drew an outside track but by a superb bit of sprinting got to the pole in third place at the first turn. English, Campbell and Rush bunched it all the way to the final turn when the local lad pulled up and drew out in front by less than a step. A distance of probably six inches represented the margin of victory at the tape.

Two new county records were shattered in competition and a third was surpassed in exhibition which, however, will not count against the former mark.

According to form, Colella, of East Palestine, put the shot a distance of 45 feet, 1 1-2 inches, Dick Larkins, of East Liverpool, with a better than 40-foot toss, finishing fourth.

Older, of Salem, sent the discus skimming for a distance of 109 feet, four inches, the previous mark being 108 feet, 11 3-4 inches, made in 1925 by Schafernocker, of East Palestine. Kirmham, of East Liverpool, finished second in this event.

Colella, in the shot, shattered a record that has stood since 1912 when Hum, of Lisbon, put the 12-pound ball 43 feet, 11 inches.

"Mutt" Roessler, of Salem, pressed his team mate, "Rib" Allen, for pole vault honors, the pair tying at 11 feet, 8 inches in official competition.

However, after the event had been closed, Allen, in an exhibition trial, vaulted the bar at an even 12 feet.

Conditions at the jumping and vaulting pits were far from being good, however, which probably handicapped the efforts of all contenders.

Perkins, of Salem, performed well to win both the half mile and the mile events. In neither case was the record in danger.

856 ENTRIES FOR NATIONAL OPEN

NEW YORK, May 26.—It was announced today by the United States Golf association that a total of 856 entries would enter the sectional qualifying rounds for the national open golf championship, with only 110 places in the round available. The sectional rounds will be held on June 6 in seventeen districts, with the survivors and the forty exempt players going into the championship proper at the Oakmont Country club, Pittsburgh, on June 14.

Those exempt include the 28 professionals who finished in the first 32 places at Columbus last year, and Bobby Jones, the winner, Chick Evans and Harrison Johnston, amateurs, and the nine visiting British pros.

The cities in which the qualifying trials will be held include Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Richmond, Atlanta, Dallas, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Detroit, Chicago, Minneapolis, St. Louis, Kansas City, Denver, Los Angeles, San Francisco and Seattle. Chicago leads in entries with 115, followed by Pittsburgh with 113 and New York with 111.

Many homes are being constructed in the Dominican Republic.

Modern smokers demand quality and put Camel first

THIS experienced age knows the good tobaccos it demands in a cigarette. And it has made Camel the greatest leader any age has ever known.

Camel's choice tobaccos and its blending for smoothness and mellowness have made it supreme with modern smokers. Camel today is world favorite, because of quality.

Camel was made to succeed in an age that knows merit. Just try Camels and you'll know why no other cigarette can compare with them. Let the choice of the modern world show you what smoking enjoyment can really be. "Have a Camel!"

Tilden-Rodel Match.

STADE FRACISE, ST. CLOUD, France, May 26.—After a day of leisure William Tilden today meets the French No. 10, M. Rodel, in the French hardcourt tennis championships.

Rodel yesterday defeated Craig Biddle of Philadelphia, 6-1, 6-2, 10-8, James Van Alen, former Harvard star, is matched to play the Englishman, Lester, today and Sidney Wood, the fifteen year old New York wonder, will face the South African ace, Condon.

DEMPSEY IS 'OLD - TIMER'

Ex-champ 'Has Been' Says King Gene Tunney.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, May 26.—Jack Dempsey has been relegated to the ranks of the "old timers" through Sharkey's rise to sudden prominence, Gene Tunney declared in a statement to the writer today, hard upon his scheduled departure for a seance of early training at Speculator, N. Y. He further intimated that, in his opinion, the knockout of Maloney by Sharkey has rendered Dempsey's proposed return to the ring a matter of comparative unimportance.

"It really doesn't make so much difference to boxing now whether Dempsey returns or not," the champion declared. "If he decides to retire, he will have one of the most eligible of challengers contending for the title and the game will not be the worse for Dempsey remaining in California.

"He has ceased to be a prime factor in the success of the heavyweight tournament. In fact, Sharkey's great fighting has just about relagated Dempsey to the ranks of the old timers."

Tunney made his statements quite casually and with apparent unconcern for the fact that they dealt with a man who, at this time last year, was regarded as the greatest heavyweight champion the world had known, or something. It seemed possible that Dempsey's reputed statement, since denied, that Sharkey would knock out Tunney may have ranled in the champion's mind.

Admits Jack Can Hit.

However, he was willing to admit that a Dempsey comeback would leave no doubt as to the identity of the best challenger available.

"Jack is a great hitter and a great hitter always has a chance," Tunney added. "Dempsey will be dangerous every moment he is in the ring. But Sharkey will be dangerous, too, and don't forget he is young and fast and a smart fighter. That's a great combination to tie to."

Tunney will take only Eddie Eagan, former inter-collegiate heavyweight champion while at Yale; Frank Muskie, of St. Paul, and Lou Fink, his trainer, with him when he leaves town tomorrow. It may be a week before he settles down to boxing, he said. In fact, he indicated that he would box only occasionally.

"Just to keep my eye in," he explained. But when he settles down to the serious grind of championship preparation it will be boxing, boxing, boxing all the way. He doesn't hesitate to say that he plans to match speed with speed against Sharkey. The champion thus sharing the common impression that it will be the 24-year-old and not the 32-year-old Jack who will be the ultimate contender.

"It is too early to make even tentative plans for such a fight," Tunney said in parting. "But in meeting a man like Sharkey, you must outspeed him or you are lost. That would be the only course open to me."

Tunney to Defend Heavyweight Title In Sesqui Stadium

NEW YORK, May 26.—The bout between Gene Tunney and the winner of the Jack Dempsey-Jack Sharkey fight probably will be held in the sesqui-centennial stadium in Philadelphia, according to indications today. Although Promoter Tex Rickard denied this, it is known that Philadelphia city authorities have offered him the stadium. Furthermore, Rickard and his matchmaker, Jess Mahon, will leave here tomorrow on a mysterious trip which it is believed will take them to Philadelphia.

Bulgers are Toppled By Johannes Nine In Slugging Game, 25-16

Heimies soft ball club today stands as undisputed leaders of the Review-Tribune Recreation League race as a result of the initial downfall of the Bulger Drugs, who toppled before the Johannes Drugs in a slugging match last night on the Northside diamond. Adding machines and expert accountants were called into service to compute the final score, 25 to 16.

As a result of their defeat the Bulgers fell back to third place, with four wins and one loss and the Johannes Drugs move up to second place with five conquests and one defeat.

While runs were plentiful in the Northside contest, hits and errors were in keeping with the situation.

The Bulgers got 19 hits off Todd, two more than the Johannes nine got, but 18 errors by the down town pharmacists were about 15 too much for any hope of winning.

Bucher and Herbert, of the Johannes combine, were up to their old tricks again, each clouting a homer.

The Northsiders scored twice in the first frame and four more in the second, the Bulgers counting two in the second, another in the third and four in the fourth to make the count 9 to 7, with Johannes getting three in the fourth. Bulgers went ahead in the fifth with a five-run rally, as the Northsiders got one. The Johannes nine rallied sharply in the seventh to score five runs while the visitors went scoreless in the sixth and seventh, the count standing 15 to 12 in favor of the Northside team at the beginning of the eighth.

Johannes made the tally 17 to 12 in the first of the eighth, but Bulgers came back to score four runs and the margin dwindled to 17-16.

The climax came in the ninth, however, when the home squad went around the sacks eight times.

The Bulger miscues were due chiefly to the fact that Jack Bromby, Earl Reese, Lawrence Reese and Paul White were among the absentees at last night's tilt.

Lindbergh Pictures top A-1 Bill at Ceramic

With pictures of Captain Charles Lindbergh's start of his epochal nonstop flight from New York to Paris and a high class vaudeville offering—The Seven Flashes, four men and three women in "School Day" comedy characters—as well as a screen feature, Gene Stratton-Porter's "Magic Garden," the Ceramic theatre today opened an extraordinary three-day program.

Lindbergh pictures, rushed to East Liverpool, show his arrival at St. Louis from San Diego, thence his flight to New York and then his hop-off to span the Atlantic. Others scenes are shots of his eight competitors' planes, including the wreck of Commander Byrd's craft, the fire which threatened the Bellanca monoplane, and the start of Captain Nungesser's ill-fated voyage from Paris.

Huckleberry Finn, the Dutch school teacher and other characters of school days are depicted in the singing, talking, dancing, comedy act of the Seven Flashes, who will present what is termed a "riot of laughs."

Two children in an enchanted garden, listening to the music of a violin weaving its magic into their hearts and binding them together forever; this is the memory that a boy and girl cherished through long years until they found one another again. Gene Stratton-Porter created this beautiful theme as her last and greatest story, "The Magic Garden."

The picture opens when the boy and girl meet in a place of enchanting loveliness and there in the glorious garden, they pledge their love. However, fate decrees that they must part, but all through the years that follow, their inspiration is the remembrance of those few hours and the hope that they may be reunited again. The girl's part is played by Margaret Morris who invests the role with an ethereal quality, while the boy's screen self is interpreted by Raymond Keane. Others in the cast are: William V. Mong, Joyce Coad, Phillippe de Lacey, Charles Clary, Walter Wilkinson, Alfred Allen, Cesare Gravina, Paulette Duval and Hedda Hopper. The picture was made under the direction of J. Leo Meehan, son-in-law of the late authoress. Mr. Meehan is also responsible for the adaptation, while Charles Kerr wrote the continuity.

State University Summer School Will Open on June 20

COLUMBUS, May 26.—All classes for the annual session of the summer school at Ohio State university are scheduled to start, June 20, according to a bulletin recently issued by university officials. Entrance examinations will be held June 6 to 10 and the last day for registration and payment of dues has been set for June 18.

The scope of the work to be undertaken in the summer school will include: a large variety of graduate courses representing most of the departments of the university; an expanded program in the College of Education; a large variety of courses in the College of Arts; a variety of requirement courses for admission to dentistry, law and medicine; the more fundamental courses in agriculture, engineering, pharmacy and medicine.

It is expected by university officials to have a large enrollment in the special educational course. The expanded program of the course has been established in the interest of teachers who desire to prosecute work for an educational degree.

The summer quarter is divided into two terms of six weeks each. The first session will end Aug. 31. As double work is given.

Youth of the Atlas

BY MARSHALL D. HALL
AUTHOR OF "THE VALLEY OF STRIFE" AND "RIDDLE OF THE DESERT" ETC.

SYNOPSIS.

LARRY GRENFALL, American traveler and student of Eastern magic, receives a telephone call.

BEN MANSOUR, cosmopolite and old friend, saying he must see him at once. Larry goes and Mansour tells him he is about to die and that he wants him to go to Morocco, where he, Mansour, is a sherif or native ruler. He is to find the Temple, endure the Ordeal, crush the Group and put Mansour's son on the throne. A Moor appears and gives Monsour a token, a ruby ring which Larry later wears. The Moor also throws into the room a tiny ivory tiger — the Striped Death. Mansour dies and his body disappears — carried off by the Moore. Larry goes to Morocco, finds

OMAR BEN MEDJAD, who dresses him as a wizard, and as Youssef el-Habbassi he starts on his travels. He soon meets

CHAPTER SIXTEEN.

They had left Duk el-Abda shortly after the morning prayer and in less than an hour they were walking through a country as primeval, it seemed to Larry, as that which he imagined must have existed in the very beginning of the world. So wild and forlorn it was that even the wild hares and the jackals showed little fear at their approach and the wild birds in the lotus trees flew not as they passed beneath the low-hanging boughs. High up, the mountains were barren, but in the gorges through which they made a slow and painful way the foliage was magnificently rich and green, seemingly at least one plant of every genus being in existence there. Nothing could have been more lovely, or wilder or more beautiful. Larry, walking behind Allal Abdi, thrilled to the touch of it all, and keeping his stride short, to accompany that of his companion, he wondered if at the end of it all he would find happiness or death.

At nightfall they paused in a thicket of wild fig trees and prepared to rest. With no little effort Larry finally started a fire going, for he could not, and maintain his role, use matches, for being in effect an Algerine wizard, it was not in keeping with his character that he use the habiliments of civilized nations, but once the blaze was going the resultant cheer was worth all the energy he had expended. After the meager evening meal he faced Allal Abdi across the tiny fire, kept alive just sufficiently to fend off the droning attack of the insects that came with the darkness.

He found the youth's soft, luminous eyes fixed on his and once again felt that singular likeness to an electric thrill at the contact of their orbs. He hear the liquid tones of the other, speaking with soft cadence:

"Tell me, Youssef el-Habbassi, since Moulay Edriss does not summon you, why do you wish to go to Moulay Edriss?"

Now, ordinarily, a Moor alone would have understood that but Larry knew the youth was asking him why he risked his life, seemingly without it being absolutely necessary that he do so. Moulay Edriss, founder of the Edrissite branch of Islam, had been dead these many, many years and so the questions could only mean what was the motive that had inspired Larry to risk his life in these mountain fastnesses on this perilous quest, when, mayhap, there was no actual need so far as he was concerned, that he do it?

He answered Allal Abdi in kind:

"The ways of Allah the Compassionate are inscrutable, beardless one; it comes to pass sometimes that one does things without any definite reason other than that a friend has spoken, or that one he loves and who loves him, has urged."

"And did one who loved you, and whom you loved urge you to do this, Youssef el-Habbassi?"

Larry's mind flitted back to that night he had at with Ben Mansour in that great house on the Jersey had seemed to be awry and himself had seemed to e awry and himself the craziest person in it. Briefly, he nodded his head.

"One I loved and who, I think, loved me, urged me to do this thing," he said.

The boy's next question amazed him a little, for with a slow blush that seemed to mount from neck to forehead, he asked:

"And was she you loved and who loved you, very beautiful?"

"It was no woman, Allal Abdi, who thus urged me. It was your father."

At this the youth was silent, but where the flush had stained his handsome features there was now a pallor which somehow gave his soft, exquisite face an ethereal look.

"Forgive me, Allal Abdi, for bringing thoughts of your father to your mind. I did not think," Larry said, contritely. The other looked across the fire:

"Did you love my father so much, then?"

"I did; so much that when he asked me to recover the Sacred Eye and place it in the hands of him we both know, I unhesitatingly promised I would try."

"Then," said Allal Abdi, "I know he loved you, for only of those he loved did my father ask favors. I can readily understand, too, why he should love you, taleb, but I cannot understand where you saw him: those who know, say my father did not touch foot in Islam during all the ten years of his wandering after he fled from the Marabouts. I was seven then," he added, as though through afterthought.

"Which makes you seventeen now," Larry caught him up quickly. "You are right as to your father's wanderings. I did not meet him in Islam alone, but in other places. However, I may not say more than that now."

Somewhere off in the blue-black night, heavy with mystery and the scent of the wild lotus trees a rock moved and losing its purchase on the ledge where it had been fast, went crashing with a hollow, reverberating roar, down into a yawning gorge hard by. Instantly, Larry dropped a heavy foot on the fire, smothering it swiftly; as he did so, Allal Abdi turned with the speed of frightened gazelle and dropped behind a huge boulder that stalked up behind the site of their little night camp.

The sound had menace in it and Larry felt as though an unseen hand had reached out of the nothingness and drawn an icy finger down his spine. He shivered slightly then grew calm.

Larry let his hand fall to the butt of his heavy automatic and stepped back into the midnight shadows of an argan fir; once there he waited silently. Both knew that someone was out there in the darkness; both knew that the unknown man of the night might be a Berber bandit, or a spy who had followed them from as far, perhaps, as Duk el-Abda; both knew, too, that their lives were held very lightly in this game they were playing more or less blindly, this trail they were following toward what was as yet an unknown goal, to achieve an end of which they knew next to nothing.

A soft sound behind the very tree which sheltered him caught Larry's sensitive ears and he turned sharply and easily, waiting silently. He saw a blotch merge with the gloom near him and with a single swoop of his powerful arms he drew it to him clasping it fact the while his right hand crept to a bearded, sinewy throat, ready to throttle. He heard a voice gasping:

"By Allah's beard, you move with the speed of light itself, and with the sureness of a tiger. What hands and arms you have, Youssef el-Habbassi, Peace be with you and Allah's blessing. Now, loose me."

Startled, Larry dropped his hands and allowed the other to step back.

"Omar ben Medjad," he breather. "How, in the name of the Compassionate One, came you here?"

"If Allah willed that you should know, he would have told you," the other replied.

It was, indeed, Omar ben Medjad mysterious as always, arriving thus unheralded in the night, coming from God knew where, going God knew whither.

"It must be an important urge that brings you to me in such a place and at such a time, Omar," Larry said grimly. "Come, what is it?"

"Call Allal Abdi, that he also may hear," Omar ben Medjad bade gravely, and when the youth joined them, he said:

"Your departure from Duk el-Abda is known, Allal Abdi, and since you have joined forces, with the wizard, the Marabout Group suspects more than ever. It has come to my ears that plans have been laid for the pair of you to die on el-Dholl, the Mountain of Shadows. I did not know, when I told you to go with Youssef el-Habbassi, that the Marabouts knew you were actually in Duk el-Abda; I had thought you had out witted them after you left El- Kalba. Otherwise, I would have bidden you to remain hidden where you were."

"It is as Allah wills," the youth replied.

"You come to tell us to choose a new road?" Larry asked.

The other shook his head.

"Alas, I cannot, for only by way of el-Dholl, up the side of the mountain where it is unguarded, can you hope to find that which you seek. The valley about el-Dholl is guarded heavily, and only the Forbidden Road, which winds across the face of the mountain, is free, and only by going down the Forbidden Road may you find the Temple. I come, instead, to warn you that when you reach el-Dholl you will need all your cunning as a wizard, all your strength as a man, to win through; too, I come to tell you that the call for the Mouloud is going forth and under its urge, from Algeria to the Sus and from Tangier to the Draa on the Sahara's edge, aye, and in the Sahara itself, all Islam is beginning to seethe and foment. You must not fail now, Youssef el-Habbassi, even if, in the end, Moulay Edriss summons you."

"If strength of arm and rugged heart, if cunning brain and alertness of hand will see me through, I shall not fail, Omar ben Medjad," said Larry gravely, "even though my life be forfeit. I have promised one who is dead; his spirit, now with Allah, looks down and hears me repeat the vow I made to him—I shall find the Sacred Eye and place it in your hands, or die trying."

For the first time since he had known the man, Larry saw that Omar was affected visibly; the man's eyes took on a luminosity that was foreign to his nature, and he embraced Larry impulsively.

"Friendship such as yours, Youssef el-Habbassi, is of a kind that no man has the right to expect; it is too wonderful, almost, to be true." He added: "I shall see you either at el-Dholl, or, failing, I shall see you in the Temple itself, I swear it. Now, I have worked hard, but there is much that I must do yet, and I have a journey to make; therefore, I go. Profit by my own experience of this night and if you walk after dark, take care that you step on no loose stones. Above all, be careful, protect Allal Abdi, and guard yourself when you cross el-Dholl."

Mysterious, as ever Omar ben Medjad turned off into the night. Larry called to him eagerly, seeking to follow a few steps, but receiving no reply, he halted. He felt the soft, tugging hands of Allal Abdi on his arm and turned back to face the youth, startled at the glow that burned deep in the soft, luminous eyes.

"Al, wizard, I am fearful for you. Turn back, while there is yet time. You made a promise to my father. Cannot I, his son, absolve you from it? Surely, I may hand back your promise, release you from your word, and leave you without imaginary blot on your honor. Therefore, may I not? Then you can give up this quest and return whence you came."

Larry, seeking to test the mettle of this beardless youth, asked;

"But what of yourself, Allal Abdi? Would that not mean, perhaps, the passing of your chance to win through to your sheriffdom?"

"What care I for becoming sherif of the Seven Tribes? They know me not and I know not them. I know them only as I have been taught to know them, from the things I was told while a student with the Marabout Group. What care I for honor or for riches if one who was my father's dearest friend is to lose his life while venturing in my behalf? Ah, Youssef, I can realize why my father loved you. I, too, have a feeling here," and he touched his breast, then paused in sudden confusion. Again Larry was astonished at the youth, for that slow blush of his had stained his features once more.

He was touched deeply, and dropped his heavy hand, light as a rose petal now, on the youth's turbanned head.

ROCK SPRINGS EDITION

Rock Springs Park Is Once Again Taking on the Aspects of the Greatest Amusement Park in the Country From a Standpoint of Both Natural Beauty and Amusement Devices.

The management has not spared time nor money to make this enterprise the finest of its kind in the country. Everything essential to happiness of the kiddies and adults alike have been housed at Rock Springs Park and nothing that the amusement world has proved to be the desire of the public has been omitted from the popular resort. The very latest word in the form of Coasters, Aero Swings, both for children and adults, Custer Cars, Merry Go Round, have been installed. The lake has been bulk-headed thus causing the lake to be higher than heretofore, on this there is a new swan yacht along with the canoes of the past, the swimming pool has had a complete new filteration system installed in it. By this system the water can be regulated to a purity that is as good as the drinking water of most cities. The bath house will be speeded up by the new method planned. The new system is to furnish each person with a hanger and parcel bag attached, the clothes are placed on the hanger and in the bag and returned to check room, this leaves your bath house room open and can be occupied by some one else, returning from the water you can obtain your clothes from the check room and take any room vacant. Ice cooled spring drinking water can be obtained from the drinking fountains that have been placed in the park, from this you can obtain the idea that you don't have to travel back down to the spring for a cool drink. Virginia Gardens, Ohio Valley's most beautiful Ball Room, is the talk of the town. It is without a doubt the most beautiful ball room in the country; in it setting of wisteria and colored lights, its atmospher of Virginia hospitality is beyond comprehension. The Great Coaster Contest closes on the evening of the 28th, and the hundreds of names that have been submitted will be carefully considered on the 29th, the winner notified and on the afternoon of the 30th, the big ride will be christened amid the cheers of thousands of people. All those who have submitted names to the ride are requested to be present at the affair. Who knows but that you might be the big winner. Remember the date, May 30th. Who's the winner?

SOME PROMINENT FEATURES

Rock Springs Park has been the mecca of thousands of excursions and picnics for about thirty years primarily to the wonderful natural scenery of hill and valley—its mirrored lakes and mountain streams, but principally to its wonderful Springs that flow from a wall of solid rock—and from which the Park takes its name—Rock Springs.

History records that George Washington, while a young surveyor traveling up and down the Ohio River, stopped here one night and drank water from the "Springs that never run dry." The pathway that runs from the main entrance at the entrance of the Park on the Lincoln Highway to the Crystal Pool Lagoon was formerly the start of a long portage which the Indians used from the Beaver Valley to the head waters of the Ohio. Here amid old forest trees, among family and friends you may picnic to your heart's content—with nothing to depress or demoralize in a Park richly endowed by nature—splendidly equipped and maintained by man.

AMUSEMENT FEATURES.

Virginia Gardens—rightfully named the Ohio Valley's Most Beautiful Ball-Room—where Social PlanDancing reigns supreme. Dazzling lighting effects, wonderful decorations, picturing a scene in the Sunny South—trellises overhanging with Virginia Wisteria. Orchestra pit in center, illuminated with colored lights! where traveling orchestras play, from one to two-week engagaments, make this a most attractive dance palace. Picnic parties can arrange for afternoon dancing, as well as the regular session in the evening.

LOCATION — ROCK SPRINGS PARK

Is located on the Lincoln Righway—in the City of Chester, W. Va.—37 miles from Pittsburgh, Pa., 42 miles from Wheeling, W. Va., 42 miles from Youngstown, O., 35 miles from New Castle, Pa., 52 miles Southeast of Canton, O. Good automobile roads from each of these cities directly into the Park gates. Railroad connection over the C. & P. and Pan Handle Divisions of the Pennsylvania; while The Steubenville, East Liverpool and Beaver Valley Traction Company lines run to the Park gate. The Youngstown and Ohio River Traction connects at Alliance and Leetonia with the Stark Electric and the N. O. P. and L. Electric Lines from Cleveland and New Philadelphia, Ohio River Steamers stop within one city block from the Park entrance. From a transportation standpoint, Rock Springs Park for excursions and picnics cannot be duplicated. East Liverpool one mile away and just across the Old Ohio, is rightfully named the Pottery Center of the World. More than 24% of the Queensware of thes United States is produced in one plant in this vicinity.

The Kerr Lumber Co.

Historyof Rock Springs Park.

Rock Springs Park was originated and founded in the year 1895 by Patsy Kernan. He also opened the Columbian Park at East End a few years later. Patsy has been dead a number of years now but his projects have lived on and are still in existence. This is saying much for Mr. Kernan's foresight as to park sites.

There was nothing at Rock Springs Park for years except a dance pavilion way up beyond the springs. The old timers of this community will remember very distinctly what existed in those days in what is now Rock Springs Park. The only means of transportation in those days from East Liverpool to Rock Springs was by means of an old time ferry named Ollie Neville. This boat landed just about where the Chester Tin Mill is located today, there was a walk up the hollow past the old Rock Springs to the dance pavilion at the upper end where the old time square dance was the source of entertainment. There were no fine brick walks or gravelled paths in that era upon which the feet of the pedestrian might tread; no powerful electric lights swung over head to light the way of the traveler. Nothing but a heavy wooded path and an old wagon road from the ferry up to the dance hall. There were no amusements of any sort within the borders of the then Rock Springs Park, the only diversion being the square dance as was the fashion of those days. The plan then as now is the custom of Rock Springs Park was to change orchestras frequently, and play only traveling organizations. This seems to be the policy as has been carried out for all these years. Some of the old timers of this vicinity will recall having spent many a fine and happy evening at the old Rock Springs Park dancing pavilion.

They will recall the names of the diffent orchestras as being Bill McGraw's, Jake Elwell, Daddy Rowe and Henry Schenkels. There isn't much possibility of those orchestras playing the jazz music of today but there are many sweet memories they have left behind in their ability to play the most popular pieces of their day. Although they were not so snappy or as fast as they are now, yet we are sure that they were real treats then. These orchestras were the ones that furnished the music for the old time Rock Springs Park and it is said without fear of contradition that they were the best possible source of music at that time and the only real orchestras in the vicinity.

There were picnic woods and sheds of their kind but for further source of amusement there were no hopes. The Rock Springs Park of then and today has vastly changed in its aspect. Where heretofore the wagon road trailed up through the hollow, past the lake and then beyond into the distant hills and valleys, there has superceded this rugged trail fine brick walks, cinder paths and trails lighted and illuminated as if by the sun; the spring in its solid foundation in its originality is the only land mark left of the old Rock Springs Park in the past era. This alone is the only thing that has not changed in its facial appearance or in its pace with progress.

The woods, athough there are hundreds of trees within the borders of Rock Springs Park, have been thinned, not from the standpoint of destruction, but from the standpoint of artificial beauty. Skilled landscape gardeners have made remarkable changes in clearing this wooded era in such a way that the buildings of Rock Springs Park seem to have been transplanted in the heart of a forest; the trees sheltering and shading most of the picnic grounds. The lake in the upper end of the valley is one of nature's most beautiful spots. Although the artistic hand of man has assisted nature in its work of transformation, yet nature supercedes the artificial look of the lake. The gentle slopes of Virginia hills run down to its borders overflowing with an abundance of flowers, ferns and mosses; the trees along the bank seem to bend in a bow or recognition as to the splendor and beauty of the lake, their arching arms reaching down into the crystal mirror of the pool as the swish of the wind on the water and the gentle breezes through the tree tops causes the reproduction of a musical tendency that causes the whole valley to echo with the happiness of nature. The hillsides are covered with large trees that mark their endurance, not in years but in decay; their branches lift upward to Heaven with the prayer and thanksgiving that in the community that incorporated Rock Springs Park there is a valley of lost happiness.

Everything is being done by the new management to put Rock Springs Park just as close to nature as possible and yet keep it within the demands of the public in holding it one of the greatest amusement parks in the entire valley. Those that come to Rock Springs Park will find that the efforts have been to place rustic structures on the midway in every case possible; the restaurant, for instance, will be a masterpiece of the Canadian forest with its rustic furniture, its barbecue and its over hung ship lanterns. It will be a typical recreation from the heart of the Canadian forests, like those in some of the famous resorts, the Glacier National Park or the Yelowstone Nationa Park. It will be the opportunity for many of those who have never had the opportunity of seeing these things to witness in their own community the Canadian forest in reality. To eat and dine within the smell of spruce and pine of the Canadian forests as the winds of the Ohio Valley whisk the fragrance from the logs past their nostrils on into eternity.

At the head of the midway, perched there among the native virgin trees of Virginia stands a structure, a reproduction of the Canadian forests, is the rustic home of Mr. Macdonald. It is alone a curiosity and a treat for those who for all these years have known nothing of the beauty of life outside the borders of this valley. The world has been brought to them at a great expense.

Not to forget the amusement devices of Rock Springs Park may we say that although they are not so lavish in number yet they are the best of their kind in the country; they are what years of park study have proved to be the most popular. The new coaster of Rock Springs Park is the fastest structure of its kind in the country; its dips are sixty-seven feet; its height from the street to the lower curb is one hundred twenty-eight feet: its area over all is a distance of twenty-five hundred feet ;and the course is traversed at the terrific speed of one minute and twenty-eight seconds. The cars themselves weigh twenty-two hundred pounds each; this added to the live weight when loaded, coupled with the drops of sixty-seven feet, coming around the Carolina curve at the rate of twenty-five hundred feet in one minute and twenty-eight seconds causes this coaster to stand out as being the fastest in the country without fear of contradiction. The new Aero Swing is the finest type in the country, costing approximately $10,000; the kiddies swing being operated by a competent matron, is really an attraction for the kiddies. The $22,000 Dentzel Merry Go Round is the latest word of its kind in the country, being solid steel center poles, sweeps and rollers, whereas the Merry Go Rounds heretofore have been wood. The Custer Car, the small electric automobiles, have proven so far to be the most popular ride of its kind. The Whip needs no introduction other than to say that it will be the largest Whip ever secured for any amusement park.

The midways of Rock Springs Park are lighted from one end to the other with streamers of high powered lights. The Virginia Gardens with its ten thousand feet of hardwood surface, highly polished, the small zoo with its birds, monkeys and geese, the concessions and refreshment stands are only some of the many things that Rock Springs Park has to offer. There are acres of free parking space for cars; no admission charge to the gate whatsoever. Rock Springs Park is a community enterprise; should be boosted as a community enterprise; and supported as a community enterprise for the good of this community from its standpoint of good wholesome entertainment at home for the young and the old alike, and for the national advertisement that it gives East Liverpool and the Ohio Valley. To fail to support such an enterprise is not to be a booster for your locality and to be a traitor to human interests; to your city; to your community and to yourself.

Rock Springs Park is open for picnics, both large and small, at all times and any of those desjring to come are most welcome. The management of Rock Springs will be at your service, first, last and always; courteous and gentle at all times.

WASHINGTON STEWART'S LETTER

By Charles P. Stewart.

WASHINGTON, May 26.—Rear Admiral William S. Sims made a speech at Norristown (Pa.) the other day.

His theme was national defense—our lack of any.

The Narragansett Bay war games had just been concluded at the time—with a glorious victory for the land forces which had theoretically beaten off the enemy navy.

Yes, Sims agreed, the United States might be able to drive back a hostile fleet which had promised in advance to consider itself beaten, unless it captured the American coast on a certain date at a specified hour.

The point he raised was that you couldn't persuade a hostile fleet to make such a promise—or to keep it, at any rate.

WAR games generally come out the way it's desired to have them come out, Sims strongly intimated.

So does "popular history," he added.

It wouldn't be so "popular," the old sea dog remarked, if historians told more about what actually happened.

Then he proceeded to puncture some popularity historical legends.

Among other things, he declared George Washington had had a scandalously difficult time of it—to read about it, anybody'd imagine he experienced one uninterrupted round of victories, but in reality he squeaked through by the narrowest kind of narrow margins—simply because the folk of his time refused to take seriously the difficulties he was up against.

Sims examined every foot of the ground minutely.

He heard all about the soldiers' frozen feet, their ragged uniforms, the scarcity of food, and nodded grimly at every item of information.

It all went to prove, as he summed it up, in conclusion, that the United States may win when it gets into a fight, but if it does, it does it by main strength, and never by virtue of going into it trained to the minute.

THE admiral visited Norristown to get a medal voted to him by the Huguenot Society of Pennsylvania, a branch of the national organization of which his own Huguenot descent makes him a member.

He discussed national defense because that's what he always discusses, when he discusses anything.

Nobody can accuse him of being a pacifist. He's a militant old man, if there's one in the country and he looks it—very tall and erect, without an ounce of superfluous flesh on him and a set of bristling white whiskers, trimmed to a bayonet point at every angle where they can be trained into one.

A VISIT to Valley Forge is a natural sequel to a visit to Norristown. It's right in the city's outskirts.

But the funny part of it—

The admiral was the only man who forgot to take off his hat when the chimes played The Star Spangled Banner, in the Washington Memorial Chapel.

"William, William," admonished his wife, tugging frantically at his coattails—the admiral, of course, was in mufti—as the rest of the party uncovered reverently.

"Take off your hat"—in an urgent whisper, in reply to the admiral's look of mild inquiry.

Piles Disappear

No Cutting or Salves Needed.

External treatments seldom banish Piles and for the very good reason that the cause is inside—bad circulation in affected parts, veins are flabby and bowel walls weakened.

To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation—send fresh, healthy blood to the raw, sensitive membranes. Internal treatment is one safe method. Ointments and other external treatments can't give lasting relief.

J. S. Leonhardt, M. D., a specialist, set at work some years ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He succeeded. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and it has proven successful in thousands of cases—so successful that now HEM-ROID is sold by druggists under a money back guarantee. It is a harmless tablet, easy to take, and can always be found at Mathews Original Cut Rate, who will promptly refund the purchase price if you are dissatisfied.

HARD WATER + MEL'O = SOFT WATER

THEY were very dirty . . . grime . . . grass stains . . . just plain dirt. Yes, they were boiled. Yes, they were rubbed. Yes, they were rinsed twice and hung in the sun to dry. But these clothes are as white as snow because they were washed in soft water.

How can that be when the water which comes from the faucet was hard?

They were washed in hard water made soft as rain water with Melo. Two tablespoonfuls put in the tubs before washing prevents scum from forming. That scum is the result of soap combining with the hardness in hard water. That scum collects the little particles of dirt. It clings to the fabric. It makes the clothes gray. No amount of rinsing can get it all out. Add as much soap as you want, the scum always remains—in hard water. But soften the water with Melo and there isn't any scum. A teaspoonful in the dishpan saves soap, time and hands. And two tablespoonfuls in the bath prevents the dirty ring from forming around the tub.

Keep a can of Melo in the kitchen, in the laundry, in the bathroom. Get it at your grocer's.

The water in East Liverpool is 9 times as hard as it should be. Two tablespoonfuls of Melo will soften a bathtub full of water. Two tablespoonfuls in the washtubs. One teaspoonful in the dishpan.

Will your skin bear close scrutiny?

Skilled physicians recognize the appearance of pimples, boils and other skin eruptions as being an indication of an abnormal condition of the system. This is why so many thousands have been enabled to free themselves of these unsightly blemishes and painful annoyances by taking a course of S. S. S.

You owe it to yourself to try S. S. S. It helps Nature build up red corpuscles. It improves the processes by which the blood is nourished.

"I suffered from impure blood—was weak, and I had lost so much weight, I didn't look natural. I had pimples and was also bothered with a breaking-out that itched terribly. I also had boils one after another. I tried different kinds of remedies, but nothing did me any good until a friend advised me to take S. S. S., which I did. This was some time ago. Now I feel well, and I am getting along fine. S. S. S. stopped the itching and it cured me of boils. I advise all weak and run-down people to give S. S. S. a trial. It clears up the skin and makes you strong and fills you with energy." Mrs. J. W. Barker, 1337 Walnut Street, Cincinnati, Ohio.

S. S. S. is made from the fresh roots of medicinal herbs and plants and is prepared in a scientific way in a modern laboratory. It is time-tried and reliable.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

Until you ride in the Hudson Super-Six there is a motoring thrill you can never know.

Here is brilliancy of performance that gives new luster and meaning to the word.

It is the master car at every issue. And in every performance asked of a motor it possesses ability beyond anything heretofore known.

In all the years your Hudson serves, you will hardly require its full capacity. You can scarcely encounter a situation to tax its limit of power.

This performance mastery gives innumerable advantages. For instance you travel faster within the speed limits. That is because you are away quicker. You pick up faster. You level hills with ease. You have smoothness that makes the long journey comfortable and free of fatigue.

And these qualities have won Hudson the greatest reception, sales and public acknowledgment in its history.
